JAYBIRDS WILL TRIP TO DREAMY MUSIC AT THIRD ANNUAL J. C. INAUGURAL BALL

Are you in the mood for romancing? Do you enjoy dancing to soft dreamy music, or sitting under starlit skies next to a luscious blue pool? If so, J.C. has just the event for you . . .

It's the talk of the campus, and looked forward to by everyone. Yes, it's the third annual San Diego Junior College Inaugural Ball. The exotic Terrace Room of Hotel Imig Manor will provide a very appropriate setting for this all-school affair. The ball is to be held Saturday, October 9, 8 to 12 p.m. To fit in with the romantic atmosphere, semi-formal was selected as the fashion. Bids are priced at $1.50.

An extra-special floorshow is being planned, and a great band will be on hand to give out with those DREAMY or JIVEY ballads.

This is the first event on the social calendar for SDJC and promises to be a huge success. Working hard to achieve this goal is the dance committee consisting of Kenny Gautereaux, Bette Baer, Jim Wilson, Barbara Baker, Jimmie Madden, Leon Burton, Irene Soboll, Gordon Ek and Jo Ann Foltz. All returning Jaybirds know what a great success the ball was last year, and that the success of this year's depends on each and everyone of you.

Try For Fame; Have Your Name On "Fight Song"

Stop! Look! Listen! It's here, the biggest contest ever. The chance of a lifetime, and so easy to enter.

You're right, we're talking about the "Fight" song contest. J.C. needs new songs with vim and vigor, not ones that sound like something from Brahms' lullaby.

We'll all admit that it's not easy to write original music, but rumor is, that it's not too hard to write some original words patterned after a standardized song. Once you've let yourself go, and really concentrated on writing that song, the words come easy (?). Simple, isn't it?

So, let's not gripe about the old songs, let's all get to work and write some new ones. Remember, you're building SDJC's tradition; why not throw in a few peppy songs to go with it, songs everyone will remember!

Contest ends October 8, so get those songs into the student bookstore right away. Entries will be played for the entire student body, so everyone will have a chance to pick the song of their choice.

World Language Club Discussed

Enthusiasm rages rampant in Mrs. Frances Archibald's English and Spanish classes since her talk on "created interest." Many testimonials to the change of attitudes of some of her students have been handed to her since her discussion.

Interclub Council Drafts New Rules

The Interclub Council, representing the eight social organizations on campus, has drawn up a series of new rules and regulations regarding rushing. Although rushing has been under way for three days the rushees will be interested in those decisions passed by the Council.

Clubs seeking new members will submit a list of prospective pledges to Dean Robert Heilbron and Mrs. Lois De Franco. The rushee will be registered to acknowledge his first, second, and third choice of organization he or she wish to pledge. A card with his preference is then returned to the social clubs that desire to pledge that person. The bids are then distributed accordingly after certain recommendations have been followed.

All rushees must have an A.S.B. card. And the social clubs are asked to check the grades of all their rushees. No limitations were set on the organizations themselves. Any number of parties preceding pledging is permissible.

Galatis Named Editor As Paper Begins Third Year

The JAY SEES, official student publication of San Diego Junior college, resumed operation last week when Basil Galatis took over as editor for the fall semester.

Galatis, a third-semester student, has been with the publication since its conversion to the present tabloid size, making his debut as make-up editor and rounding out his experience last semester as copy editor.

Glen Dollahon, last semester's editor, will assist Basil as associate editor; Barbara Baker, news editor, and Lois Mitchell, social club editor.

Tom Monahan will head the sports department this year and Gene Eaton will handle feature material. Rosemary Criswell, last year's staff photographer, is responsible for shutter assignments and the Exchange department is in the hands of DeVee Prucha.

Assistant editors Mary Armstrong, David Gamble, DeVee Prucha, and Manuel Armendariz will afford valuable support in the production of this bi-monthly publication.

The business end of putting a paper into the hands of the students twice a month is aptly handled at the Business and Technical Center where Mr. Joseph W. Getzinger, advertising department head, has named John DiMatteo as business manager.

Leonard Ross will act as advertising manager; Pauline Blake and June Cox, bookkeepers, and James F. Martini, auditor.

Bonnie Campbell, Ruth Belenzon, and Dave Wallace will be librarian, secretary, and collector, respectively. Agnes L. Everman, Ross Fisher, and Frances M. Fuller are advertising salesmen.

Freshmen To Pick Officers Today

ATTENTION, FROSH! WHOM WILL YOU ELECT FOR PREXY? The Freshman council of the San Diego Junior College will hold elections for council officers today.

Elections have already been held during the psychology classes, each class having elected a student class representative and a stand-by representative for freshman council for the coming year.

They will meet once or twice, probably once every two weeks, the meeting place is undecided. President, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer will be nominated by the council representatives and elected by the students. When and where the elections will take place is undecided, but it is probable that ballots will be turned in at the ASB bookstore.

Who will you elect to represent you? Watch, and be on the alert for future developments. Your choice will be for your own good, not for the good of your associates.

Honor Students To Meet Soon

The first Honor Society meeting of the semester will take place in the near future, according to the sponsor, Mr. Harry E. Jones.

Many students have been eligible for membership in the Society, but have not joined the group. It is hoped that those eligibles will swell the ranks of the active members this year.

New Influx of Students Calls For Increase in Faculty and Courses

A compilation of enrollment figures shows an average attendance of 2000 students at the Applied Arts, Evening, and Business and Technical centers of the San Diego Junior College. With classrooms overflowing to maximum, new faculty and courses added, each center once again boasts of an increase in registration.

Although only an estimate has been given, due to registration still continuing throughout this week, the figures given have surpassed any others of previous years.

Tryouts for parts in the first all-school play of the year, "The Barber of Seville," will be held Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, according to Mr. Charles M. Newman, director of the play.

With the casting days set this early in the school year for Pierre Caron Beaumarchais' famous play, students from any of the three centers are invited to take part in the try-outs. The time will be 2:30 to 4 p.m., October 5 and 6.

The play is to be produced by Duke A. Lovell's play production class.

Six Are Added To B & T Faculty

To relieve the wear and tear on the staff and to offer a more varied program for its students, the Business and Technical Center announces that six members have been added to its faculty.

The new faculty members along with the courses they teach are very welcome additions to the "Jay See" campus. Coming to us with teaching experience and very useful practical experience in their respective fields are the following new faculty members:

Miss Shirley Vincent—dental assisting at the Business Center.

Mrs. Frances Koller—secretarial training at the Business Center.

Mrs. Ottly Steiger—comptomety at the Business Center.

Eli Karpel—commercial Art at the Trade Division.

Kenneth Gibson — carpentry at the Trade Division.

Interviews For Work To Be Thursdays

With only 74 more shopping days until Christmas, J. C.'ers may well be looking forward to vacation plans. And here is one way to spend the Christmas vacation—making extra money through a Christmas job!

Students interested in Christmas work will have the opportunity of speaking to Miss Louise Hahn of the State Employment Office every Thursday between the hours of 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. in Mr. Robert Hamilton's office. Miss Hahn will screen applicants, and choose ten men and twenty women for split shifts of stock and retail clerking, which will begin about December 13. Referrals will be made for approximately October 1. Permission will be required for students to be absent from school.

Mr. Hamilton will also be available in his office for job information each day from 9-10 a.m. and 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Results of Entrance Tests To Be Learned

All students who took the classification tests recently and who have since been awaiting the results will be glad to know that the day of revelation is near.

A unit on vocational guidance, which is taken up in all Psychology 10 classes, will be the means by which students will discover, among other things, the scores that they made on their tests.

A A & S Center

Approximately 700 students have registered at the Applied Arts and Science center for full-time courses, according to Mr. Harry Jones, registrar.

Mr. Jones also stated that, due to the full co-operation of the faculty, registration went off quite well this semester. Close to 1000 students were registered and fewer program changes have had to be made.

New students have not been the only increase at the Applied Arts and Science center. Faculty and courses alike have been added to accommodate this influx in enrollment.

New faces among the faculty include: Mr. Arthur Avery, Jr., and Mr. Norman Mehr, music department; Miss Virginia Urbani, Spanish; Mr. Murl J. Gibson, psychology; Mr. William Bailey, football coach; Miss Maryanna Hoffhine and Miss Burdena Walters, girls physical education program.

Courses added to our ever-growing list are: Free Hand Drawing, Cultivated Plants, Philosophy, Play Production, and two new recreation courses. English courses have been given a turnabout also.

B & T Center

Leonard R. Eimon, registrar at the Business and Trade Centers, announces that registration of Junior College students as of September 17 has increased some 9 per cent over last semester. With late registrants coming in daily, this percentage of increase may reach even the 20 per cent mark.

As the end of the first week of classes came to a close, 191 Junior College students were enrolled with majors in business, and 141 Junior College students with Trade division majors. There are also another 20 special Applied Arts majors enrolled in classes at one or both of these B&T Centers. With this increase of Junior College students added to the ever-increasing number of students in the day and evening vocational classes, the enrollment figure already has reached the 3341 mark at B&T.

Evening Center

Enrollment figures at San Diego Evening Junior College indicate a sharp increase with an estimated 900 students now attending.

Several new classes have been added to the curriculum. Among these are: the Chinese language, taught by Dr. Peter A. Lee of Nanking University; Criminology, instructed by George J. Haines; and "Great Books" also to be taught by Dr. Lee.

New teachers helping to meet these needs: Howard E. McClure, English; Mrs. Katherine Franklin, science; William A. Koller, psychology; Frank B. Petrich, art; Ezra H. Maxwell, chorus; William Bramble, math; Mrs. Rose M. Hubler, French; Ilah Fuller, Ida Badger, Margaret Montgomery, applied arts.

Evening Junior College activities are now being formulated. A radio program over KFMB is tentatively scheduled for mid-October.

To be announced in the next edition are the results of the Evening Center's election of officers which was held this week.

Peace in Our Time

The Russ, San Diego High School publication, printed an interesting "letter to the editor" in the first issue for this fall term. It showed the feelings of a "high blood-pressured" Senior quite well.

From the viewpoint of San Diego High School students the howling, rapidly-growing infant, San Diego Junior College, is a gross intruder. The SDJC youngster apparently pushes high school youngsters and faculty beyond endurance. We make them double up in classes. A lot of their recreational room is gone. Students and faculty do not feel as free as formerly before the invader came—they must be constantly making allowances and considerations for the invader.

It is hard to adjust to this new state of affairs, especially if one is in the wrong mental frame of mind. We know it and understand the feeling.

But on the other hand, here we are. It would be impractical to take ourselves off and commit suicide. It isn't a part of the natural order of things—; equipped with the spark of life, and growing lustily, we unconsciously follow the rules of life. And we have to occupy space and time, as does the San Diego Evening Junior College and all of the city functions and activities using Russ auditorium.

San Diego Junior College would like very much to take itself off to another campus where high school and college were not jostling each other. But it can't be done right now. There isn't a place, and there apparently isn't money to provide one.

So, let's have peace in our times. From the high school angle, let's realize that the Junior College can't help being here, and get along as well as we'd like to see the family of nations get along in the United Nations. Perhaps one day, we shall all have enough classrooms, enough recreational and activity space. That day will spell UTOPIA. Meanwhile, here we are.

Editor's Policy

The Jay Sees stands ready to enter its third year as a representative voice of the students of SDJC. Our best interests will be for the school and you who make up this institution.

This newspaper is the voice OF the students and BY the students. Errors will occur in controversial issues, but mistakes are always made in any publication so we will welcome constructive criticism at all times.

In representing the student body we will endeavor to aid in the increase of student interest in school activities by: supplying accurate and informative news, backing clubs and active groups, showing interest in administration and faculty, and having no biased opinions in controversial issues.

Give us your best and we promise you ours.

Student Botanists Select Their Own Project for Nature Study

Mrs. Mary Jannoch, instructor in biology, botany, and ornamental horticulture, practices what she teaches. She finds time to work in the canyon garden of her home in Mission Hills. She produces such decorative plants as her favorites: Camellias, Dahlias, and a flower not seen too frequently, the Kahili Ginger Lily, one of which is on display on her desk in office G.

The students in Mrs. Jannoch's classes are working on unusual projects.

Duane Close is studying pollination of bees. As he breeds bees upon his own initiative at home, he is able to gain practical first-hand knowledge of their habits. Mr. Close has been taking photographs of the bees at work, which should prove invaluable in his study.

Chloe Lamoreaux is making a study of ferns and methods of growing them.

Jack Boldrick really gets "down to earth" on his project. He has a seed collection of his own, and is also studying earthworm agriculture.

Patrick Frazier is furthering his knowledge of botany by being engaged in a home landscaping activity. As Mr. Frazier resides in La Jolla he should be able to use or combine many of the features of landscaping that are displayed in that area which is famed for scenic beauty.

Mrs. Jannoch's classes have been opened for enrollment to students desiring educational background for such careers as horticulture, forestry, and employment in state and federal agriculture departments.

Question Of the Week

What do you think the A.S.B. could do to improve school activities?

CONRAD ANDERSON: First of all we should have more initial gatherings. Prompt the students to see the ball games and to participate more actively.

BILL GEISTWEIT: I suggest we change the name, "Jaybirds," to something more appropriate.

JACK PAGE: We should have more activities for the students to enjoy.

BOB KERNER: A suitable men's lounge would be of great value. The present lounge is too noisy.

TINA MONTELLO: When the student council or the various clubs plan things, I think the students should give their full support.

MILDRED PAYNE: I think the students should have more voice in the activities. More functions and relations between centers.

ROSE SHOOP: More advertising of the Junior College. More cooperation between students and faculty.

Recruits Wanted For Swing Band

"Any student interested in playing in the Junior College dance band is advised that rehearsals are held Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays during sixth periods in the band room," according to Mr. Arthur Avery, new director of the J.C. band.

The only prerequisite for band membership is that the new member be able to play an instrument, according to the sponsor. The band will play at Junior College dances, assemblies, and home football games as soon as practicable.

At present, the band aggregation consists of one piano, a string bass, three saxophones and two trumpets. Badly needed are: a trombone, a guitar, a relief piano-player, and another saxophone.

Math Teacher Suggests Club for Engineers

An organization for students preparing for a career in Engineering has been proposed, and will be presented to Dean Robert Heilbron for approval. Mr. Robert S. Winters, math instructor, would be in charge of the club which will use such visual aids as graphs, movies, and slides to illustrate the field of engineering in the post-war world.

All interested should get in touch with Mr. Winters. Further announcements will be in the daily bulletin, according to the math teacher.

Vets' Corner

By Jack Sherman

This column is for the benefit of all veterans here at San Diego Junior College, and from time to time I will try to give you the first hand information on the G-I Bill concerning you veterans. Any additional information can be obtained at the Jay Sees office.

Those veterans attending J. C. under the G-I Bill will be able to work part-time without having their subsistence allowances reduced, according to Robert P. Shields, V. A. Regional manager.

No reduction in subsistence will be made as long as income from productive labor and subsistence allowance does not exceed the following monthly "ceiling": (1) $210 a month for single veterans; (2) $270 with one dependent; or (3) $290 with more than one dependent.

Attention! If you plan to change to another school in February, you should check with the V. A. for form 1905-E, Supplemental Request, at least two months prior to the new semester or the time of change. This is for colleges out of San Diego. Be sure to get your transcripts in order at the J. C. office.

Checks will arrive November 4.

Cupid's Arrows Reach Goals

It seems that quite a few J.C.'ers got "hitched" this summer. One of the most spectacular weddings was that of Joy South and Jack Sherman. The wedding was held in Good Shepherd Lutheran church. Joy wore a radiant gown of white, French organdy with a shadow design. It was designed with a basque waist, long puffed sleeves ruffled at the wrist and a full skirt, en train, edged with a ruffle. Her fingertip veil fell from a matching tulle coronet and she carried a shower of white carnations and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Joy and Jack honeymooned in San Francisco and had a really fine time. These kids were pretty lucky to have their own home, built and designed by Jack, ready for them when they returned.

August 1 was the date of the wedding of Lauralee Thomas and Eugene Southwell. The wedding was held in the Little Chapel of the Roses. Lauralee's dress, which she designed and made herself, was of white marquisette and was trimmed with Duchess lace. Her veil, with coronet, was of Princess Point lace, an heirloom. She carried a prayer book graced with white orchids and was the first to wear the Phi Sigma Tau's bride's pin. Both young people are attending J. C. this semester.

Point Loma Community church was the setting for Janet Roenicke's marriage to Scott Jamison. Her gown featured a crushed off-the-shoulder bertha, net yoke, long sleeves and train. Orange blossoms trimmed her Juliet cap, which held her fingertip illusion veil. White carnations, bouvardia and white orchids formed her bouquet.

Billy Patterson claimed as his bride, in St. James-by-the-Sea, Shirley Graves. Shirley wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with a beaded net yoke, long sleeves and a skirt falling into a long train. Her veil was fingertip length and was caught into a tiara of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis with a white orchid in the center.

Another popular couple married this summer were Margaret Willis and Wendell Wood. These kids tied the knot in Brooklyn Heights Presbyterian church about three weeks ago. Margaret wore a gown of satin and net with satin applique on the net skirt. Her satin Juliet cap was embroidered with seed pearls and from it fell her fingertip veil. She wore a string of pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

August 28 was the date and Central Christian church was the setting for the wedding of June Shannon to Boyd Wilson. June wore a gown of white slipper satin, en traine, with a sheer yoke outlined in seed pearls. Her lace-trimmed, full length veil fell from a seed-pearl tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladoli and orchids.

Phi Theta Xi Anna Zirkle became the bride of Kappa Phi Alpha Dick Willis last month in St. Patrick's Chapel. She wore a dusty rose gabardine suit, styled with a box jacket. Brown accessories completed her ensemble. She carried a bridal bouquet of orchids surrounded with stephanotis.

St. Patrick's Chapel was also the place for the wedding of Joan Houlihan to Terry Dillon. Joan wore a marquisette gown with sweeping train and a dainty ruffle of lace edging its yoke. Lace trimmed her veil, which fell from a coronet of seed pearls.

"More Room" Theme As Library Grows

San Diego Junior College library officially opened its doors September 22 with the accent on more space for browsing, studying and kibitzing.

Located in the southwest corner of the 100 building, the college library now features its own workroom where incoming books will be stored and where the necessary classification and placing will be handled.

The workroom eliminates the hazard of acquiring a badly bent head and the cost of a quiet room with a view which faced persons upon entering the library last semester as the incoming books were piled high around the door waiting in vain for a place on the shelf.

Miss Jessie Harris, librarian, also announces many new selections that have come in through the summer; the most sought after of these would probably be the Oxford English dictionary.

One new face can also be included in the list of new features that mark the expansion program. Mrs. Marjorie Reed will assist Miss Harris with her library duties.

Fashion Notes

Featuring many of the latest styles in "what-to-wear" to various J.C. doin's was the theme of the fashion show held Monday afternoon in the Jay Sees hall. This tea and fashion show was given for all women students and officially opened the beginning of rushing.

Showing what to wear to school was June Wilson who wore a brown wool skirt, decorated with white pin stripe; this was set off with a white angora sweater. Brown loafers completed the ensemble.

Virginia Ayers looked like the typical college girl in her black gabardine, pencil skirt and pink, short-sleeved pull-over sweater. Black suede shoes set off the color combination.

Cleta May Murray looked charming in a brown pencil skirt and turquoise blouse with three strands of pearls. Shirley Beck suggested for the working girl, a grey wool jumper with circular skirt. This looked lovely with a white long-sleeved blouse trimmed in black. This outfit was complimented with black suede shoes.

For dinner, or an evening of dancing, Ollie Brown would wear a black after-six dress with side drape. To complete her outfit, she would wear black suede pumps and purse.

Trudy Barnes chose a purple date dress with a side drape. She completed her ensemble with pearl necklace and earrings.

Kit Leely wore a beautiful watermelon crepe dinner dress with long sleeves and white cuffs. The front was gathered and had a drape bustle in the back.

She carried gladoli and white carnations.

Other J.C.'ers who got "hitched" were Larry Gritz to Marie Poneen, Joan Lutz and Donald Weis.

Jimmy Madden is now steadying it with Barbara Baker.

Hazel Kingery became engaged this summer to Hubert Poiré. The wedding was held last Saturday in the Scott Memorial Baptist church.

CLUB NEWS

Students Launch New Calendar of Events

School Directory Nears Completion

Sigma Tau Rho's are really a hard working group of men. They have completed and compiled all of the J. C.'ers names into order for the student directory. This will be a pocket size edition and will be available soon to all students; so watch for it.

All students should watch the note rack for all notes of importance and otherwise. If you are hoping for a bid into any of the social clubs and you can not be found, there will be a note in the note rack for you.

It is really great to see so many old students returning to J. C. Seen wandering through the halls have been Connie Cotton, Mary Seidelman, Berta Bauer, Bette Baer, Tony Vasquez, Glen Dollahan, Mel Reiner, Jimmy Madden, Jack Beynon, Carl Kubickek, and Bob Kerner.

Then, too, there are a lot of new students. Looking just a little confused and bewildered are Barbara Arnold, Bernadette Miller, Carol Jackson, Pat Walters, Ann Downey, Morgan Jenks, David Thurman, Dexter Allen, Jack White, David Gamble, Russ Dowers and Wes Stevenson.

Phi Theta Xi

Although the returning members of Phi Theta Xi are small in number, the active members really have big plans for the coming rush season. Their rushing will be started with a formal tea Sunday in the home of Betty Henderson for approximately forty rusees. This will be followed by a second rush and their third rush will be given October 14.

There have been some recent changes in the offices of this club. Those who will reign over the club this semester will be Precious Perritt, president; Roberta Bauer, vice-president and social chairman; Marilyn Patterson, secretary; Pat Lyons, treasurer; and Alberta Lee, publicity chairman and historian.

Phi Sigma Tau

Phi Sigma Tau's are really getting their rushing under way with great plans for their pledges. Their officers, Connie Cotton, president; Mary Seidelman, vice-president; Dorothy Hays, secretary; Gloria Valenzuela, treasurer; Ruth Olsen, historian; Lauralee Southwell, sergeant-at-arms; and Shirley Riley, corresponding secretary, have planned some really wonderful doin's.

The first rush was a "Spaghetti Slurp" at Ruth Olsen's home. Committees were Shirley Riley, Marguerite Keeler, invitations; Connie Cotton, Barbara Elm, Mary Seidelman, Dorothy Hays, Jackie Manolio, Marguerite Keeler, and Shirley Riley, food; Barbara Baker and Margaret Drinkwater, enter-for contrast. Navy hat, purse and shoes completed her costume.

Blond Marjorie Kuolt wore a beige, two-piece knitted dress. For contrast, she wore a green scarf and brown shoes.

Petite Jackie Lord showed a yellow suit with box jacket and black pumps. Charlene Ryder looked pretty cute in her strapless pink net formal which was trimmed with black lace.

Jo Ann Foltz, commentator for the show, looked perky in a white pencil skirt, navy blue jacket and blue sport shoes. Other models were Shirley Carter, Charlene Ryder, Betsy Anderson, Betty Henderson, Lennie Taylor, Barbara Baker and Lauralee Southwell.

How to Be A . . . Or . . . Increase Your Vocabulary

If you are still having trouble remembering the meanings to various words that seem to have slipped from memory, or if you are in the market for improvement of that old vocabulary, you are reading the right article, so don't stop here, continue.

If you are personally interested in words, their meanings, their histories, and knowing something about word pedigrees, Miss Alta M. Gallagher, who teaches English 74, can enlighten you on this subject.

English 74, commonly titled Language and Vocabulary, is a course in vocabulary building and composition. "Every student entering this course is doing so because he is interested in enlarging his vocabulary," according to Miss Gallagher.

There is still room for more students in Miss Gallagher's seventh period English 74 class. It is open to those who have already taken English 10 and 11.

Jean Doyle at Arizona

Miss Jean Doyle, former bookstore clerk has left San Diego Junior College, to enroll in the University of Arizona at Tucson. Miss Doyle will major in physical education and will further her activities as a tennis player.

The job left vacant by Jean has been taken over by Mr. Malcolm Ramsey. Mr. Ramsey will teach no classes so he will be able to devote all his time to the job of running our bookstore.

Keel and Cotton Johnson; Sammy Lou Adcox and Sam Morebello; Bobbie Trousdale and Ralph Pease; Marilyn Patterson and O. C. Moore; Louise Sullivan and Ted Buteau; Joanne Jones and Ronald Weisley; Marilyn Allen and Carmel Botte; and Charlene Brown and Lenny Rafton.

Jaybirds Face Bakersfield Then Meet Chaffey There

San Diego Junior College continues on its football schedule tomorrow at Bakersfield when it meets last year's Metropolitan Conference champion in a crucial game.

Then the following week the Jaybirds tangle with Chaffey at Ontario. Chaffey was last year's little Rose Bowl victors, and are figured as a strong contender again this season.

Bakersfield dropped their opener last weekend to Salinas J.C., 33 to 6.

Coach Bill Bailey, who scouted the contest, stated that "the Oilers were not as bad as the score indicated and could very easily give the Jaybirds their strongest tussle of the year!"

Bakersfield works out of the T formation and features a strong passing attack with left halfback Morrie Clifford throwing the ball.

Chaffey won their only previous contest this season by downing East Los Angeles, 21 to 6, last Saturday.

Spearheading the Chaffey attack was quarterback Roland De Ciccio. De Ciccio with Anse McCullough formed the nucleus of last year's strong club.

Bakersfield comprises the first league game for the Jays as the two encounters with Pasadena and Chaffey are non-league tilts.

San Diego will field the same team it did against Pasadena. More intricate plays will be added to their repertoire to enable the elusive halfbacks headed by Cosimo Cutri and Harry West to break into the open.

Coach John Brose

J. C. Coaches Discuss Pasadena Game

Statements from Jaycee coaches following Pasadena game.

COACH BAILEY:
With a tone of voice of a renowned pessimist: "If we have any hopes of beating Bakersfield, we'll have to play ball 100 per cent better than we did at Pasadena!"

COACH BROSE:
Expressing himself with his usual modesty and an ever-ready grin, the hard-working Mr. Brose replied: "I don't know anything about the team, you'll have to ask Mr. Bailey."

COACH CASSIE:
"I think the boys played a good game considering that it was their initial game. What's that? About Bakersfield? I don't know anything about them but if the boys play like they did against Pasadena, we're in!"

SPORTS

Coach Clarkson Views Basketball Prospects

By Manuel Y. Armendariz

Sports is to the body as study is to the mind. Likewise, amusement to an observing mind is study.

Coach Don Clarkson is a great believer of the preceding proverb and it can be said that he devotes a great deal of his time bringing forth such a point. San Diego Junior College basketball and baseball aspirants are tutored by this likable gentleman who has a pleasing habit of turning out "prosperable aggregations" in his specialized field.

With the arrival of this pell-mell sport of basketball just around the corner, Coach Clarkson is going through the process of setting up the steps he would like his cage crew to follow in an effort to transpose last year's success of twenty wins and seven losses into this year's inspiration for a winning season.

Among the returning varsity lettermen will be Captain Tony Vazquez, Gene Devorraux and Ben Cendali. An equal number of junior monogram winners will be back in the form of Pete Frelinger, Don Rucker and Jim Hobel. Gone from the scene of action will be Ivan Robinson and Bob Phelps, spark plugs of the '48 outfit. Such prominent hoop stars as Bob Lamp, Bill Boyd, Ish Herrera, Jerry Dahms, Ernie Smith, Jesse Thompson, Joe Galindo, Harvey Jones, and others too numerous to mention who represent prep schools throughout the city and various colleges, figure to overcome the deficit.

The entrance of the Jaybirds into the new Metropolitan Junior College conference necessitates added hustle in building an efficient squad by January 7, the date that league competition commences. Mr. Clarkson is contemplating the team's having several games and possibly a pre-season tournament under its belt by then.

The schedule is tentative, with the style of play also depending on the material at hand. Therefore, Coach Clarkson is issuing a call to all hoopsters who would like to try out for the sport when regular practice starts late next month.

Other sports, as wrestling, swimming and tennis, will be creeping into the spotlight in the near future, but as yet plans for these are in an immature stage.

JAYBIRDS CRUSH PASADENA BULLDOGS; ROMP TO 14 POINTS IN SECOND QUARTER

Cutri, Thompson and Brown Spark San Diego to Initial Win

The San Diego Junior College Jaybirds ran and passed their way to a rousing 20-7 victory over a powerful and favored Pasadena City College last Thursday night at the world famous Rose Bowl in Pasadena.

Sparked by speedsters Cosimo "The Comet" Cutri, Ted Ritchey, hard-hitting Joe Brown, and the dead-eye passing of Jesse Thompson, mastermind of the San Diego "T," the Jaybirds smashed their way to 14 big points in the second quarter. Between them Brown and Cutri gained 251 of the Jaybirds' 350 yards.

San Diego threatened early in the first quarter but failed to score as the Pasadena Bulldogs held on and stopped them on the 22-yard pigskin to the Pasadena three. After an offside penalty of five yards, Thompson threw deep into the end zone to Cutri for the second Jaybird touchdown. Bud Genet converted for both extra points with perfect kicks.

Early in the second half Pasadena opened up with a terrific running and passing game and drove 76 yards to score. Bob Meyers went over from the two and converted.

Then came the turning point in the game; one of Tom Lowerison's punts was blocked, and Pasadena took over on the San Diego 35. On the first play pass interference was called against San Diego giving the Bulldogs a first down. After four passes failed to gain the Jaybirds took over. This seemed to take something out of Pasadena.

Then came an 80-yard scoring drive by San Diego with Cutri carrying the ball most of the way. He scored on a 20-yard bootleg play around end. Genet failed to convert. This was the game; Pasadena failed to threaten again.

San Diego's Jesse Thompson tried 15 passes, making good on five, two for scores, for 47 yards. The other 313 yards were made by rushing which bagged the Jaybirds 11 first downs to 10 for the Bulldogs.

The Jaybirds were penalized 60 yards most of which were offside penalties against a fast, hard-charging Jaybird line. The San Diego line had the jump on the Bulldog line most of the evening, holding the Pasadena highly rated running attack to a medium of 115 yards. Coach Bailey used two front lines alternating them on different occasions.

This was San Diego's first appearance in the Metropolitan Football Conference as they gave notice they were of championship caliber. Their next game is with powerful Bakersfield, last year's Metro champs.

San Diego Backfield

This is the backfield that sparked San Diego to a 20-to-7 victory over Pasadena.

On the Sidelines

Tom Lowerison's great punting helped keep Pasadena with their backs to their goal the first half of the Bulldog game. He booted them long and far, a la Bob Waterfield.

Congratulations to Coach Bill Bailey and the Jaybirds for their great 20-7 win over the Bulldogs from Pasadena last Thursday night.

Leo Tuck, former Jaybird basketball star and sports editor of the JAYSEE, is now attending San Diego State College.

Notre Dame's one-point victory over Purdue will be one of the most-talked-about games around the country for some time to come. The Fighting Irish finally won, 28-27.

"BARBER OF SEVILLE" SCHEDULED FOR DECEMBER

Newman Casts Fall Comedy As Thespians Vie For Parts

Drawing upon the talents of such noted Knoll stage-enthusiasts as Leon Burton, Dick McCurdy, Jim Hinds, Bob Moore, Tina Montello, and Jeanie Patterson—Mr. Charles M. Newman, instructor in drama, began casting for the school's forth-coming production, "The Barber of Seville," which will be presented in December.

Directing the tryouts from a seat half way up in the center section, Mr. Newman watched and listened intently as one by one the aspirants tracked to the stage and gave their interpretations of a particular character. The director, in turn, wrote his impressions of their characterizations on small white cards bearing students' names. These had been handed to him earlier.

Stating that, "this play is not a farce, but rather, Eighteenth Century drawing room comedy," Newman

Mr. Charles Newman, Jr., announced Monday the results of the final tryouts for the Junior College production of "The Barber of Seville."

Dick McCurdy will portray Figaro, and Rosine will be enacted by Madelan McGowan. Charles Bateman will take the part of Bartholo, Leon Burton will be Bazile, and Almaviva will be played by Frank Brennan.

man went on to tell his prospective cast something in the way of background for the play, costumes and scenery to be used.

With reference to other productions, he said, "Our presentation will be something to make San Diego sit up and take notice."

McCament Elected Evening JC Leader

Warren McCament is the newly-elected president of the Evening Junior College student body. Other officers chosen at the election held Wednesday, October 6, are: Milton Brasch, secretary; Harry Weimer, treasurer. Finance Committee members include: Margaret Shea and Catherine Horn.

TO EVENING JC STUDENTS

Let's have a memorable semester!

Our ability to make this fall semester a successful one is limited only by each individual's willingness to participate in student body activities. We intend to present a varied program which will meet the approval of all. Let's make our slogan, "Concentrate and Cooperate."

Warren H. McCament, Student Body President

Again - - Freshmen To Elect Officers

Freshman students will vote during psychology class time for Freshman Council officers, Mr. Forest W. Whedon, in charge of the council, has announced.

Placed on the ballot for council president is the names of Jimmy Chilton and Morgan Jinx. Nomination of names to be placed on the ballots was made during the October 7 meeting of the council.

Other names on the ballot are: Bill Barnes, Don Jones—for vice-president; Pat Walters, Leo O'Neil—for secretary; and Shirley Thivierge and Shirley Beck for treasurer.

Voting for freshmen class officers will take place in Psych 10 classes on Thursday and Friday. Those first-year students who are not enrolled in Psych 10 and others who consider themselves to be first-year students may cast their votes at the bookstore on Friday between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Because of difficulties in obtaining a room for the council, it was impossible to hold elections on September 30, as was announced in the Jay Sees edition of that date. Students are asked to read the bulletin for announcement as to voting time and place for their Council officers.

A. W. S. Members Discuss Clubs

Representatives from all the social clubs attended the first meeting this semester of the executive board of the Associated Women Students. President Mickey Chappell appointed Pat Tomas, Marg Drinkwater, and Martha Brychel to write the By-Laws. A copy of the A.W.S. constitution was distributed to each member.

Problems discussed were those of having more social club activity and giving the less-known clubs more publicity. It was also said that the success of SDJC rests upon each individual. The community does not really know us; we must make a reputation for ourselves.

21 Eligible For JC Honor Group

Twenty-one student are eligible for membership this semester in the Junior College Honor society, according to Mr. Harry Jones, college registrar and sponsor of the group.

They are: Betty Baer, Billy Braden, Basil Galatis, William Geistweit, Beverly Gillespie, Marguerite Grissettle, Edward Hamer, Betty Henderson, John Hoffman, and William Jaynes.

And Carl Kubichek, Geosette Langenheim, Elizabeth Leo, John Reamy, Thomas Smolem, Eugene Southwell, Lauralee Southwell, Laurence Stanton, Marcia Ward, Earl White, and Boyd Wilson.

Any student from any center of the Junior College is eligible for membership in this honor group if he has completed twelve units and has maintained a grade point average of 2.2, according to the sponsor.

Jaybirds Name Change Rumored; ASB Council Discusses Action

The four remaining vacant offices of the student body council have been filled by, left to right, Glen Dollahon, Commissioner of Public Relations; Pat Tomas, Historian; Gorden Ek, Commissioner of Activities; Bill Geistweit, Commissioner of Athletics.

Rumor that the much discussed name The Jaybirds, is due for a change, was running rampant on the campus this week.

Featuring largely in the rumor were such groups as the ASB committee, athletes, and the student body. It will be remembered that a movement got under way last school year to change the name.

Last school year several names were suggested—the student body voted—and the results were that such institutions as the year book, the newspaper, athletic teams were faced with seeing what they could do with "The Vulture." This name, it seems, turned out to be the winner.

Everyone gave up. Who would want to be called a fullback vulture, or a full vulture, or a vulturefull? Think of the Jay Sees being named "Vulture Gulch." As we say, everyone gave up.

This semester, as our athletic teams of which the whole school is proud, invade other campuses to conquer, the thinking is that Jay Birds sounds too much like "Jail Birds" for comfort.

As this story goes to press, a special group consisting of the ASB committee has sifted through approximately 75 names suggested by representatives of the student body. This list has been narrowed to three for presentation to the council. The council will either approve them or throw them out.

If the names are approved, the executive committee of the three centers, acting in their positions as representatives of the student bodies, will vote on the three suggestions.

Much in the same manner as representatives of the state legislatures must act on urgent matters of state for the general welfare of the people, so the chosen representatives of the three student bodies may be faced with this decision.

Students of the three centers are asked to see their representatives to the ASB councils to let them know their opinions and preferences in this decision. In our school system which reflects the practices of our democratic system, the process of working through your representative saves time and assures fair practice.

Bowlers Attempt "Straight, Narrow Path" For Success

The Bowling Club under the able leadership of Gim Hom, student, and Winfred L. Gier, instructor, is under way to a fast start. Membership has reached the total of 14 girls and boys, as shown in the statistics of the first two practice sessions. The meetings are held every Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Hillcrest Bowl.

Student Directory Published By ASB and Sigma Tau Rhos

Formerly sponsored by Sigma Tau Rho, publication of the 1948-49 "Student Directory" has now been taken over by the Associated Student Body. Not giving the big job up entirely, members of Sigma Tau Rho are aiding the ASB in putting out this semester's edition.

Plans include a pocket-size edition, published each semester, containing the names of all Associated Student Body members holding ASB cards in all three centers of San Diego Junior College. Besides the name, address, and phone number of each member the directory will contain the names of all organizations and representatives of each on the JC campus. All clubs and active groups are asked to fill out cards, now in the dean's office, listing the names of officers of their group.

Cafeteria Has Dual Duty: To Train and Feed

The cafeteria now under construction at the Business Center will serve two much-needed purposes. Besides serving hot lunches and snacks to the faculty and students, it will also be the site for a new training program.

The new cafeteria will provide actual laboratory training for the students enrolled in B&T's newest course, Foods, Trades Training Program. Classroom instruction for this course began with the opening of school, so when the "cafe" has its grand opening, these students should be well-trained in cafeteria principles. The students will be under the direct supervision of Warren C. Golsen, "chef" instructor, but they are actually going to be in complete charge of the "cafe" and its business.

Students will be in complete control of all buying, receiving, preparing, and serving of all foods.

This looks like a wonderful new training program, and it is one that is going to be of great benefit to faculty, students, and school alike.

The grand opening date has not yet been announced, but the date for the cafeteria's opening will be about November 1.

The directory has always proven to be a great aid to students in the past. Besides being a good reference book for clubs sending invitations, it has been quite helpful in locating fellow students when they were most needed outside of school hours.

Those students who paid their ASB fee will once again be happy at having obtained their cards during registration for this semester. For the directory will only be available, free of charge, to Associated Student Body members.

Christmas Work Applicants Sought

All students who have applied for Christmas jobs are asked to get in touch with Mr. Robert Hamilton this week in order to arrange appointments with employers. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. daily for vocational counseling.

Women are especially asked to make application as there are many openings for them as sales girls in department stores. Other jobs now available include: ushering, pin setting in bowling alleys, and washing machine repairing.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Many years ago, the world's most famous singer, Caruso, was planning a tour of Italy which his press agent was arranging for him. It seemed to the agent it would be a tremendous success since so many large cities were included. When the list was shown to Caruso he was greatly pleased with one exception. When he read the name of this city he went into an artistic passion of fury.

"Why?" questioned the agent.

The great virtuoso of the singing world regained his composure and related this story:

"When I was younger my voice teacher gave me high praise and suggested I go on tour. I was immensely pleased and accepted.

"My tour started slowly but as I gained self-confidence the tour gained momentum. That was when we came to this city which perpetrated the unforgettable sin of the theatre.

"As I began my last number I noticed a few people had started to leave the audience. By the time I had nearly finished the selection the auditorium was nearly empty. I wouldn't have minded so much but the show was a benefit."

Could that city have resembled San Diego Junior College in any way? I hardly think so, but somehow we were reminded of the story during last Friday's assembly. Courtesy is something that should be carried over to entertainments.

Do We Shun Ability?

How are you labeled? People are interested in knowing how others rate them as to appearance and ability, but to what degree do we strive to better these two features? The majority of us try to better our appearance in every way, but what becomes of that much-needed feature, ability? Ability is one of our greatest assets, and one that never can be too greatly improved.

Each of us in our respective fields need many various subjects to acquire a wide knowledge for our field, but many of us have scornful views towards the required courses. The course that heads this list, as you probably know, is English.

As an artist cannot paint a picture without the use of his brush or paint, we cannot acquire ability without the language tools and skills too, plus long hours of study. Let's all of us strive to get an "A" for ability.

Question Of the Week Do You Cooperate?

The question of the week is, "Do you think the Jay Sees is one of the finest newspapers you have ever read?" To this question we received eight "no's," one student was dragged off to Patton in a fit of hysteria, and three students said, "I don't care what you call me, I'll still vote for Wallace."

At first we discounted these results as being incomplete, biased (they may have read it once), and just inconsiderate. But after reflection and a little crystal-gazing we were willing to grant that the newspaper may not meet all standards once in a while. Analysis of these findings led us to believe that it was lacking in actual news, short in features, weak in editorials, and sort of dull in sports.

We thought about blaming these faults on the reporters. But that didn't answer everything. So we re-evaluated our lines of thought and came up with this. The news in the San Diego Junior College is about Junior College students. If those students won't co-operate with reporters then there is no news. Features are those stories of a particular interest to the reader. If there is no happening which rates a write-up, then there are no features and the editors must use fillers of a dry, boring

Do You Read Our Ads?

Say gang,—Did you see the various advertisements in the first edition of "THE JAY SEES?" What was that again, yes, or no? No matter what the answer, how about putting forth a few minutes more on each edition of our paper, and read over the advertisements. Naturally, we cannot stop with just the reading of these ads either, so when you feel like going on a buying spree, remember the people and places that put their advertisements in the J. C. paper. These advertisements are of great support to our paper, so how about our buying from these people that are doing things for us? Let's go, gang.

Pray that a genius will arise in their midst, or turn to nonsense articles of only entertainment value. In other words, if the students aren't active in creating dances, "days," assemblies, and other functions, then there are no features. As to editorials, the Jay Sees has no way of establishing an editorial policy unless the staff recognizes the faults and advantages that students find at our college. Only the students can inform the editors in regard to their activities. We get very few letters to the editor that we do not write ourselves.

The failures of the newspaper are a reflection of the failures of students as citizens.

German Students Mutter "Kiss Me"

The muttering one hears in the halls and in the student lounge is the struggling German students who are gallantly attempting to master the languages by inflicting it upon unsuspecting victims or upon fellow sufferers.

Miss Signe Carlson states that among the more popular phrases with the boys is "I love you" and "kiss me."

Some of the students in the German class are Leon Burton, A.S.B. vice-president, who spent eleven months in Germany, Alvin Crawford and Eugene Southwell who also spent about a year in Germany. Bob Capps lived there two and a half years.

Instructor Visits Latin America During Summer

Latin American History has a certain interest apart from other Historical subjects this semester. Some of these factors have been dwelt upon by Mr. Hubert B. Price, who by his stay this summer in South America has provided him with more enlightenment on Latin American History.

Mr. Price attended the University of Guatamala during the summer months. He also visited the Mayan ruins at Capan, Honduras and the territory of Lower California.

MIXER HELD ON 'STAGE'

The first mixer given on the Russ stage broke the ice between the new and old students of SDJC. Many familiar faces were seen at this record turnout of freshmen and sophomores heralding the dance a success. Many more mixers are being planned for the future.

Speakers Group In Membership Drive

The Toastmistress Club of the Junior College begins this year's activities with a drive for membership. This club, the only international organization on campus, offers new acquaintances and business contacts to interested girls. According to former members it's lots of fun.

All women students, whether they belong to a social club or not, are eligible for membership. Further information may be obtained by contacting Miss Dustin, sponsor, or Lois Mitchell, student, at the Applied Arts center, and Frances Fuller, student, at Business & Technical center.

The Junior College Toastmistresses are affiliated with those of the San Diego Gas & Electric company. The membership quota is 30, so it's a matter of first come, first served.

Don't Be Half-Safe

By Jim Hinds

Do boys like you? Perhaps you've kept yourself hidden. Don't hide in the girls' lounge or your locker. Come out and be your obnoxious self. If you want to be popular with boys, be where boys are. Any popular pool hall will do. But remember, be inconspicuous, somewhat like a four-alarm fire.

Maybe you're an old story or they think of you as furniture. You've got to be new . . . cut off those piano legs. Don't depend on a ballerina skirt to hide those gams.

If you're fat and pudgy, make yourself lean, sleek and smart. If you're sleek and smart make yourself fat and pudgy. Don't be one way, be different. Change your pace. But take it easy. Don't be radical.

Maybe the girls you run around with scare off the boys. Maybe you scare off the boys. Be sly, hold your beartrap where they can't see it. Don't languish over some local "hero." Find a nobody. Sometimes a nobody has hidden talents. We once knew a nobody who was a yo-yo champion.

Don't pick on a lad who has never had a date with a girl. He's not in the habit of reacting; he's probably shy, or not interested.

Don't give the impression that a date with you means spending plenty of money or a Cadillac convertible. Be sensible and learn Monopoly, Mah Jong, or go grunion hunting and even shuffleboard is an entertaining pastime.

Don't go with just any boy. His rep may discolor yours. We knew a girl once who said she knew Bob Mitchum. Now she's got a $10,000 contract with M-G-M.

Panthers Sneak By Jaybirds

San Diego Junior College's fighting Jaybirds went down to a memorable defeat before a hard-charging Chaffey College line at Ontario Friday night.

The final score read 20 to 6, but the game was much closer as the Jaybirds outplayed the so-called mythical national junior college champs in all but the first period.

Two Jaybird fumbles within the first ten minutes of the game, one on the 8 and another on the 25-yard line, set up the winning margin for the veteran Chaffey Panthers.

San Diego scored its lone, official touchdown on a beautiful 61-yard gallop midway in the third quarter by Jackrabbit Ted Ritchey.

Coach Billy Bailey

It was a masterful piece of broken field running as hardly a Panther claw was laid on him.

The game was marked by numerous penalties and long San Diego gains were repeatedly called back. The Jaybirds threatened constantly throughout the game, but their bids were forever stopped by the big Panther line and penalties.

At the beginning of the fourth period the Jaybirds had a first down on the Chaffey 20, and on the first play Joe Brown scored on an end sweep.

The play was quickly called back because the officials ruled the backfield in motion. Then San Diego failed to make a first down. From then on, the game was played on even terms.

Tom Lowerison's kicking was again a highlight of the game, as the Jaybirds outshone the Panthers in every offensive department including three times as many penalties.

Lou Erreca, who recently joined the squad, and Bob Conklin turned in fine defensive games for San Diego. Conklin was constantly the fifth man in the Chaffey backfield, breaking up play after play.

Faculty Volleyball

A faculty volleyball game took place last Tuesday with Merle Gibson, Alfred Nall, Don Clarkson, and Robert Pirazzini winning three out of four games over Robert Heilbron, Lovell Pierce, Jack Salyers and Joe McLaque, student.

More games are planned and faculty members interested should meet at the gym 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. They are asked to bring shorts and gym shoes.

Sports Expand As Knoll Grows

A little preview on the development of various sports that will be making their appearance in the sport limelight is in order.

Tennis

To the sounds of "service," "nice shot," and "doggone the holes in my racquet," fall tennis makes its appearance at SDJC. After surveying the casualties and licking the wounds incurred in the encounters with some tough northern teams last spring, it was decided to have a fall practice team. Five returning lettermen, Ben Cendali, Charles Felker, Bob Kerner, Jennings Brewer and Jack White will compose the nucleus for this year's squad. The forementioned players will compete with seventeen other hopefuls, who are out swinging racquets every week-day afternoon trying to get in shape.

The Jaybirds were very fortunate in obtaining the services of Odus Morgan as coach. Mr. Morgan is a typing teacher at the Business Center and a nationally known tennis player. The ruling powers of J. C. are backing the netters to the hilt, and it is said that the support of the students will supply the needed encouragement for a winning season.

Wrestling

The wrestling setup is progressing slowly but surely under the guidance of Coach Ivan Olson, who will stress fundamentals to the 27 signed members the first few weeks at the Rose Park Playground.

Basketball

On the basketball front, Coach Don Clarkson announces to future casaba candidates that the first call for practice will be on Monday, October 18. After a month or so of practice which will "separate the men from the boys," there will be various tussles in order to round into shape for the first game against the SDJC Alumni on December 1.

Swimming

However, the swimming part of the athletic program is not as advanced as its contemporaries due to the fact that only a few students showed up at the first meeting. Another meeting is imperative in order to warrant a sizeable class for instructions, which incidentally, will be given at the Y.M.C.A. between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon. Students wishing to join the swimming class are advised to refer to the bulletin board for the lowdown on the meetings, dues and instruction dates.

Miss 'L' Beams As Nestmen Rule Roost

By Manuel Y. Armendariz

Bill Bailey, San Diego Junior College football coach, was found to be shopping around for a suitable present for a fair lady after his Jaybird "11" eeked out a 14-13 triumph over Bakersfield at the loser's field.

Bailey had in mind a string of dime-store pearls or perhaps a flask of essence of dandelion for Dame Fortune, who really smiled on his plucky gridsters.

Three important factors proved to be the difference between victory and defeat for the San Diegans. Tom Lowerison's well-placed kicks, Jesse Thompson's timely passing and Bud Genet's pin-point place-kicking are the reasons that the Jays can breathe a might easier now.

Johnny Mehas

Thompson's aerials to ends Ernie Smith and Joe Galindo accounted for the two Jaybird touchdowns, after piston-legged Cosimo Cutri had set the ball in scoring position with his frequent romps. Genet split the crossbars with his place kicks on both occasions and that eventually turned out to be the victory margin.

The second half, however, was all Bakersfield; in fact, it was all Frank Gifford, Oiler halfback, who passed his team back into the game after the Bordertown boys had indicated to the spectators that they would run off with an easy victory.

Gifford's passing wizardry and his team's spread formation almost spelled doom for S.D.J.C. and it was only the staunchness of the Jaybirds that enabled them to stymie a desperate final quarter attempt by Bakersfield and thus emerge triumphant.

Thompson Sparks Deceptive SDJC Attack

There is a great controversial matter being discussed in the bull sessions today. Some pigskin experts have said that the running attack of he S.D.J.C. "11" has given the Jaybirds a head start in the Metropolitan Junior College football conference, while still others maintain that it is the passing of quarterback Jesse Thompson that has paid off in dividends. Whichever may be the case, you can bet your shiny silver dollar that Coach Bailey is mighty glad to have Jesse around.

The former St. Augustine High jack-of-all-trades, a Breitbard Athletic Foundation "Star of the Month" award winner one of San Diego's leading athletes in 1946, and a modest fellow at that, is in his second year of college football competition, having performed for the San Francisco U. frosh squad last year.

Tipping the scales at 148 pounds when soaking wet, the diminutive southpaw passer de luxe has given the Jaybird followers plenty to cheer about, and it's almost a certain bet that he will continue to do so, barring a possible injury.

Santa Monica, State JV Next Jaybird Foes

The Jaybirds' next foe on the gridiron will be Santa Monica City College, which, with a host of fast backs and a light but scrappy line promises to be a large stumbling block in the Jaybirds' plans for an undefeated Metropolitan season.

The "Corsairs" passing attack is centered around Bill Jordan, who is a returning letterman from last year. Jordan threw seven touchdown passes before he broke his arm in the middle of the '47 season last year.

Returning to the line are center Johnny Wilson and Art Marks, guards Harold Skidmore and tackle Paul Evans. Other outstanding candidates for line positions are ends Frank Herring, Jim Baxter, and Dick Morris; guards Bob Fitzgerald, Jack Duke, and Bud Randall; and tackle "Moose" Miller.

The Corsairs' only defeat this year was at the hands of Chaffey Junior College which beat them 14 to 7. Santa Monica scored its lone touchdown on an intercepted pass in the rapidly waning moments of the game.

Delegates to the convention are: Applied Arts Center: Kenneth Gautereaux, president; Leon Burton, vice-president, and Mickie Chappell, president of the Associated Women Students. Bud Preibisus, president, and Bob Lanser, vice-president, will represent the Business and Technical Center, and from the Evening Center will be President Warren McCament, who is also the newly-elected president of the official Associated Student Body. Aims are: to promote better relations between the junior colleges of the state and to establish a state-wide student organization to promote the best interests of the students.

A banquet for the representatives will be held Saturday night, November 6, and other entertainment is being arranged for the group when delegates are not in actual conference.

Rampant Rumor Proves True — Name Changed

By Barbara Baker

The rumor that ran rampant on campus recently about the name "Jaybirds" being changed, was certainly true—for changed it was to GRAY CASTLE KNIGHTS.

Gray Castle Knights is a name each and every JC student can be proud of. A name that will bear with it the spirit of our winning athletic teams, and the backing of the entire student body.

Here is the real lowdown on how such a terrific name was chosen. A special meeting of the Executive Council was called last week to see what members could do about getting SDJC a new name. If you're wondering what the council is, it's an organization composed of the ASB officers from the three major centers. The Executive Council after hurrying through its other less important business, devoted the rest of its time to selecting a name that would please everyone. Since that is impossible, members settled on trying to please the majority.

A list of approximately seventy-five names, some good and some completely meaningless were thoroughly gone through and the top five names shredded out. Well, so far so good, but there the council was faced with a problem, and what a problem it was. Why? Well, because all of those top five names selected were good, and they were faced with choosing the best one. The one suited for San Diego Junior College.

ASB officers on hand to represent students enrolled at their center included: Kenny Gautereaux, Bud Preibisus, Bob Lanser, Barbara Baker, Gim Hom, Warren McCament, Milton Brasch, and Harry Weimer. Faculty present were Dean Robert Heilbron, Mrs. Lois De Franco and Mrs. Margaret Olson.

Ninety-Seven Yard Dash By Cutri Features Scalping of Papooses

With a crash that no doubt dislodged the concrete structure of the west side of Balboa Stadium, where self-asserted Montezuman students were reported to have gathered last Thursday night, Bill Bailey's classy collegians slammed the gates of mercy on State College's Junior Varsity-Frosh football team before 6,000 cold-bitten fans.

After the smoke of battle had risen, (or was it fog?), the blue and gray colors of S.D.J.C. were predominate in the cool breeze which moments before had been a raging inferno of a hotly contested tussle.

This non-conference game for S.D.J.C. was supposed to have been its toughest, but as it is, the score 36-6 seems to prove otherwise. San Diego's highly heralded Knights displayed a gridiron machine that performed perfunctorily on all eleven cylinders, although the engine took a little time to warm up.

The first quarter contained a large portion of J. C. tinkering around with the idea of scoring. Knollmen's hopes were frustrated momentarily when Art Preston, the former renowned Metro League big wig, circled left end for four yards and a Papoose tally.

Fullback Gene Ricard, however, injected needed stimuli in the Knights when he took the pigskin from his 29-yard line and jigg-stepped to the State 31. Ricard whistled by would-be State tacklers, who disintegrated as if kissed "atomically" by the low, hard Knight blocks. Shortly after that 48-yard masterpiece, Bob Conklin took a lateral from Cosimo Cutri

Frosh Find Fresh Impetus For Activities

Tentative plans for a Frosh talent assembly, plus red-hot ideas for a Frosh sponsored dance were the main topics of the day when the Freshman Council, under the leadership of its newly elected officers, met recently.

"Although it is still in the paper stage, the talent show project drew lots of enthusiasm," Jimmie Chilton, president, said.

He stressed that backing is needed from the entire class, as in any event of this nature. The Frosh council is out to make this class the biggest and the best in J. C. history, the president said.

"Freshman, if you want an assembly, talk it up!" class officers urge. "Tell your classroom representatives what you want . . . let him know that you are interested and willing to go to bat for it."

"If you or your friends have talent you think the student body would enjoy, get in touch with your representative or one of the Frosh officers and tell him your friend's name," Chilton advised.

Stressing the urgency of co-operation, he advised freshmen to remember that THIS is their show. If freshmen want this assembly, he said, tell someone, don't put it off, do it now.

Christmas Job Quests Set For November 10

Here is a choice bit of news for all of those students who wonder where those extra dollars for Christmas are coming from this year.

Mr. Robert S. Hamilton, job counselor for Junior College Students, would like all of those students interested in working for the Post Office during the Christmas holidays to contact him after November 10.

This is the opportunity many of you have been waiting for in order to fill those vacation days.

Sigma Tau Rho Dance To Honor Football Team

If you have two feet and $1.20 you are eligible to attend "Foot" Ball, November 5.

This dance sponsored by Sigma Tau Rho is given in honor of the hard hitting and victorious football team and will be held in the American Legion Hall, 8118 University Avenue in La Mesa.

Starting off the series of dances sponsored each semester by campus social organizations, Sigma Tau Rho members have selected dressy sport as the style. Willie Welch's seven-piece band will provide the music from 8:30 till 12:30, and a special floor show is being arranged. Theme "Foot" Ball will be carried out by clever wall decorations. Admission is practically free with bids selling for $1.20 per couple.

Sigma Tau Rho active members working hard to make this dance a success are: Bill Dickinson, Jim Wilson, Earl White, Tommy Monahan, Jimmie Madden, Harvey Short, Harry Freatman, Jack Cranston and Kenny Gautereaux.

Pledges who may be put on the nasty duty of clean-up are: Joe Page, Ben Cendali, Tom Esparza, Al Dahms, Tom Sutton, Bob Lamp, Gordon Dale, Steve Galindo, Don Foster, Wally Head, Howard Rasberry, Frank Morgan, Jack Graham, Ted Hopper, Ralph Cummings, Bill Brittain, Rudy Schmidt, Gene Bindwanger, Russell Baldwin, Gordon Stalmaker, Ed Guldwin, Tom Baur, Don Crie and Bud Close.

Attendance was good at the Navy Day assembly held yesterday in Russ auditorium. Program consisted of selections played by the Navy Band, a short talk given by Commander Jack Canady on the founding of Navy Day, and songs under the direction of E. H. Maxwell by the combined San Diego High and Junior College Choir.

Alumni Celebration Will Honor Editors

Student committees under the direction of Marna Knox, are already busy making preparations for the San Diego High School Homecoming Day to be held November 19. It is a date all Hillers, past and present, are looking forward to as a must on their calendar.

As this year will mark the fiftieth anniversary of The Russ, all past Russ editors will be honored guests. Also being honored this year are graduates of 1923 and 1938, as well as all earlier graduates up through 1908.

Alumni officers this year include: Allen Klauber, '23, president; Edwin Self, '38, vice-president; and Mrs. Eileen Jackson, '23, secretary.

Men To Witness Jet Operation

Admiral F. D. Wagner, Commander of the West Coast Air Fleet, has invited a limited number of second year Junior College men to witness a demonstration of the newest Jet Squadron at the Naval Air Station, Friday, November 5. The students will be shown how the jets operate and will attend a luncheon in the Officer's "Wardroom."

The naval aviation cadet program is open to single men between the ages of 18-25 with at least two years of college education.

More information can be obtained at the Naval Air Station Recruiting Office, and all men interested in attending Friday should leave their names at the Dean's office.

Jesse Thompson

for the Gray Castlemen's initial score.

State was having a hard time in trying to stop the Baileymen, who were in scoring position again, before the gun ended the first half in a 6-6 stalemate.

Somewhere, somehow, State lost the spirit and hustle the team possessed early in the game, and in the second half it was just a matter of the best team emerging victorious.

Little time was lost by J. C. in the third quarter as Jesse Thompson's blueprint aerial to Bud Genet followed by Joe Brown belly-sliding from the one through tackle, resulted in a Knight touchdown. Bud took care of the liberty point this time.

After the teams tittered-tattered around the field awhile, "Jumping Jess" again unleashed his mighty arm and pegged a beauty to Ernie Smith on the Aztec 45. Under-rated and modest Brown again lugged it from there through the center of the line for another touchdown. Genet tacked up his second conversion.

Jim Simmons, Montezuman scat-back, sparked a potential Papoose goal drive with his frequent ground gains and Ken Bonatus, little All-American performer, helped when

TO SWAY OR BE SWAYED

In less than a week from today, the nation's voters will choose leaders to manage the government during the important times ahead.

Only a small percentage of students in school will take part in these elections, but the results will be important to all of us. Although most of us aren't full citizens as yet, except for the wise old JC veterans, all of us will be out in the cold, cruel world before the officers-to-be have finished their terms.

The possibility of war is certainly important to all (male) students and many other issues now being decided will affect the future. With all the campaign-ranting and hullabaloo, the election is an interesting show besides being a good opportunity to study our government in action. We may be able to keep things straight when we take over the jobs of being citizens.

A lot of us sit around and complain about what terrible conditions exist, yet, when the time comes for them to do something about it, do they? Nope. They sit around and let somebody else do all the work. Then they yell all the louder about political, economic and conditions.

Don't be one of "those" guys. Be sure you're shouting with that vote of yours at the polls and not with your voice afterwards. The people who don't vote elect incompetent, scheming leaders.

Debtors List Posted As Book Fines Pile Up

Are you in debt? If you would read the main bulletin list on Library Obligations you might be able to find out.

The library list of missing people with missing money seems to get bigger and bigger. Every day you fail to pay a debt on a book, your overdue fine increases. This situation is bad as it causes the librarian a lot of extra work in bookkeeping which otherwise would not be necessary. Last year debtors were tracked down by their counselors, but this proved to be unsatisfactory. So this year everyone is on his own. Look at the library list on the main bulletin board and check to see if you are a debtor.

New Instructor At B & T Center

A new member has been added to the list of instructors at the B&T center.

He is Mr. Barth Monaghan, and will replace Mr. Gilbert Johnston in the Business Management and Business Law class. The new instructor has a very extensive background in numerous fields. In addition to law and management, he studied economics and industrial relations.

He worked at Consolidated for six years in industrial relations before coming to J.C. Mr. Monaghan studied at Rutgers and New York Universities. He received his Masters in Law at New York.

Lost Is Found In Bookstore

Have you seen some poor unfortunate soul groping blindly through the halls searching for strayed eye-glasses? Or someone who is hatless, keyless, or brainless? Please direct such character to Mr. Ramsey who is in charge of the Lost and Found department at the Book Store.

There the dismayed student will find such goodies as spectacles (both near and far-sighted) car keys, house keys, and what-have-you keys scattered amidst hats, scarfs, odds and ends of jewelry. Such rarities can be found as one pair of never-worn gym socks (sorry, can't give the size), one umbrella, which, of course, no one will ever claim because of the beautiful California climate.

An odd bit of something which appears to be a sewing accomplishment, has been tucked away into Lost and Found's corner for nigh onto two semesters. Mr. Ramsey will give this rare article, absolutely free, to anyone who can tell him what it is.

Clifford Brown To Head Group

Clifford Brown was elected president of the Engineering club, when the group met recently. Other officers elected are: Seth Johnson, vice-president; Edmund White, secretary; and Ricardo Sues, treasurer.

Sponsored by Mr. Robert S. Winters, math instructor at the Applied Arts and Science center, the Engineering club, recently organized, consists of a group of students interested in the engineering field. Other members at the present are: Bill Richardson, Ed Bingham, James Madden, Basil Galatis, Harold Smart, Bill Cook, Don Munger, Terry Dillon, and Saul Medrand.

Membership is still open to any students interested in any phase

Vets' Corner

By Basil Galatis

"C" (claims) numbers are often the only means by which the Veteran's Administration can distinguish one vet from another. With some 24,000,000 vet's names in VA files, many are duplicated thousands of times over.

The files contain 217,000 Smiths, 12,500 of them named John; 38,500 Adams, 960 of whom are named John Quincy; 7,000 John Browns; 9,000 William Browns; 12,000 Bradleys; and 102 Eisenhewers.

Veterans assigned "C" numbers are urged to memorize them, so they may use them readily when writing or calling the VA concerning their benefits. Through this procedure a folder can be located immediately and a reply will be received in a much shorter time.

Prior notice from the VA will be sent to veterans whose National Service Life Insurance term policies will start expiring soon. Notice will be sent two months before the expiration date of the original policies. This will give vets time to convert to a permanent plan or to renew their term insurance for an additional five year period. Renewals may be made without a physical examination.

of the engineering field. No prerequisites are needed. Meetings will be held every other Thursday and they will consist of short business meetings supplemented by open discussions on engineering problems. Prominent figures active in the engineering field will be called upon to talk to the group and trips through local plants and manufacturing companies are being planned for the near future.

Knights Dump Corsairs; Thompson Ignites Win

The football juggernaut of the San Diego Junior college Knights rolled to its third win of the season and second of the Metro conference over Santa Monica City college 20 to 3. The game was played at Santa Monica October 15.

Sparked offensively by a galaxy of backs, Cosimo Cutri, Harry West, Joe Brown, Bud Genet, and Ed Fletcher, the passing of Jesse Thompson, the Gray Castle Knights came from behind a three point deficit to score touchdowns in each of the last three quarters. A 25-yard field goal by blocking back Micky King had put the Knights behind in the first quarter.

The San Diego offensive did not begin moving until late in the second quarter. The Gray Knights took over on their own 20 and eight plays later scored on an 8-yard pass from dead-eye Jesse Thompson to long Ernie Smith for the initial touchdown. Thompson kicked the extra point. Bud Genet set up the score with a beautiful 47-yard sprint deep into Corsair territory. Later in the same period Cutri broke away to score but it was called back because of an off-side penalty.

Midway in the third quarter the Knollmen opened up with an 82-yard drive with Cutri doing most of the work. They scored when Thompson threw a lateral pass to Gene Ricard who romped the last 14 yards for the score. Bud Genet converted.

The last and game cinching score came on a 45-yard drive. Thompson this time passed to Joe Galindo for the last marker.

The San Diego Gray Castle Knights hard and fast charging line turned in an excellent defensive game, holding the Santa Monica running game in check and rushing the Cosair passers. Guards Bob Conklin, Byrant Benson, Gordon Ek, and tackle Gene Edwards played outstanding defensive ball for the Baileymen.

SDJC Cager Stars Report For Practice

The Knights basketball team, again under the supervision of Coach Don Clarkson, has started working out on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3:30 to 5:00 in the boys' gym.

This will be the Knights' first year in the Metropolitan conference and Coach Clarkson hopes it will be as successful as last year's hardwood team, which ended the season with a 20 won and 7 lost record while playing free lance ball.

Undoubtedly the services of Ivan Robinson, Bob Phelps, Jack Hawk, and Leo Tuck will be missed but with returning letterman Ben Cendali, Tony Vasquez, and Gene Devorraux to form the nucleus, aided by J. V. lettermen Pete Frelinger and Jim Hobel, and a host of ex-prep school stars throughout the county, a top notch ball club should be the result. A few of the outstanding candidates are Pat Donnelly, Bob Johnson, Bill Boyd, Jordon Lansky, Ish Herrera, Tom Sutton, Jim Madden, Bob Lamp, and Syd Franklin.

Tank Team Enters Swim

Last one in is a sissy! Yes, students, swimming has made its appearance on the S.D.J.C. athletic program and is getting to the point where competitive swimming will be introduced very shortly.

After paying up their five dollar fee and getting acquainted with the instructions and rules, the swimming aspirants dove into the rectangular pool of the Y.M.C.A. and made themselves known.

Students signing up for this course will be entered in the Mississippi Swim, an event which is looked forward to by each college tank team.

Ernie Smith, Knights Defensive Standout

One of Bill Bailey's best all-around men on his S.D.J.C. "11" is a six foot three inch monster that scares the living daylights out of you when he's coming in for a jarring tackle.

Ernie Smith, a ball-bearing jointed gridster, performs at one of the terminal spots on the team. A gifted end, who specializes in making quarterbacks look good, and is a definite threat to the opposition in his line-backing position.

Ernie Smith

tion, is one of the Knights top scorers. His greyhound leaps enable him to cover valuable yardage in a hurry.

"Elongated Ernie" was a two-year letterman in football, basketball and track at his alma mater, San Diego High.

Always calm and collected, Ernie has already fulfilled the wishes of Coach Bailey, and although Ernie likes to remain in the background, a bow would surely be appropriate.

FACULTY TEAM INVITES CHALLENGE

The men's faculty have organized a volleyball team which meets every Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in the men's gym. They have enough players for almost two complete teams and expect to have more members in the future.

The faculty team hope to challenge and to receive challenges from the social clubs in the school, and the service clubs.

Baileymen Hit El Camino; Draw Bye

The Gray Castle Knights will be seeking their third consecutive Metro Conference win this Saturday night when they journey to Inglewood to engage El Camino Junior College in a league game.

The Knights will be favored to win one on the strength of their record this season. El Camino has not fared so well in league competition so far this season dropping a 28 to 6 decision to Bakersfield a few weeks ago.

The Gray Knights again will field about the same team that whipped the State College J. V. last Thursday. The loss of Gene Edwards will be felt but Ted Stephenson should prove a very capable replacement. The Knights will draw a bye next week.

Gene Ricard

On the Sidelines

Joe Page has been offered a scholarship by San Jose State college for his outstanding work on the field of track. "Jumping" Joe as he is known by his fellow Knights, was one of the outstanding high jumpers in California last spring. He went to the finals of the National Junior College track meet in Arizona last May and finished second, being beaten out of first place by only five-eighths of an inch.

The Gray Castle Knights took advantage of every break last Thursday night, cashing in on most of them. The State College Papposes not only lost their shirts but their tempers as well—a few times.

The explanation of the ineligibilities of the State players for last Thursday's game is that he uncorked a bullet into the outstretched arms of end Jim Erkenbeck to the Knight 3-yard stripe. Bob Conklin came to the rescue at that moment and picked an airline fumble out of Jim Simmon's hands at point-blank range, after the latter was jarred to such an extent that he lost the ball.

Knights Blast State

Cosimo Cutri, who drew more attention than a 3-ring circus, stepped into his mercury-heeled shoes and on the very first play, maneuvered his crazy legs past the secondary into the open, much to the chagrin of the befuddled Papposes, who stared hypnotized at the will-o'-the-wisp with their backs reposing on the ground. Genet added insult to injury when he collected his third straight extra digit.

After that, it was just like Junior College playing against a bunch of disconsolate football players. Jack Graham and Ed Fletcher, second string Knight halfbacks, gave a dazzling exhibition of fancy running in the last quarter. Jerry Dahms, who took over at quarterback late in the game, shot a short pass to Graham for the final tally after Ed Pickering had blocked a State kick in the end zone for a safety.

Genet called it a night with his fourth consecutive conversion marker.

Due to the fact that the Papposes were much more concerned with the business of poking some J. C. players in the ribs or what have you, the game was not as well played as was expected, albeit the Papposes could not have come much closer to the Knights. Coach Bailey's charges had one thing in their favor that played a big part in their victory. Indeed, keeping one's head cool plays a big part. Ask the Aztecs, they'll tell you.

S.D.J.C. Knights are required by the Metropolitan Conference to play all football games league or non-league according to Metro rules. State players Jim Simmons and Marty Gaughn were ineligible according to these rules.

Our neighbor, San Diego High, appears headed for another Coast League title this fall. They are also looking to the S.C.I.F. post season title.

The Padres really did an El Foldo last August after climbing within one game of first place. It seems the first-division air was too strong for them, or was it because the pitching staff was walking too much, that is, from the mound to the showers.

Anyone interested in bowling is advised to see Mr. Gier for further information. Bowling shoes are available for rental at the Bowl for a fee of 10 cents. Plans are in the making for the club to enter into competition with other schools.

Fight Song Is Chosen By Energetic Students

Congratulations to Ruby Turner for writing the words to a song. Finally the Junior College has a fight song.

At an assembly held last week, the songs were submitted to the student body for its vote. The three songs were "Fight On Ye Knights of Gray and Blue," "Buckle Down, You Knights," and "Fight, Gray and Blue."

The song that came out on top was "Buckle Down, You Knights" and was followed by "Fight On Ye Knights of Gray and Blue."

The songs "Hail, Hail," and "The Gray and The Blue" were voted in by the council and, along with the other two songs, will be JC football songs. Every student should make an attempt to learn the school song so that THIS student body can be heard at the football games. Here is the song:

"Buckle Down You Knights"
(To the tune of "Buckle Down Gwen Socke")

Buckle down, you Gray Knights, buckle down

You can win, you Gray Knights, if you buckle down,

Let us hit that line, we can score this time, we are doing fine, so buckle down.

You can win, you Gray Knights, you can win,

You can win, you Gray Knights, if you don't give in,

Let us pass and run, till the final gun, then we know we've won. If you would only buckle down.

For our backs will chuckle at defeat, Cause they know our line will not retreat

Knuckle down you Gray Knights, knuckle down

You can win, you Gray Knights, if you buckle down

If you don't give in, take it on the chin, then we'll surely win, if you would only buckle down.

Autumn Queen Contestants Vie

At exactly 2:30 p.m. Friday, the nominations for Autumn Queen were closed. At the end of last week, the names of 17 nominees were "in the bag" for the honor of reigning at the Kappa Phi Alpha's dance, "Autumn Artistry."

These are the five candidates who received the highest number of votes: Pauline Blake, Francis Arnold, Betsy Anderson, Mary Niederfrank and Marjorie Lovejoy.

With the interest shown so far in the contest, attendance at the dance is expected to exceed all previous dance attendance records. Voting will take place at the dance, and votes will be hotly-contested according to feeling running high concerning "who's the purtiest," "who's the nicest," "who's the pleasantest," "who's the sweetest," or "who looks good in high heels." Oh, yes, "Autumn Artistry," the dance will be held November 24.

Naval Air Is Host To JC Jet Neophytes

Fourteen second-year Junior College men were guests of Admiral F. D. Wagner, Commander of the West Coast Air Fleet, at the Naval Air Station, Friday, November 5. The students witnessed a demonstration of the newest Jet Squadron, heard lectures on the principles of jet operation, were shown a movie on the History of Naval Aviation, and attended a luncheon in the Officer's Wardroom.

Jay Sees Presents Vice-President of Freshman Council

Bill Barnes, newly elected vice-president of the freshman council, is one of our well-liked students on the campus. Bill is majoring in social science but his chief interest and hobby is architectural design.

Having been born a native San Diegan, Bill made his first visit out of the state of California last summer. His mother gave him as a graduation present a trip to New York, Washington, Chicago, St. Louis, and Niagara Falls. Bill answers questions brilliantly, humorously, or not at all, and when asked as an authority on a philosophy question, "Does Niagara Falls make a noise when there is no one around to hear it?" answered glibly, "WHAT'S THE MATTER, YOU CRAZY OR SOMETHING?"

The dark-haired freshman was graduated from San Diego High last June, and plans to finish the two-year course here at San Diego Junior college.

Brychel Leads Honor Society

At a recent meeting of the Honor Society Martha T. Brychel was elected president to lead the group for the fall semester. Other officers elected at the same time were: Gene Southwell, vice-president; Madeline McGowan, recording secretary; and Basil Galatis, treasurer.

This was the third meeting of the group this semester and plans were made to study and revise the Constitution as needed. Although no students from the other centers were present, the group hopes that some may join in the near future.

Practice in Selling Found at B&T Center

A model store display, sponsored by Grants, was recently set up by Junior College students in the merchandising class at the Business Center.

Sales were made from this successful display. Some students who took part in the exhibition were: Jennie Livert, Kay George, and Leo Lipec, who provided not only suggestions and comments, but also a live mouse, according to reports.

Floats, Parades to Add Color to Homecoming

Service Club Plans Discussed

The Freshman Council which met Thursday, November 14, discussed the organizing of a service club. The club will act as a welcoming committee for visiting athletic organizations and guest speakers.

Duties will also include making and displaying publicity posters and the club will assist in various organizations. Its main purpose will be for general improvement of the school.

Fire drills for this year were among the topics discussed. It was decided that students should take more care in obeying drill rules and cooperate with the faculty members who are appointed as guards for the students' welfare.

Other subjects discussed were more mixers, JC window-stickers, and improving the daily bulletin.

Is Your Standing Safe? Check Tests

It's true that you're not completely registered if you haven't taken the classification tests. But here is good news.

Any student who has not, as yet, taken the tests has his chance in January or February when they will be again given. The tests are part of the process of registration, and the standing of any student in the college is jeopardized until he has completed his registration by taking them.

Women's Organizations Discuss College Women

The 20th annual Associated Women Students and Women Recreation Association conference was held Saturday, October 30, at Fullerton Junior College. Marge Drinkwater, vice-president of the SDJC A.W.S., and Millie Payne, president of the W.R.A., met with members from 17 California colleges and junior colleges to discuss problems of the college women in her community.

Delegates attended a dinner at Knox Berry Farm and a program of talks and entertainment was given.

Vets Comprise A Third of ASB

Approximately 33 1/3 per cent of our student enrollment is composed of veterans. Of 330 men, 190 are studying under Public Law 346. Five are attending under Public Law 16, while ten are receiving benefits under the State Rehabilitation Law. The remaining 125 are attending school without taking advantage of their benefits.

Most every student on the JC campus is eagerly awaiting the night of November 26. Why?

Well, that is the day after Thanksgiving, but it is also the night of the Homecoming and it is expected that "Knights and Alumknights" will be there.

Barbara Arnold, Jack White and members of the A.S.B. council have been spending every spare moment, between classes of course, working on plans for the exhibitions, programs, and parties.

Each social organization will sponsor and decorate one float according to the motifs that will be given. The themes for the floats concern phases of football players and their activities.

Clubs planning to sponsor the floats are: Phi Sigma Tau; Sigma Lambda Chi; Phi Theta Xi; Phi Alpha; Kappa Phi Alphas; Sigma Tau Rhos; Alpha Delta; Rho Delta.

A group of volunteers has offered to help with the queen's float, which is to be a grand event of the evening.

Evening JC'ers Have Fun, Frivolity Ahead

Students in the Evening Center are proving that it pays to obtain a student body card. They have begun a series of social, educational, and cultural activities which promises to be well worth while.

The activities so far this semester have consisted of a professional assembly and a Halloween dance. Those in the offing will be a lecture and a price reduction on a forthcoming group of concerts to be held at the Russ. There are also possibilities of a minstrel show, a Christmas party, and a "final" fling dinner dance on a come-as-you-are basis.

The ASB card provides Junior College students with the privileges of obtaining the school paper without charge, with reduction in the price of the year book, with entrance to all JC athletic events free of charge, and permits the student to participate in the Evening Junior College over-all activity program this semester.

Nine-Week Courses At Business Center

On Monday, November 15, second-session nine-week courses will begin at the Business Division. The Business Division has long offered these special nine-week courses to its students. These courses, which are of great aid to business majors, are offered to Junior College and Vocational business students.

The new nine-week courses beginning November 15 are: letter writing, business speech, office orientation, word usage, typing and filing.

Robinson Rehearses Role . . . Yawn, Yawn

"Open your mouth wider, Robinson, but don't swallow the scenery."

Taking it from there, Gene Robinson came forth with some facial expressions that would stop Big Ben.

Robinson, who portrays the servant Eveille (pronounced A-vee-ay) in the coming production, "Barber of Seville," yawns constantly throughout the play because of a spell cast on him by Figgaro.

San Diego Junior College discovered Gene's acting ability last year when he appeared in "Tambling of the Shrew."

Gene had also taken part in numerous broadcasts last semester as a member of the J. C. Radio Workshop. Not satisfied with "just acting," he wrote a script and was rewarded when its presentation was put on the air.

Robinson, who is sometimes called Robbins, was the fellow that handled the lighting effects for "A Slave With Two Faces," the contest play J.C. presented in Pasadena last semester. He was also at the switches for "Petriified Forest," but his talents do not stop here.

Gene Robinson also composes songs. He is personally responsible for both lyrics and melody of some fine tunes you may be hearing shortly.

ARMISTICE DAY:

A DAY TO REMEMBER

November 11 may well be remembered so long as mankind finds instruction in history. It marks one of the most stupendous achievements in world history. On November 11, at 11 o'clock in the morning, the work of the soldier was completed and the work of the diplomat began. No words can truly characterize the endurance, heroism, and devotion of the millions who offered their lives in order that victory might be won.

If the United States had not entered the First World War, it possibly would have ended in a stalemate, one that most likely would not have been altogether favorable to the allies. So the Americans threw their weight on the side of democracy, and she performed her service well. Her sons and daughters gave their services and some their lives for a free and wholesome world. Gladly, eagerly, and willingly should we do all within our power to consecrate and commemorate those who so freely gave their last measure of devotion so that democracy might live.

Armistice Day, then, as each succeeding November brings another anniversary, is to remind us of the supreme need of justice in the relations of men and nations, and of the duty that still belongs to us—not less than it belongs to others—to give our best thought and effort to the establishment of peace upon a true foundation.

Administrative Teaching Staffs of Three Centers Hold First Combined Meet

Wednesday October 27, marked the first overall meeting of the Junior College administrative and teaching staffs. This meeting, which took place at the Business Center, was a memorable event. For this was the first time in the school's history, that the total number of staff members, which now numbers 125 strong, have been grouped together at one and the same meeting.

Responsible for this "get-together" of the total staff, was the sub committee of the Junior College Planning committee. Members of the committee are: Mr. Walter L. Thatcher, principal of the Business Center, chairman; Dr. John Aseltine, principal of the Junior College; Mr. Paul E. Kline, principal of the Evening Center; and Mr. Sullivan of the Trades Center. This committee is formulating plans which will acquaint all the staff members with each other, the three centers, and the various programs offered at each center.

The next meeting of this type has been planned, and it is to be held at and presented by the Applied Arts Center.

(Ed. Note. This story was scheduled for the October 28 issue, planned for page 5. At the last minute finances decreed a four page edition.)

Reporter Finds Clue To Porch Confusion

We've got the answer. If it's a test, this may not be the right (?) answer — teachers are so stuffy about the answers — but THIS ONE we dug up, and here 'tis.

Sealing wax is the answer. That's all there is to it. For weeks we've been standing around wondering what all the feverish activity on the front porch at the Business Center could be caused by. And that's the answer.

Sealing wax. A coating of sealing material was put down to prevent water from leaking through to the new cafeteria being built downstairs in the Business Center.

Oh, yes. The cafeteria will be opened soon, AND the sealing wax will keep you from slipping.

Would Rationing Solve Problem?

Don't Shatter Dreams, Return the Bottles

Once upon a time there was a little gal coke bottle and a little guy coke bottle. They lived in a beautiful coke rack in the San Diego Junior College lounge and they were so happy for they were always returned to the coke racks and treated ever so kindly.

And then! One day some schmo of a J.C. student forgot to return the little guy coke bottle to the racks. He was left in some musty corner, ever to be forgotten. Well, the little gal coke bottle was simply heart-broken. She stayed in the lounge day after day weeping her poor little contents all over the place.

This heart-broken coke bottle has asked all students to search high and low for the lost one. This description was given: about seven inches in height, green in color and with Coca-Cola plainly written on his beautiful physique.

He can most likely be identified by his forlorn expression but in case of doubt return all bottles answering this description to the

The difference in demeanor and attitude between the "Knights" and the "Ladies" of the Gray Castle may be explained in part by a new set of percentages just discovered.

Men outnumber women to the ratio of 3.07. This may account for the three men and seven-hundredths of a man surrounding every pretty co-ed on the campus. The two and seventh-hundredths left over when a girl decides to "go steady" is, according to some sources, ready to invade other college campuses. Capture is their reason for invasion.

Some psychologists say this situation may make the girls quite happy, while fellows languidly awaiting admiring feminine glances. Its a problem.

One solution, however, is rationing. The problem here is concerned with WHO would be members of the Ration Board, and would they be unprejudiced?

coke racks in the lounge. Don't miss a one, for who knows—the coke bottle YOU left lying around for your best friend to trip over may be the lost little guy coke bottle.

Lyryst Lionizes Lush Library Literature

An occurrence which is bound to have dynamic and resounding effects on the students at S.D.J.C. was brought to our attention today! Apparently there are literally scores of Gray Castle Knights (to use a cliché) overlooking or looking over a rich field of fascinating entertainment, right here on campus.

The occurrence of which we speak (merely to arouse your interest) is an absence slip received by an instructor (whose name we are not at liberty to disclose, but who advises the Jay Sees staff). The name on the slip was not outstanding, nor the dates marked, but the excuse was superb.

The excuse read and we quote, "Sat in library and forgot about class!" Now, it just happens that the class in question was a journalism class, and the subject for discussion was not grammar, great books, or outlining. The subject, dear reader, was . . .

Vets' Corner

By Basil Galatis

There are a number of important dates which World War II veterans attending school under the GI Bill should keep in mind, according to Marc Ingle, contact officer of the Veterans' Administration. Although none of them are in the offing, they are listed for the veteran's information.

GI education and training benefits have two deadlines, time of entering and time of completion. Education or training must be started within four years after discharge or by July 25, 1951, whichever is later.

As a general rule, education or training must be completed not later than July 25, 1956. Exceptions to this are vets who enlisted before October 6, 1946. They may start and complete their training later.

Vets may apply for guaranteed or insurance GI loans for the use of buying or building homes, farms or businesses up until July 25, 1957.

There is no deadline on the time a veteran has to apply for medical care or hospitalization. The same holds true for filing claims for disability compensation or pensions. These may be applied for any time during a veteran's life.

Mr. Ingle also stated: "San Diego veterans are reminded that documents filed with the VA are not returnable."

"Veterans should make sure that documents they submit are properly certified," Ingle said, "If in doubt, vets should bring in both the original document and the copy they wish to leave. The VA may then make certification."

One SDJC student wrote home that he had three cuts already... his folks sent him a first-aid kit by return mail.—College Chatter.

Cutri, Victim Of Polio, Doing Well

Polio, that virulent virus which has tickled many an unsuspecting victim, has sidelined Cosimo Cutri, ace Knight ball-carrier for an indefinite period.

Cosimo was taken to the County Hospital on Tuesday of last week, where it was disclosed that he had a very mild attack of polio. It is not a matter that should cause alarm as only a slight case is reported and Cosimo is not in any danger.

Cutri was released from the hospital this Monday and will remain home to recuperate thoroughly.

Meanwhile, a doctor will be present at all the Knight workouts. The Knights will continue to play against all their scheduled opponents with Ted Ritchey taking over Cutri's place.

Cutri's loss will be greatly felt by the Castlemen, who have counted on the plucky Italian lad for most of their ground yardage. With Ritchey in there and their incentive being "Win on for Cossi," the gridsters from S.D.J.C. are still looking ahead to what most certainly has been a wonderful season, thanks to Cutri.

Knights Smash El Camino, 19-6

The Knights of the old Gray Castle maintained their lead in the Metropolitan Conference standings by pounding out a decisive 19-6 victory over El Camino J.C. up in Inglewood.

The Knights scored the first time they gained possession of the ball when Joe Brown raced 41 yards around end to chalk up the first of three touchdowns. The Knights scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter, one on a 45-yard gallop by Cosimo Cutri and the other on a pass from Jesse Thompson to Ernie "Spider" Smith, good for 39 yards.

But on both plays the Knights were detected clipping so the touchdowns were nullified.

The El Camino "Warriors" went on the warpath in the third quarter and kept the Knights deep in their own territory. They couldn't, however, penetrate the Knights' goal line.

Early in the fourth quarter on an exchange of punts the Knights took the ball on the El Camino 34 and rambled to pay dirt in four plays on a pass from Thompson to Cutri go for ten yards and six points.

Knights Open Up

An El Camino fumble on their own 23, recovered by the Knights, set up the third and last touchdown. Thompson passed to Smith for 13 yards, Ed Fletcher banked to the 5-yard line and Thompson then hit Wayne Kellio in the end zone for the touchdown. Bud Genet who seldom misses the extra points only converted one out of three which is still a pretty good average.

Score Lone T.D.

The Warriors' only touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Thompson fumbled on his own three yard line with the Warriors recovering. Clyde Lindsay went over for the score.

The Knights' main offensive cog, Cosimo Cutri, was bottled up all evening, gaining a meager 21 yards in 12 tries at the line.

KNOLLMEN FACE PIRATES SATURDAY NIGHT; MEET GLENDALE THURSDAY IN STADIUM

After drawing the only "breather" of their tough grid schedule last week in the form of a bye, the San Diego J.C. Knight "11" ventures into enemy territory for the sixth and final time, pending the possibility of a post-season game, to battle an Oceanside J.C. aggregation.

It will be remembered that the same Oceanside team created quite a stir in El Centro recently when tempers and fists were responsible for a wild and loose festivity among 500 football fans and players.

The tumult subsided somewhat when the police stepped in, but not before a few players were minus some teeth and a few bruises were visible.

Coach Bill Bailey has warned his men that a rough evening will be expected. Nothing is known about the system of play Oceanside employs, much less anything about their stars. One thing is certain however, Oceanside is a rabid sports-minded town and anything in their favor is peaches and cream, but if the breaks go against them, look out!

Ted Ritchey

"Tornado Ted" Knight Threat

The San Diego Junior college powerful football machine keeps rolling along, bowling over opponent after opponent. One of the main reasons for the teams' success has been the speedy running of Ted Ritchey.

Ted, two-year football letterman at San Diego High, not only participated in the "knock them down, rough them up" sport, but also lettered in track and baseball. During the last two years, many people were brought to their feet howling, by Ritchey's electrifying runs on the gridiron. After his high school graduation, Ted decided to continue his education at the Gray Castle, and was welcomed with open eyes by football enthusiasts.

"Tornado Ted," a scoring threat every time he gets his hands on the ball, still carries on with football prowess. Ritchey proved his excellence by an unbelievable sixty-yard run through the entire Chaffee team to score the Knight's lone touchdown in the game. Ted dashed through the line, slid away from a host of tacklers, and outran the remaining Chaffee men to paydirt.

The 145-pound, five-foot, seven-inch backfield star, who has been considered by many as too small for football, makes one and all forget about his stature when he hits the line, throws a block, or spills a ball carrier with a shoestring tackle.

Some of the reasons for Ritchey's success are: his witty football savvy, and will to play. If Ted Ritchey returns to Junior College next year, we may see a team as potent and powerful as our present one.

Current Comments

In a recent publication of the cross town college's newspaper (often mis-pronounced as Agony-Tech) there appeared a short dissertation on the fallibility of referees and other zebra shirted officials. The article stated that the papeese lost a game to the Knights as a result of penalties. Aside from the fact that the author was possibly a recluse from the Cleveland National Forest, we noted that little if any credit was given to the boys in gray for the win. After due consideration of all the material, we (and the editors of Sporting News) are making the following suggestion to the student body at State College.

- (1.) Binoculars with stereoscopic vision aids for myopic rooters.
- (2.) Lower eligibility standards so that football players can play football at State.
- (3.) More sports editors to cover the games (Sometimes those UP reports get fouled up.)

Intramural Sports

In an effort to introduce sports for sports, the faculty, led by athletic director Ed Ruffa, is busy promoting an intramural sporting development that will bring a number of varsity sports to the majority of the JC students. The feasibility of this program rests upon the co-operation of the students and the facilities that can be obtained from the high school.

The problems facing the administrators are numerous, but the big headache is obtaining time for the activities. At present there is one free period a week for student activities. That hour is pretty well filled with organization meetings. The other possible opportunities would be another day, another hour, or tournaments after class hours or before varsity events. Also a large measure of the success of this venture depends on student enthusiasm.

Lettermen's Club

JC lettermen and other gray and blue conscious students have expressed a desire that the editors have long harbored. These students feel that lettermen's sweaters should all be blue and gray. In other words the wearing of high school or other college sweaters does not constitute a direct affiliation with SDJC. After all we are all on the same team.

The Grey Knights of San Diego Junior college face the Vaqueros of Glendale City college here Thursday, November 18 in Balboa stadium. Kickoff time will be at 8 p.m.

Glendale will field a team that has improved with every start. After dropping their first two starts by a narrow margin, the Cowboys have come through with four consecutive wins.

The Vaqueros attack will be paced by hard-running Dick Broome and the passing of Jack Frederick. Their line is anchored by big, fast-charging Freddie Young.

Glendale, one of the stronger members of the Western States Conference, is currently tied for third place and making a strong bid for the second slot behind the title-bound Compton Tartars.

San Diego's attack will once again be paced by such speedsters as hard-hitting Joe Browne, Gene Ricard, Bud Gene, Jackrabbit Ted Ritchey, Ed Fletcher, Jack Graham, and Harry West. West has finally hit his stride after shaking the injury jinx. Calling the signals and slinging the ball will be Jumping Jesse Thompson, passer par excellent. The fast hard-charging Gray Castle Knights line will see Joe Galindo, Don Jones, Ernie Smith, and Wayne Kellio alternating at ends, Rockney Scholz, Gene Edwards, Jerry Dahms, and Ted Stephenson at the tackle spots, Bryan Benson and Bob Conklin at guards, and John Mehas at center.

This game could prove to be San Diego's toughest of the season.

Yell-Happy Cagers Drill

It won't be long now. Those dribble-happy, shot-hungry basketball fans who make a habit of yelling themselves hoarse in the course of a hectic hoop game, will have their throats full when the Knight cagers make their debut on the hardwoods next month.

Coach Don Clarkson at the moment is working fundamentals into the system of the prospects. Limbering-up drills and long and short-range shooting are exercises which are being undergone by eager hoop candidates who are progressing slowly but surely.

Practice sessions are held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons in the Boys' gym. Besides the fair turnout of aspirants that are on hand, the basketball stock is expected to rise when football season is over and numerous gridsters shift from a cleat to a

Knight Harriers Open Metro Season

The Metropolitan Conference Cross Country Schedule gets underway Friday afternoon, November 19. San Diego will encounter Santa Monica and El Camino at the U.C.L.A. cross country course in Los Angeles at 4 p.m.

The Gray Knights-harriers will be made up of such long distance stars as: Don Crie, Tom Espartero, Duange Close, Bob Gosnell, Ken Oliver, and Dick Dane.

The course at Westwood should prove a stern test for all three teams. The team will be composed of six men who will get together for an inter-squad meet this Friday at 3 p.m. on the San Diego High course.

This should be not only an interesting event but a close race.

and the turn-out is expected to be large.

November 26, the San Diego team will host the East L. A. team here. This meet may prove to be the one that decides the seasonal title.

Next in line will be the Aztec Invitational at State College December 4. Teams from all over California will represent the various schools.

Metro Title Game With East L. A.—Homecoming

San Diego Junior college holds its first annual Homecoming football game this Friday night at 8 p.m. in Balboa stadium.

The Gray Castle Knights will face the Huskies of East Los Angeles Junior college in what may prove to be one of the most hotly-contested games of the season. This will be the last game of the season for both teams with the Knights favored to win and wrap up the Metropolitan Conference title.

The Huskies from Los Angeles are currently in second place behind the Knollmen with a record of two wins and one loss. San Diego leads the league with three straight wins.

With 13 returning lettermen dotting the roster, the Huskies under Coach Ace Hunt have had only an average season, winning four while losing the same number. They have beaten Glendale, Santa Monica, El Camino, and Bakersfield in that order.

Starting in the line for the Huskies will be a pair of letterman ends, Art Robertson and Dick Lopez, at tackles will be a pair of 200 pounders, Martin Montano and Dick Ortega, at guards will be a pair of newcomers, Dick Black and Ralph Kazarian, and center will be big Mike Moropoulos. The backfield will be composed of Alan Garrett at quarterback, Al Gasparian and Jim Dyer at the half-back posts, and Dave Butler at full.

For San Diego it will be Joe Galindo and Don Jones at ends, Jerry Dahms and Gene "The Beard" Edwards at the tackles, Bob Conklin and Bryan Benson at guards, and John Mehas at center. The back field will be Joltin' Joe Brown at full, hard hitting Harry West and Cosimo "Comet" Cutri at the halves, and Jumpin, Jesse Thompson at the quarterback post.

First J. C. Homecoming Celebration Will Feature Parade and Floats

It's here! The most talked about, and eagerly awaited event of the semester—San Diego J. C.'s first annual Homecoming. Everyone is invited to attend, especially ye old alumni, this gala celebration.

Festivities of the evening will include J. C. Knights (victorious team) vs. East Los Angeles J. C. football game; a parade, consisting of fifteenth century Knights, pages, squires and colorful floats made of crepe paper and flowers. Trumpeters will announce the entrance of the parade into the stadium. Main features will include Jack White as the J. C. Knight on his gallant steed; Norman Pecore and Ted Hail as Heralds; and Richard Schultz as the Squire. Jean Nietmann and Russell Baldwin will be the main attractions in the horse-back riding section.

An abundance of hard work will be represented in the floats which will follow the theme of football games played by San Diego Junior College, and their opponent's student body name. Floats portraying the different schools and their sponsoring organizations are: State College Frosh "Papooses," Phi Sigma Tau; Glendale "Vaqueros," Sigma Tau Rho; Queen's float with queen chosen at "Artistry in Autumn" Wednesday night, Phi Alpha; El Camino "Warriors," Alpha Delta; Bakersfield "Tigers," Rho Deltas; Santa Monica "Corsairs," Phi Theta Xi; Oceanside "Pirates," Sigma Lambda Chi; Pasadena "Bulldogs," Kappa Phi Alpha; Chaffey "Panthers," Kenny Gautereaux, Barbara Arnold and Jack White; East Los Angeles "Huskies," Associated Student Body.

An after-game dance will follow in the men's gymnasium—admittance with student body cards. Credit is due Barbara Arnold, Jack White and their committee, for the fine job they did in planning and making this event a big success.

Elaborate Production Marks Milestone For J. C. Players

By Gene Eaton

If rehearsals are any indication of what "The Barber of Seville" will be like when it is presented to the student body in December, the JaySees will go down as saying, "The San Diego Junior College presentation will reach the pinnacle of directing and acting perfection."

Never before has the Junior College attempted anything so elaborate. The costumes will be strictly 18-century, and powdered wigs, plenty of ruffles, silk stockings, and silver buckles will be in full display. Scenery will include fountains, balconies and 18th-century furniture.

Mr. Charles M. Newman, drama instructor and director of the play, is doing this production as it would have been presented in Paris in 1775. Using all the gestures, flowery speech and excessive decoration characteristic of that period, Mr. Newman creates the perfect setting for the action.

Usually we think of "The Barber of Seville" as an opera, but it was originally a play, the play forming the basis for the opera.

Beaumarchais, the playwright, possessed a flair for invention coupled with a distaste for the French aristocracy, hence a highly amusing satire on upper class life and any class love was born.

ASB Appoints Three to View Constitution

A committee of four students and three faculty members has been appointed to make suggestions for revision of the J. C. Constitution.

Bob Kerner, chairman of the committee, will be assisted by Students Jim Hinds, John Beynon, and Mary Seidelmann, and Faculty Advisors Mr. Robert S. Winter, Mrs. Frances Archibald, and Mr. William Cyran.

The need for revising our present constitution has been evident for some time "as our present system is inadequate to handle activities," stated Mr. Kerner.

The recent Fresno conference contributed many ideas which our delegates brought back: and passed along to the committee. The committee, in turn, will present these ideas and proposed revisions to the student council who will vote on them and, if passed, will incorporate them in the constitution.

Special emphasis will be placed on the specific duties of all student body officers, each one to have a definite job. This will mark the way to be established for new officers to handle student activities.

The "Jay Sees" staff wishes the Faculty and Students of SDJC

A Happy Thanksgiving Day

Autumn Queen Sought at Second Annual Kappa Phi Alpha Dressy-Sport Frolic

Initiating the social season for Kappa Phi Alpha this evening, will be that organization's "dance of the year," "Artistry in Autumn." The dressy-sport affair is the second annual, and will be given this year in the Terrace Room of the Hotel Imig Manor, from 9 p.m. 'til 1 a.m. with Bill Shade's orchestra providing music. The bids are $1.50 and will be sold at the door tonight if there are any left, according to Bill Geistweit, bid chairman.

The highlight of the dance is the coronation of the Autumn Queen, who, this year, will also reign as homecoming queen at the game Friday night. The nominees for the throne, selected by student ballot, are Francis Arnold, Pauline Blake, Betsy Anderson, Marjorie Lovejoy, and Mary Neiderfrank.

As each couple picks up their bid at the door tonight, they will be given two ballots with these names on them and allowed to vote, providing they arrive before 10 p.m. At 10, the ballot will be counted by a representative from each social group on campus, and only then the identity of the Autumn Queen will be known, just previous to her coronation.

The girl who "cops" the coveted honor to stand beside Bobby Clark, last year's regent, in addition to the traditional crown, will receive a gift to help her remember her "monarchy."

Dick McCurdy is general chairman for Artistry in Autumn, assisted by Dave Stagg and Jim Aarlie, and the following committees:

- Bids: Bill Geistweit.
- Nominations: Bob Conklin, Walt Harper, John Meyhas.
- Publicity: Gene Eaton, Duane Peters.
- Band: Gene Robins.

Building Models Of Junior College In Store Window

During American Education week, Walker's Department store presented a window display showing our Junior College and its functions. This window display was designed and created by our own technical division. The display consisted of scale models of the various Junior College buildings built around the structure of hydrogen atoms.

Out of each scale model rose a "tree" (built around the structure of atoms) on which the various courses now being taught at the three Centers were listed. Each course was listed separately on individual lighted boxes located on the "trees." These lighted boxes were set in a sequence that resembled the effect of atoms. In the background were circular photographs of some of the courses in action.

Madelon McGowan Is Feminine Lead

With a sweeping 18th century curtsy, Madelon McGowan will bow herself onto the San Diego stage in the world famous role of Rosine, feminine lead in the Junior College production of Beaumarchais' comedy, "The Barber of Seville."

Though Miss McGowan has appeared as a vocalist, this will be her first chance to distinguish herself as an actress. She is an English major in her third semester here, and was recently elected secretary of the Honor Society. In spite of the fact that she has been a San Diegan only a year and a half, Madelon was elected Fiesta Queen by the members of her parish at St. Charles Barron church in late October.

Since she comes from a navy family she has traveled considerably and has resided in Washing-

New Service Club Will Spread Duties to Many

Honor Group to Meet At New Times For Members' Convenience

A revision of the meeting times set for the Honor society will now enable the eligible evening students to take part in the affairs of the club. Meeting times will be announced.

So far, the evening group has played the role of a silent partner, according to Student Body President Warren McCament. He stated that it was extremely gratifying to see the three centers working in closer cooperation. He said he hoped this was merely the first step in the "right direction."

The Honor society is helping to publicize the forthcoming Junior College production, "The Barber of Seville," according to Martha Brychel, society president. Activities of members in this project are being directed by Miss Lorraine Lundberg, who has charge of the play's publicity, Miss Brychel said.

At the last meeting of the Honor society, discussion as to the advisability of affiliation with the statewide honor fraternity, Alpha Gamma Sigma, was held. Action on this issue was deferred until more information concerning the group is obtained.

ton, D. C., New Jersey, Norfolk, Virginia; Portland, Oregon; and Seattle, Washington where she attended Holy Names High School, before moving to San Diego.

GROUP VIEWS HONOR SYSTEM

Six J. C. representatives and one faculty member were delegates at the sixth meeting of the California Junior College Student conference held November 4, 5, and 6 at the Hotel Californian, Fresno, California; and Reedley College.

Representing San Diego Junior College were: Kenny Gautreaux, ASB president of the Applied Arts Center; Leon Burton, A.A. vice-president; Warren McCament, Evening Center ASB president; Bud Preibisius, Business and Technical Center ASB president; Warren Lanser, vice-president of the B & T; and Micky Chappell, Women's Representative. A A & S Center. Mrs. Frances Archibald, assistant dean of women, acted as faculty advisor.

The keynote speech, "Politics in the Colleges," was given by Dr. Dallas Tueller, FSC, and Earl Holder of Pasadena Junior college told the delegates how they can improve themselves and their school in a talk, "Are You a Rubber Stamp?"

Such subjects as Athletic Awards, J. C. Honor System, and Student Rights were discussed. Mrs. William Fusselman presented a lecture, "Junior College and the Outside World," and an athletic meeting and finance meeting was held.

"The McCurdy" is Seville Barber In School Play

"The name's McCurdy. M-c-C-u-r-d-y. Big M, small c, McCurdy." And he took off down the hall.

When the Junior College Little Theater presents its largest production, "Barber of Seville," Dick McCurdy will portray the quick-witted, fast-thinking barber, who is a conspirator, an antagonist, and the producer of an hilarious scheme to avoid paying his debts.

Dick is amply qualified to play this difficult role considering his varied background and dramatic ability.

He has taken part in a number of Little Theater productions throughout the city, including the recent "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" at the Globe Theater.

Dick, who is a member of Delta Psi Omega, a national honorary dramatic fraternity, engineered Radio Stage, for last semester's Radio Workshop class, and was part of the cast for "A Slave With Two Faces," the contest play Mr. Charles Newman took to Pasadena last semester.

[Editor's Note: Dick is REALLY good in this characterization. He's one of the finest character actors ever to enter our Junior college.]

CHUCK BATEMAN IS BARTHOLO IN PLAY

Accomplishing a complete switch, from the energetic cheer leader to the crotchety old man, will be Chuck Bateman in the J. C. Little Theater production of "The Barber of Seville."

Bateman

Chuck appears in the role of Bartholo, the amorous and plotting old guardian of the lovely heroine, Rosine.

Though this is his first semester at J.C., Chuck is not a new figure on the school campus. He was graduated last year at San Diego High School, where he distinguished himself in several fields.

As background for the part that he will soon play, Bateman was seen as Rene, the conspirator, in last year's Senior A play, "If I Were King," a 18th century romantic drama.

New Clubs Add to Social Activities; Engagements and Marriages Announced

By Lois Mitchell

This 'n That

Yuma seems to be quite the popular city with several J.C. students. On October 30, Ruth Bole and Mel Reiner eloped to Yuma. November 13 was the date that Margaret Arney and Roy Schoonover were married in the same city. Congratulations!

Who can be so interested in Tony Vasquez that she would take time out to call him up every Wednesday night? Tony, don't forget December 25.

Does Millie Payne really take care of kids every night or is she just bluffing some of us and going out with some good looking guy that we don't even know? How about it Millie?

Francis Arnold is really proud of that beautiful diamond ring on her third finger left hand. Boy-friend Ray Ames gave it to her. Wonder if they have set the date yet?

New Clubs Organized

Two new clubs have been added to JC's list of social organizations. Located at the Business center these two clubs are composed of Business major students.

The new men's organization goes by the name of Iota Theta Phi, and has selected George Creelman as prexy. Other officers include: Johnny DiMatteo, vice-president; Alan Raymond, secretary; Bob Condon, treasurer; Bob Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; Mr. Ashley, advisor.

A girls' organization new on campus, has no name as yet, but is being organized by Pat Baldwin, Mickey Amick, Vera Flores, and Marie Aqueria.

A charter was granted for a men's new social club, Phi Tau Epsilon, which is primarily for technical students, but membership is not limited to students in this field.

This group has eight charter members and is sponsored by Mr. David Ferris and Mr. Frederick Bellhoff.

Two regular meetings have been held for the organization and election of officers. Officers for this new group are: Bud Burrows, president; Rudy Thompson, vice-president; Bill Pierce, second vice-president; Oli Olsen, secretary; and Louis Montes, treasurer.

Bill Pierce and Clifford Crane are representatives of the Inter-club council. The club has also organized a basketball team and will participate in the Inter-club basketball series, and also has a touch football team open to challenge by any other club team.

Phi Tau Epsilon prospective members are now meeting with the charter members and will be invited to joint meetings with other men's and women's clubs.

More This 'n That

The Shamrock Inn in Encinitas was the scene for the unexpected and unplanned party after the Oceanside game. Some of the early morning gang present were: Ray Dorothy Klaus, basketball manager.

Volley ball is the current sport in which the WRA is participating, and at which they have been defeated previously by the San Diego High School sophomores and juniors.

Puckett, Chuck Ferguson, Core Goudelmond, Ben Lescher, Ted Heil, Bob Halversen, Dot Klaus, Don Hadley, Pauline Blake, Harry Wexler, Sammy Constatine, Chuck Potts, Bill Jirsa, Joe Mumma, Mel Reiner, Ruth Bole, Paul Querin, Ann Baum, Edward White and Viola Steel.

Everyone had a good time singing, giving school yells, and in general, just "cutting up."

Another group met at the M & M's in Oceanside. The food was good and refreshments (?) warmed everyone after a mighty cold game. Some who were there were: Betsy Anderson, Joan Todd, Barbara Hickey, Phyllis Crofton and Lorraine Cummings.

Barbara and Francis Arnold announced their engagements last Tuesday by passing chocolates to the Phi Sigma Taus.

June Wilson and Bob Bega can now be added to the "steady" list.

German Club To Plan Gala Test

The German Club met at the home of Lydia Schumaker November 17 to initiate new members. Byron Beck, Ted Hall and Norman Pecore presided over the candle-light initiation ceremony and Don Milow headed a program of initiation stunts consisting of skits and songs.

The following were initiated: James Bernardini, Robert Capps, Alvin Crawford, Don Milow, Bill Ryan, Rudy Schmidt, Lydia Schumaker, Mary Seidemann, Gene Southwell, Thomas Killet, and John Zimsky.

Bill Ryan was in charge of the Business meeting and plans for a Christmas party to be given December 16 were discussed.

Do You Want to Become More Adept at Dancing?

If you are wondering what the social and recreational dance classes, conducted by Miss Betty Paxton, are all about, why not drop in and find out for yourself?

The classes are open to anyone interested in learning social or square dancing. However, you can find out if you think you would like the course before enrolling. On Friday afternoons, 1:45 to 2:30, the class welcomes visitors who wish to participate in a class session. It costs nothing but a few minutes of your time to discover this opportunity. You, as a Junior College student, can improve your social standing by becoming more adept at dancing.

Evening J.C. Needs Talent, Says President

If you can sing, dance, play an instrument, or if you are a natural comedian or have any hidden talents, you are wanted by the Evening J.C., according to Warren McCament, president. An all amateur talent show is being planned for the first of the year. Prizes will be awarded the winners.

If you fill any of the above requirements and are interested, get in touch with Miss Dustin in her office.

Be Hereby Warned; 'D' Notices Due Soon

The latter part of this week will herald the arrival of the "D" notices for many of the students of San Diego Junior college. Deficiency notices will be mailed from the Registration Office.

The purpose for the deficiency notices is to warn students that their scholarship is unsatisfactory, and not necessarily a notice of failure. If you should receive a "D" notice, take time out for an interview with your counselor and talk over your study problems.

Publicist's Committee Formed at Tech Center

A new B & T publicity committee has been formed at the Technical Center. This committee will promote and encourage more activities at both the Business and the Technical Centers. The B & T commercial art class will work along with the committee by making posters and signs advertising any future activities.

Members of the group are Chuck Merriam, chairman; Irene Seavello and Ardene Bona, who represents the art class.

J.C. Sub-Committee Plans Second Meeting

The sub-committee of the Junior College Planning Committee is busy formulating ideas for the second meeting of the total J.C. administrative and teaching staffs. The first meeting of this type was held recently at the Business Center. The next meeting is to be held at the Applied Arts Center. Members of this committee are

Students Model Latest Fashion

Junior College women students were honored recently with quite an unusual assembly. Presented on behalf of Walker's Department Store, a "Fashion Show" assembly was sponsored by the A.W.S.

Several Walker's officials were introduced, and Pete Perritt and Shirley Beck took part in one of the stunts pulled. Pete won first prize (pearls) for the first to finish dressing, and Shirley came in a close second winning a lavender scarf. Johnny Mehas was put "on the spot" when quizzed on the subject of having a dinner, dancing and show date with Elizabeth Taylor, Hollywood actress, or his steady, Shirley Bales; Johnny won out, and for being true blue to Shirley, got his dinner, dancing and show date for two with his best gal.

Kay George, merchandise major at the Business center was mistress of ceremonies, and models included: Pauline Blake, who was selected as the typical J.C. girl, Eloise Jarkie, Connie Cotton, Betsy Anderson, Pat Noret, Barbara Wheeler, Gloria Parker, Jeanne Patterson and Barbara Hickey.

Thanks for a splendid assembly go to A.W.S. officers: Mickey Chappell, president; Marg Drinkwater, vice-president; Dot Klaus, secretary; and Gloria Valenzuela, treasurer.

as follows: Mr. Walter L. Thatcher, principal of the B&T Centers; Dr. John Aseltine, Director of activities of the Junior College, and principal of the Applied Arts Center; Mr. Paul E. Klein, principal of the Evening Center; and Mr. Joseph H. Stephenson, coordinator of the Trades Division.

Glendale "11" Bows Before Baileymen

The chips were down, the Knights were up!

San Diego's talk of the town, the S.D.J.C. Knight "11" ran true to form in their 32-6 conquest of Glendale City College last Thursday night in the horseshoe-shaped battleground of Balboa Stadium.

In subduing the spunky "Vaqueros" from Glendale, the Gray Castle Knights racked up their seventh win compared to one loss. Coach Bailey's charges make their swan song appearance here Friday night against East Los Angeles J. C. for the league championship.

Jesse Thompson, gifted aerial master of the local heroes, provided the major portion of the offensive spark. Thompson's passes to Harry West, Cosimo Cutri (back on the team again after being laid up by a mild case of polio) and Ernie Smith, was responsible for a trio of touchdowns, while Gene Ricard on an end sweep, and Ronnie Davis' recovery of a blocked punt, took care of the other two. Bud Genet experienced a bad night in conversion completions, succeeding on two out of five, but made up for that by his splendid runs which gained considerable yardage.

Don Small, Glendale scatback, scored the lone touchdown for the visitors on a line slash from six yards out against the Jaycee reserves. Robert Elias, a guard, missed the liberty point.

The inability to cope with such shifty speedsters as Harry West, Ted Ritchey, Cosimo Cutri, Joe Brown, Bud Genet, and Gene Ricard, and impotent efforts against the impenetrable Knight armor, resulted in a defeat for the gallant lads from Glendale.

Rockney Scholz

Scholz 'Rock' of J.C. Forward Wall

Evenly distributing 210 pounds throughout his solid six foot, one inch frame, Rockne Scholz has become one of the Knights' most feared linemen. The baby-faced, well-liked Scholz forgets all about his good nature when he settles down to his tackle spot on the formidable forward wall of the Knights.

"Rockie" learned the fundamentals of football at Hoover High, where he lettered in 1944. He is one of the Cardinals who will never forget the 72-0 slaughter inflicted at the hands of the San Diego High Cavemen during that same year. He also was one of the first members of Hoover's newly organized gymnastics team. Upon graduating from high school, "Rockie" entered the Navy and served three years until being discharged in July of this year.

Rockne, who was hardly noticed during the first few weeks of practice, caught the eye of Line Coach John Brose with his aggressiveness and pepper. Since then, opposing players have felt the power of "Rockie's" slashing tackles and bone jarring blocks. Coach Brose calls Scholz "the most improved tackle on the team," and says, "there isn't a player with more spirit and willingness to learn."

As the season nears an end, Rockne Scholz's bruising form will be welcomed back next year (especially by coaches Bailey and Brose).

GRAY CASTLE KNIGHTS DAZZLE OCEANSIDE AT 51-7 COUNT

With a dazzling display of land and aerial power, the Knights of the Old Gray Castle romped to an impressive victory over Oceanside Junior College.

The Knights rolled up the astounding total of 500 yards net gained in their 51-7 triumph which was highlighted by Jesse Thompson's brilliant passing and the never-ending stream of speed merchants in the backfield.

Gray Knight Quintet In Strenuous Drill

With the swishing of the nets as basketballs drop through the hoop, and Mentor Don Clarkson borrowing Coach Bill Bailey's crying towel, the indoor sport of basketball is just around the corner.

Faced with the loss of Leo Tuck, Bobbie Phelps, Jack Hawkes, and the flashy, high-scoring Ivan Robinson, the genial Mr. Clarkson will have but three returning lettermen to mold his squad around. Led by the ball hawking Captain Tony Vasquez, Speedy Ben Cendali of San Diego High and Coast League fame, and Dead-eye Gene Devorraux, the Gray Castle men are slowly rounding into shape.

Up from the Junior Varsity are Jim Hobel, Pete Frelinger, and the springy-legged Don Rucker, all of whom are experienced hoopsters. Rounding out the squad are such former prep stars as: Ish Herrera, Bob Lamp, Syd Franklin, Pat Donnelly, Bob Johnson, Ralph Looney, Buddy Douglas, and many others. Ernie Smith, Joe Galindo, and Jessie Thompson are expected to don gym shorts upon the completion of football festivities. As the teams stand now Coach Clarkson has been using Tony Vasquez and Gene Devorraux at guard, Don Rucker and Ben Cendali at forward, and either Syd Franklin or Ish Herrera at center.

Faced with a December 1 game with the Alumni, who will field a star-studded hardwood quintet with such former J. C. greats as Ivan Robinson, Leo Tuck, Jack Hawkes, Mario Lopez, and Bobbie Phelps, the Knights will have to hustle down to the last wire.

This being the team's first season in the Metropolitan conference, many practice games and a pre-season tournament have been scheduled before the league opener with El Camino Junior College on January 8.

Knowing of Coach Clarkson's usual success in basketball, we are looking forward to a team as powerful as last year's outfit to carry on San Diego's high athletic standing in the Metropolitan conference.

MESS IN THE KITCHEN

Moe—I was just in your kitchen and found an awful mess.

Smoe—Please—you're speaking of the woman I love.

Ernie "Spider" Smith took care of the scoring for the Knights in the first half when he caught one pass, good for 26 yards and a touchdown, and then intercepted one of Jamie Russell's passes to race for his second touchdown. Further scoring threats in the first half were throttled by Knight penalties.

The Knights' third touchdown came early in the third quarter when Joe Brown climaxed a 79-yard drive by skirting his left end for four yards and the six points. Later in the period Bud Genet rambled two yards around end for the Knights' fourth touchdown. Ted Ritchey also scored in the third quarter when Thompson threw him a flat pass and the fleet scatback set sail for the end zone. The pass and run were good for 34 yards and six points.

The Spartans' only score came midway in the third quarter when Bob Harroun went through the middle of the Knights' forward wall and galloped 60 yards for the touchdown. Jamie Russell converted the extra point. Gene Ricard, who is the next best thing to a steam roller, plowed his way to two fourth quarter touchdowns and Harry West added one more to make the victory complete. Bud Genet completed three more points after touchdown to add to his already rising total.

"THUM" QUINTET OPERATES AGAIN

Tom Thum's owner and operator, Mr. Michael O'Brien, has revealed that once again the "Thum" basketball quintet will operate.

The team will be coached and managed by Jack Cranston and will be made up of SDJC students and alumni.

Last year the "Thum" quintet was a championship team, winning its league laurels and capturing the post-season Tribune-Sun minor division basketball tournament.

The "Thums" will play in a league and in tournaments sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

Under the guiding eye of player-coach Cranston will be such cage stars as Carl Goodwalt, "Mel" Reiver, Harry Freatman, Bob Sieben, Pete Corona, Bill Ellis, Leo Heaton, and Byran Ward.

Matmen Crush Top L. A. A. C. Wrestlers

Raring to go and pin all their opponents is the San Diego J. C. wrestling team, coached by able Ivan Olsen, who directs the workouts at the Rose Park playground.

Mr. Olsen is blessed with the good fortune of having abundant material to work from. A successful season is looked forward to by the numerous grunt and groaners which include Dick Warner, 128-pounder who reached the Olympic tryouts in Ames, Iowa; Jack Sutton, all-Navy 121-pounder; Johnny Polos, Bud Burrows, Barry Armstrong, Max Shaska, Jerry Jacobsen, Terry Dillon, Al Crawford, Bob Sue, Bob Estrada, Bill Biggs, John Demas and Rudy Thompson, just to name a few.

The progress of the mat squad has been so swift that Coach Olsen and a few of his boys, headed by captain Dick Warner, ventured up to Los Angeles, Saturday, November 13 to take the measure of the Los Angeles City College mat squad by a 22-13 count. Results from the contest:

121-pound class—J. Sutton (SD) drew with B. Goodfard (LA); 128—D. Warner (SD) df. W. Bezdek (LA), fall in 2:55; 136—D. Del Giorno (LA) dec. J. Demas (SD); 145—J. Jacobsen (SD) dec. C. Maggio (LA); 155—A. Crawford (SD) dec. J. O'Connell (LA); 165—F. Taylor (LA) dec. B. Sue (SD); 175—J. Polos (SD) df. J. Farris (LA), fall in :56; heavyweight—B. Biggs (SD) df. Mike Bernal (LA), fall in :55.

Such meets like the Naval Training Center Open Invitational, San Diego County Beginners, S. D. & Imperial Counties Novice and Senior A.A.U. are on tap for the "rasslers" from junior college.

Needless to say, this sport requires as much backing as does the football squad. Turning out to see the meets in which Coach Olsen's men will be carrying the gray and blue colors of S.D.J.C. will certainly help.

"Harry, the Horse"

son, was a standout in high school, winning three varsity letters in track and two in football. This feat entitled him to a lifetime pass to all prep activities in San Diego County.

Upon his completion of high school Harry joined the Army and was stationed in White Sands, New Mexico, where he worked with the Army's V-2 rockets. While in the service he played football and made first string all Fourth Army which is quite an accomplishment.

Harry is an exceptionally fine broken field runner and for his size and weight is extremely fast on his feet. He hits the line with every ounce of his 170 pounds and, once past the line of scrimmage, is unstoppable. Before the season is over, and if his injuries heal, he will show his gridiron opponents how the game should be played.

Coach Morgan Whips Netters Into Shape

An improved J. C. fall tennis team has all the makings of a championship contingent. Everyone on the team has shown great improvement and Coach Odus Morgan is expecting a winning team next spring.

Speaking of Coach Morgan, it is not too well known that he coached a championship team in the East for a number of years. This team was rated as one of the best in its league.

The fellows work out every Friday under his eagle eye and every few minutes one of them will yell, "Hey, Coach, what was wrong with that shot?" At that Coach Morgan yells back, "I can't tell you. I have a class Monday." Then he'll proceed to show them what was wrong and how to correct it.

Charlie Felker, number two man from last year's squad, is ably assisting Coach Morgan in the coaching duties. Charlie racked up a

By Jim Hinds

Beginning this week, the first chapter of that thrilling adventure story, "I Never Had It So Good," or "A Horse for Citation," or to get on with the story.

Rex Manders was a private eye. His vocation consisted of dangerous assignments which ranged from tracking down voluptuous blondes to getting a line on voluptuous blondes. As our story begins we hear Rex talking to himself in a monotone.

I know now that I should never have taken this job. I should never have taken any job, my 52-20 club still has five months to go. Money isn't worth it if you can't collect it. Could I collect mine?

Certainly not in this condition! My condition! Why, I had twenty-two five-inch shells. . . . I mean, I had five twenty-two Colt slugs in me.

I had been standing in a hotel room, my bookie's to be exact. I was arguing with a nasty greasy person. The kind of a guy who forgets to wash the sun tan oil off. That bird was every inch a crook, or I don't know. It would seem to the more observant that I didn't, because as I stepped toward him, I was going to impress my argument on him with a lead pipe, a small but confident Colt Woodsman slipped out of an immaculate gray tweed jacket and spat fire and hot lead at me five times. Needless to say, the guy didn't carry light artillery because his arm was too weak to lift a heavier rod. He knew how to use it.

I lay on the floor taking up the space that should have been filled by a coffee table. All I could do was wait for help. I thumbed through the racing form but it became smeared with blood. I guess it was mine. I started tapping on the floor with one of my Adlers. I didn't have long to wait for someone to hear the noise and decide to do some snooping.

Someone was out in the hall. Then there was knocking at the door. The rapping of small, slender feminine hands. It was an impatient knock, but I couldn't be sure about the rest of her. I yelled to her.

"Put two on Raffles in the Third at Tanfo. . . . I mean come on in, I've been shot."

She opened the door. I looked

Plans for 'The Legend' Get Underway; Shots (Snap, Not Arm) Needed

Another product of the San Diego Junior College the plans for which will soon be out of the embryo stage, is the "Legend," SDJC's year book. The Legend must meet an April "dead line." Although April is five months off the importance of obtaining photographs and information is not to be overlooked.

At present the Jay Sees "morgue" is lacking in action shots of football players and the games they participated in. Pictures and stories will be needed on all other sports; basketball, track, baseball, tennis, wrestling, and golf. Also of great importance is the inclusion of intramural sports which might run the gamut from pool and snooker to shuffleboard and poker.

As a product of the student body of all three Centers it is hoped that the enthusiasm and responsibility of all students will result in one of the best year books ever published by any college.

fine record on the squad last year by winning all but three of his matches. Great things are expected from Felker this year.

A tentative schedule with some of last year's opponents includes Santa Monica, East Los Angeles, Glendale, El Camino, and Palomar.

by the hard-charging Knight line. Joe is one of the many small backfield men for the J. C. aggregation who has proven "dynamite comes in small packages."

Graduating from San Diego High where he was the No. 1 full-back in local prep circles, Joe finally decided to display his wares in a Blue and Gray uniform.

Taking up where he left off in high school, "Jolting Joe" Brown has continued to display the same form which won him recognition in prep battlegrounds, and at the present is a solid candidate for all-league honors.

her over. She was sharp, the kind you see in your dreams after reading the latest Esquire. Then she saw me. The blood must have driven her wild. She turned on her heel and ran out the door. . . .

Read next week's installment if you want to find out if Rex will live. If you aren't particularly interested send a letter to us and we will refer it to the Gallup Poll.

Flight Jacket, Ring Are in Lost and Found

The mystery of the flight jacket with a ring in one pocket is being investigated by Mr. Ramsey in the Lost and Found Department Book Store.

If there is a potential Sherlock Holmes in the JC halls, he can be seen in solving this mystery and other ones that are involved in the small room called Lost and Found.

It is quite astounding to see material that is accumulated there, such as: last summer's swimming trunks, lipstick, change purse, numerous keys, other miscellaneous articles. If anybody is interested, just drop into the Lost and Found.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

The four lovely little ladies pictured in the above photograph, are part of the decoration for the Queen's Float in the celebration of San Diego J. C.'s first annual homecoming. Seated on the float which was covered with green velvet, and showered with flowers, is Queen Pauline Blake, chosen at the "Artistry in Autumn" Dance, holding a bouquet of flowers, and her attendants, Frances Arnold, Betsy Anderson and June Wilson.

"Barber of Seville" Cast Lauded for Performance

Beaumarchais' satire on the French aristocracy was aptly presented last week by the Junior College little theater players.

Striving hard, the group tried to give an interpretation that would be the counterpart of the same production given in 1775.

Some of the punch and vitality of the blossomy speech that was employed in that period was lost to the audience. Response, perhaps, would have been greater if an overall picture of life in France at that time had been printed on the program under the list of characters.

With the exception of four cast-members, Mr. Charles Newman, director of the play, began the production with people who were as new to the stage of Russ Auditorium as that large inanimate object was to them.

Working every day after school and far into the night the last week, Mr. Newman finally whipped and drilled his cast into shape. Last Friday night the house lights were dimmed and the curtain went up on the first junior college play of the semester.

For the most part, the audience that witnessed the initial night's performance, was made up of faculty members and parents sparsely seated throughout the first twenty rows, but the cause for the majority of empty first night seats can easily be laid to a shower that started an hour before curtain time and continued until the play commenced. Saturday night's assemblage was considerably larger.

Playing the part of Rosine, Madelon McGowan seemed a bit unrehearsed (the "Barber" was her first acting venture) and shifted in and out of character through the first act. Madelon took hold early in the second act, however, and from there on the stage was hers.

Dick McCurdy, as Figaro the contriving barber, turned in a performance well worth note. Dick's ease and manner added to the effectiveness of his lines.

Frank Brennen added the vital note to the play as the young suitor to Rosine, and the comedy was amply supplied by Max Justice and Chuck Bateman as Bartholo and Basille respectively.

Bob Moore and Gene Robinson as the two servants were the instigators of several loud outbursts of laughter and brought a good deal of applause.

Other members of the cast included Bob Halvorsen, Jordan Lansky, Charlene Ryder, Jean Patterson, Dolores Duran, Jim Clancy, Deane Carlson, and Jack Hott.

Intramural Sports Begin

The first annual Field Day of San Diego Junior College intramural sports will be held today (Thursday) during fourth and fifth periods.

It is anticipated that there will be six teams entered for the games. Teams will represent the Kappa Phi Alpha, Sigma Tau Rho, Alpha Deltas, Phi Tau Epsilon and two independent aggregations completing the field.

All students are asked to be on the upper field for the preliminary, after which the finals will be played in the Stadium.

Coach Ed Ruffa and Bill Giestweit revealed that students from Recreation 71A will officiate at the games.

Basketball Starts

Friday night will mark the opening of intramural basketball. This will be a preliminary game to the Ventura tussle and starts at 6:45 p.m. Saturday night at the same time, Kappa Phi Alpha faces the Rho Deltas in another preliminary.

Librarian Recuperating After Major Operation

Junior College librarian, Miss Jesse Harris, has been absent more than a month. Many have been curious as to her whereabouts.

Miss Harris underwent a major operation during the foregoing time. Due to doctors orders she was to remain at home and in bed until she was well.

Evening Center To Donate Gifts For Hospital Patients

This week is Vaucain Home Week for the Junior College's evening students.

Since practically all types of books are needed by the patients at Vaucain Home (a branch of the County Hospital) for tubercular patients—J. C. students are asked to donate books for these patients.

Jane Wright, one of the Evening center's English teachers, is conducting classes for patients at the Home. She states that although the students are eager to learn they are seriously handicapped by a lack of library and text books. Because of this, the students decided to make this their Christmas project.

According to a bulletin put out by Mary P. Clark, a table will be placed at the main entrance of the high school each night this week for all contributions. Text books, pocket editions, fiction, travel, hobby books and recent magazines will be welcomed. Cash donations will also be gratefully received. All money donated should be given to the secretary, Mary Schiffinger.

Hat is Procured; Tradition Begins

A need for a trophy case looms as a possible gift by the matriculating senior class. Besides the new Metropolitan League Football Championship trophy, a group of industrious if slightly delinquent students have presented the school with a traditional trophy.

The trophy is a bronzed hat engraved with the year (1948), the schools (Glendale and San Diego), and the score of the football game (32-6). This is the first year and the future promises a home-and-home series with Glendale from now till A-bomb day. The hat was originally obtained to take its place beside other hats in a collection. But imagination and a desire to create a keen rivalry between JC and another college produced a two-tone bronze hat.

Glendale which unwittingly provided the hat through the adverse actions of a member of their band will get the hat back as soon as they can win a football game. They may get the hat some day.

The hat will be formally presented to the student body at the football award assembly. Duane Peters, Walt Harper, and Jim Hinds contributed to the procurement and development of the hat, as the first traditional trophy between two major junior colleges.

Mr. Claus Functions At A.W.S. Party

Jolly old Saint Nicholas will pull in "his little round belly," and lift the pack from his back, to help the officers of A.W.S. distribute their Yuletide gifts, December 14.

Since Mr. Claus cannot handle this job by himself, committee chairmen have been selected and women students wishing to serve on a committee should contact an A.W.S. officer or Mrs. Francis Archibald.

Clever invitations will be mailed this week to remind women students of this holiday event.

Dancing and dreaming in a wintry atmosphere will be the theme of the Rho Delta's second annual Snowflake Ball, to be presented 8:30 to 12:30, Friday, December 17, at Pacific Square. Dress is semi-formal and Charlie Fitzpatrick's band will provide the danceable tunes.

The presentation of the door prize, a Packard Bell radio-phonograph and a surprise-packed floor show will high-light the evening. An unusual "balloon jump" should add merriment to the festivities, and the Rho Delta prize-winning float will be displayed inside the main entrance.

Bids, which are $2.00, can be obtained at the Bookstore or from any Rho Delta member.

Dancing, Caroling Theme at B & T Christmas Party

A combined Christmas assembly and party will be held at the Business Center at 11 a.m., Friday, December 17. Making up this gay festival will be a combination of outdoor caroling, a mixer, a dance, and then refreshments.

Although complete plans for this occasion have not yet been gathered, the program will be similar to last year's presentation. Hard at work on plans for this get-together is the Assembly committee with Arthur Hom acting as chairman.

Highlights of the program will probably be the gathering of students on the front lawn of the Business Center to sing Christmas carols. Following the outdoor caroling will be a mixer and dance in the auditorium of the Business Center. Refreshments will be served during the dance.

Freshmen Contemplate Official Positions

The Freshman council, having jumped from a quick start Thursday, December 2, discussed the rapidly ending term of the freshman class officers for the first semester. Mr. Forest Whedon, sponsor, emphasized to the council members that it should retain or elect new officers for the coming semester.

Since elections for the present term ended late, the officers had very little time to hold office. Further information was not available on this question since this was the first time it was discussed. It is up to the students to decide what they think is best for their student government, Mr. Whedon said.

Once again brought forth before the council was the question concerning the freshman picnic discussed in their last meeting. The exact place and date has not been set, but it is evident that it will take place during May. All those who were formerly in favor of a dance voted for a picnic. This decision was a result of the many dances sponsored by the student body this semester. The date of the picnic is being delayed because of the cold weather. As yet there has been no committee selected for this affair.

High School Heroes, Attention!

This week's editorial blast is aimed at men who insist upon living in the past. It is directed specifically to those students now enrolled at SDJC who wear lettermen sweaters with large 12-inch monograms adorning the front of them. Such letters advertise, "I was a high school athlete."

To those who sport such emblems we say, "We are glad that you participated in sports while in high school; we are doubly glad that you earned a letter. But is that letter expressive of the college you now represent?"

When a man or woman has reached college many presume that such a person is mature, that he has left behind him his days of adolescence. When he enrolls in college, he is presumably an adult who has filed his glorious high school days away in the closet for only occasional reminiscences. He now has a new school, one that he should deem it an honor to represent.

We are aware that the high school sweaters are expensive, but that same sweater, when shorn of its monogram, will still keep the wearer shielded from the elements.

It is not the purpose of this writing to bring about a complete abolition of lettermen sweaters on the campus. If you desire to wear your high school sweater, we ask only that you remove the letter.

We want the students of this school to be consolidated, to feel that they are part of an energetic and dynamic student body. If you cling to old symbols, old loyalties, this is impossible.

Uniforms may not mean much, but we don't wear army, navy, air corps, marine, and merchant marine insignia after discharge from those services.

We're all part of a new group, and to hang on to the old, means that we are not mature enough to make the change to a new group and a new life. Let's make the change—LET'S REPRESENT WHAT WE ARE PART OF—THIS YEAR, THIS SCHOOL, AND THIS BALL TEAM!

—B. G.

Should We Order Shoulder pads?

We often wonder, as we plow our way unsteadily down the halls of JayCee, why it is that as soon as the bell rings for the dismissal of classes the students find it necessary to collect in the hallways or any place where there is little room and much traffic.

It would seem that there is no place where one can talk as well as in the passageway of the people who like to get to class or the library.

It would help a great deal if the people who find it necessary to stop in these congested areas to talk would at least move back against the wall and make an attempt to give the rest of the people a break.

On the other hand, of course, we could always borrow shoulder pads and helmets from the football team and make like a fullback when it's time to go to class.

SPACE IS KNOTTEST PROBLEM

"Space" is becoming a very important word these days at the Business Center, as at all centers. With the record enrollment at the college this semester, the art of finding a room in which to study or a place to eat lunch is becoming a problem.

Even the auditorium and conference rooms are being used for daily classes. Installation of a branch of the trade center library, part of which will be located at Vocational school has been delayed until further notice. The lounge, which was opened last semester, had to be changed temporarily into a classroom. When space is available however, the lounge will again be opened, but probably in another part of the building.

Letter to the Editor

Note to the Editor:

Students who hold any type of office were chosen for their outstanding qualities of leadership, loyalty, dependability, etc. These characteristics just naturally "go along" with holding office. When officers do not display these qualities, it definitely lowers the morale of the students. Officers must keep in mind that they stand out among their fellow students, and their behavior is always under observation; therefore, it must necessarily be somewhat exemplary.

The play, "The Barber of Seville," was a great success. However, it is a shame that more of our students did not attend the performance.

A Student.

Publicity Committee Boosts School Play

A group of tired workers are recovering this week from a recent busy session.

They are members of the Publicity Committee who spread the word about "The Barber of Seville." The committee included: Martha Brychel, Pat Fisher, Basil Galatis, Marguerite Grissette, Elizabeth Leo, Jeosette Langenheim, Madelon McGowan, Lauralee Southwell, Eugene Southwell, Marcia Ward, William Jirsa, Mary Rafalovich, and Paul Stanton. Miss Lorraine Lundberg, instructor, directed the work of the group.

Though many of their activities such as posters, placards, radio announcements, and newspaper articles, attracted the attention of the student body and general public, many projects were also undertaken behind the scenes.

Members typed letters and wrote invitations to people connected with dramatics. Some delivered placards to schools and business establishments for display purposes. Others canvassed their respective neighborhoods to boost ticket sales. A few of the girls volunteered to usher at the performance of the play.

Then, to top it off, the committee attended Saturday night's performance in a body, which proves that they practice what they preach.

Students in Quandary Over Name of Paper

"What IS the name of the paper, anyway?" This question was the reply given by one-third of the students when asked, "What do you think of the name of the newspaper?"

May it here be known that there is still one Jaybird left on campus. Its home is in the newspaper where the "Jay Sees" is edited every other week.

This name for the newspaper was originally chosen to go with the now extinct Jaybirds of the Junior College. With the adoption of the name, The Knights, several comments have been made as to changing the name of the newspaper to something more appropriate.

Opinions and suggestions on this matter are requested as it is up to the students to decide whether they want to exterminate this lone Jaybird, or give the newspaper a name that the Knights will proudly defend.

But Rex wasn't earning his renter in the hospital. That night he slipped out. He found his way to his apartment and kicked out the blonde waiting there.

He paid no attention to her drivel as he shut the door on a pretty leg.

When he realized she had been saying, "But I'm Lana," he turned to let her in again. By that time she had fled down the hall.

He returned to collect his wits. They weren't too hard to find, as they were strewn about the room. Finally, after finishing off his bottle of Four Razzes, he put on his trench coat to go out. (There weren't any trenches but in the movies everyone wears a trench coat.)

He hightailed down to the nearest drug store. Then it was that he saw him. It was . . .

(Editor's Note: We are sorry, but Jim Hinds was struck down by a mysterious assailant while writing the end to this story. Evidence points to a blonde named Lana.)

Disregarding the appearance of polls by other sports writers and coaches, we are presenting the original Bill Spurn sports review. Here are the final standings on the team of the year. They appear in order of sequence as to strength.

1. Carnegie Tech 1-8-0.
 2. Kansas State 0-9-0.
 3. San Diego State 4-7-0.
 4. El Camino JC 2-6-1.
 5. Navy 0-12-1.
 6. Mills College 3-4-1.
 7. Stanford 2-8-0.
 8. UCLA 4-6-0.
 9. Chula Vista 2-6-1.
 10. New York Yankees 5-8-1.
- Notre Dame, California, Michigan, Army, and Clemson did not place in the polling. Compton and Bergen JC aren't on speaking terms.

Eking out a close victory over Bert Labrucherie, Don Anderson was voted coach of the year. Frank Leahy, Lynn Waldorf, Bill Bailey, and Bennie Oosterbann were also rans.

It has been reported by usually reliable sources that Jim Hinds has accepted a $69,000 offer from the Cleveland Browns not to play football.

A Passing Thought

Just sitting here pecking out incoherent nothings, I began to think of things and days gone by. It's such a wonderful thing to do, just reminiscing with mellow thoughts of past happenings. Maybe one should go back ten to twenty years in his yearbook of thoughts to be reminded of something pleasant, or even of something evil. I had to go back only a few years to visualize something that still lingers like a fresh twinge of autumn breeze in my mind.

Three years ago, SDJC was little known throughout San Diego, although the Evening Center and Business and Technical Center were operating. Think back. Where were you? In fact, where were all of us?

Three years ago: plans for peace and for advancing education were in the making; pregnancy of ideas and the careful planning and preparations for the new-born child, the Applied Arts and Science Center by its parents, the Board of Education, were underway and in September of 1946, San Diego Junior College was born, part of it in a Gray Castle on a hill-top, invading a proud high school.

From the very beginning SDJC showed life and energy, because it was being nursed slowly ahead by outstanding educators. The baby grew and grew until it was too big for its crib and then it got a new play pen, temporary buildings. But even now the youngster, SDJC, is still growing and it wants a sandlot to stretch in.

Anyway, it's a day dream worth much more than just "a passing thought."

B & T Center Sponsors Free Admission Dance

Saturday night, December 11, a dance will be presented for Junior College students at the B&T Center. The dance is free-of-charge, and will be held in Room 208 (the auditorium) of the Business division. Time set for the dance is 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. Ray Ames band will provide the music.

The B&T Student Social committee, with Connie Cotton as chairman, is in charge of this dance. Sponsors for the Student Social committee are: Mrs. Maryette Taylor and Mr. John Hatelson.

Along with the dance, there will be a floor show, elaborate decorations, and refreshments. Various social clubs of the Junior College will take charge of the presentation of these factors. Phi Tau Epsilon, of the Technical Center, will be in charge of the floor show. Phi Sigma Tau is to be in charge of decorations, and Kappa Phi Alpha will be responsible for the refreshments.

Don't forget there is no charge, so everyone can attend. The place is Room 208 of the Business division (835 12th Street), and the time is Saturday, December 11, from 8 to 12 p.m. All Junior College students are invited to attend.

Students Needed For Yuletide Holiday Jobs

A number of Christmas jobs are open to students reports Robert S. Hamilton, Jr., of the J. C. placement office. Among these are post office work, sales jobs, floor waxing, pin setting and messenger work. Other jobs such as stock clerks, gift wrappers, kitchen help and delivery boys will be opening about a week before Christmas.

Students interested in doing sales work in department stores during the holidays can also contact Miss Margaret Willett at the Business Center between 11 a.m. and 12 noon in Room 202.

Rho Deltas, Phi Theta Xi, Sigma Tau Rho Take Honors In Homecoming Celebrating

The gala premier that heralded San Diego Junior Colleges first Homecoming game pageant will someday be known as a tradition in the college.

The program consisted of a gay, half-time parade of colorful floats, which were designed and built by the JC social clubs. The entries represented the victories and the one defeat in football throughout the season. The festivity culminated a successful season of football, in which the team became the JC's shining star.

The parade was led by a knight in armour, who sat astride a white horse. Two pages followed him on horseback. These three were heralded onto the field by a trumpeter.

The floats followed in the order that the games had been played. The Pasadena game was portrayed by Kappa Phi Alphas. It depicted a gray castle in the background with a boom projecting from a wall around the castle. A knight in black cloak was sitting on the end of the boom wielding a lance and attempting to pin the beaten bulldog running ahead of the float.

The Rho Delta's portrayed the first-prize float, depicting the Bakersfield Tigers. The float consisted of a beautifully-designed papier mache horse covered with blue and silver tinfoil with a knight made of the same material astride the horse. On the floor of the float was a life-like tiger, which the knight had speared. Four pages, carrying lighted torches, strode beside it. The float was an outstanding piece of art and workmanship and well deserved the first place laurels.

The float was clever, original and showed the results of hard work.

The San Diego State Frosh game is one well-remembered by every loyal knight. It was also well portrayed by Phi Sigma Tau's. A wounded warrior lay on the ground beneath an Aztec sacrifice temple. Two Indian maidens mourned over him. One sat on top of the temple and the other knelt beside the warrior.

The El Camino game was portrayed by the Alpha Delt's. The float was made up of a knight in armour riding a surfboard, following an El Camino warrior who was paddling a canoe and squirting him with water from a seltzer bottle.

A new social club on the campus this year, Sigma Lambda Xi, gave a noticeable portrayal of the Oceanside game. They showed a miniature football field with the conquered Oceanside man lying on the field and the victor standing over him. The name and score of the game were written in flowers on the side of the float.

Third-place winner was the Sigma Tau Rho's float portraying JC's victory over Glendale. A gray castle filled the foreground with a guillotine erected in the courtyard. A Glendale man supposedly had his head on the block, with a JC knight preparing to behead him.

The last float to enter the field was the Homecoming Queen's, (Pauline Blake). It was a draped truck, on which the queen sat surrounded by her court and a page. Several knights on horseback and pages either followed or preceded each float as it came onto the field.

CLUB NEWS

Formal Initiations Held; Holiday Spirit Initiated

Congratulations to Barbara Arnold and her committee who worked so hard on the Homecoming parade. Not even the rain could halt the students from working on their floats and the decorating of the stadium. Guys and gals who could be seen working Friday morning were Gordon Ek, Katherine Palmus, Kenny Gautreaux, Irene Soboll, Virginia Ayers, Kit Neely, Mary Lou Beville, Dot Klaus, Pat Tomas, Tommy Monahan and many others. Good work, gang!

Phi Theta Xi
In the impressive atmosphere of candlelight, Phi Theta Xi pledges were formally initiated into this club. This event was held in the beautiful home of Betty Henderson. During the initiation, each pledge held a lighted candle and it was very inspirational to all girls who attended. Punch and cookies were served and the decorations were of the club flowers, the carnation.

Rho Delta
The Rose Room of the U. S. Grant Hotel was the place and December 4 was the date for the semi-formal pledge dinner-dance of the Rho Deltas. From 7:30 until 8:30 p.m., pledges, members, and their dates feasted on a six-course steak dinner. This affair was the formal initiation for pledges and was climaxed by the presentation of club pins to new members. From 8:30 p.m. 'til 1 a.m. everyone enjoyed dancing by candlelight to the music of a trio from State College.

Formal Initiations Held
Fellows and their dates who attended this affair were: Ray Puckett and Bobbie Brandt; Chuck Furgerson and Cora Gouldmond; Larry Beck and Vi Steel; Romer Sanders and Jeannine Jirsa; Bernard Nebe and Marjorie Sanders; Ted Heil, George Greenwood, Dick Shultz, Tom Damron, Bill Jirsa and Evelyn Johnston; Leo Lpec and Gloria Alf; Jim Barker and Joan Brennan; Paul Redmond and Barbara Buck; Ronnie Jones and Iva Lu Manning.

The members of Rho Delta are really working on their annual dance, "Snowflake Ball," to make it another huge success.

Phi Alpha
Phi Alphas recently had a joint meeting with Alpha Deltas in the Point Loma Assembly hall. Girls attending the party were Karol Keel, Jeanne Livert, Rosie Shoop, Dorothea Mosley, Pat Walters, Jeanne Patterson, Shirley Thiverge, Sammy Lou Adcox, Cora Gouldmond, Dot Klaus, Eloise Jarkey, Marion Irwin, June Wilson, Kit Neeley, Shirley Brink, Mary McKim, June Cox, and Rita Brown.

Iota Theta Phi

Sigma Tau Rhos Reorganizing Club

The Sigma Tau Rhos are really a serious-minded group of JC fellows, it seems. Members of this organization have settled down to reorganizing their club and its constitution.

Their aim is to better themselves and all who come into contact with them 'tis said. They are looking out not only for betterment of themselves, but also of the school. The purpose of the club is as follows: "The purpose of this organization is to promote the spirit of good fellowship, encourage the attainment of a high scholastic record and to uphold the social standards of our college."

Sigma Tau Rhos are trying to make up a pamphlet for all of their new pledges and future members. It will enable the pledges to become better acquainted with this organization and to learn what is expected of them.

Business Center Adds to Faculty

Two new members were added to the rapidly growing faculty list at the Business Center recently.

Mrs. Lois Trevennen is teaching English and shorthand classes during the day to both Junior College and adult students and shorthand to those in the evening classes. Mrs. Trevennen received her bachelor's degree in Business Education at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. She has had six years experience as secretary with various government services.

The other new faculty member is Mrs. Lucille Huntington, the J. C. advertising class instructor. If you are a steady reader of "Printer's Ink" or the "Christian Science Monitor," you may have noticed some of Mrs. Huntington's frequent articles. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin in Madison. Her experience includes several years of editing the La Salle University magazine and eighteen years in advertising agency work.

Student Directory Now at Bookstore

With the publication of the second annual student directory, we noted among other things that a Mr. Frances Archibald was the sponsor of the local A.W.S. Not that it makes any difference to us whether the women on campus have a man for a sponsor, but we wish they would make it competitive.

Along with that particular byline by shrdlu (shrdlu is a journalistic term meaning a misprint by the printers); Mrs. Archibald is the A.W.S. sponsor, we noticed that if there was ever a misunderstanding between the Smiths and the Johnsons, it might turn into a mild massacre. Figures show (a literal term) that the Smiths (three of them James Smiths) outnumber the Johnsons on campus twelve to ten.

The new compact directory contains not only the names of the Smiths and Johnsons, but of every one on campus possessing an ASB card. Service and social clubs with their presidents and sponsors are represented in this handy booklet. Associated Student Body officers are listed with the center they represent, along with the officers and spinsters of the Associated Women Students and Freshmen Class.

For those who have not yet purchased their directories, there are still a few available in the student bookstore for just the price of showing your white dues card. And for those who have already obtained this combination date book and B.M.O.C. list we advise that you check the regular phone book before calling any number. I tried to call Dorothy Todd Saturday for a date and the voice on the other end said, "You must have the wrong number, the only Dorothy I know got married ten years ago."

Gray Knights Annex Metro Title Easily

Cosimo Cutri, known throughout SDJC as "the Comet," breaks loose for a short gain as an unidentified East L. A. player is taken out of the play by a beautiful block by Bud Genet. Other E. L. A. players are Weiss (66) and Lopez (70).

Knight Cagers Nip Alumni; Dumped By Long Beach CC

The San Diego Junior College cagers opened their season in fabulous style last Wednesday night with a close 26 to 25 victory over the Alumni.

The contest, played in the San Diego High gym, was marked by torrid defensive play and numerous fouls.

In winning their initial start of the season Coach Don Clarkson and his crew had to stage a comeback in the second half.

Sparked by Ben Cendali, Jess Thompson, and Pete Frelinger, the Knights overcame a two-point deficit late in the third period and were never headed. They pulled ahead on quick swishers by Cendali and Thompson and a few minutes later Frelinger hooked one to extend their lead to four points.

The game was a seesaw battle all the way with the lead changing hands many times. The Alumni, led by Ivan Robinson, high point man for the night with 11 points, and Wendell Woods, led at half time 11 to 9. The first half was very slow and was highlighted by close defensive play on the part of both teams.

Coach Clarkson used his reserves freely and everybody on the Gray Knight bench saw action some time during the game.

The defensive standouts of the game was big Sid Franklin, Don Rucker and Tony Vasquez. Sid held the high-scoring Ivan Robinson in check most of the way.

LBCC Rout Knights

The San Diego Junior College cagers fresh from a 26-25 victory over the Alumni, ran head on into a red-hot Long Beach City College basketball team and were completely overwhelmed 63-36. The big, sharp shooting Long Beach outfit moved into the lead in the first quarter and were never headed. The score at half time was 37-7.

Knight's Kellio Versatile End

Despite the handicap of playing this football season with two injured knees, Wayne Kellio proved himself to be one of the Knights' outstanding wingmen. The handsome and well-built Kellio is a product of Point Loma High School, where he made quite an athletic name for himself. Besides playing two years of football, "Mick," as he is called by his friends, turned out to be a versatile trackman. Wayne participated in the shotput, broad jump, and relay race, and then as a tribute to his outstanding performances, he was chosen team captain by his fellow tracksters.

Upon his high school graduation in 1946, "Mick" joined the army and served as a member of the Army of Occupation in Korea. Picking up where he left off in high school, Kellio starred on one of the Far East's crack football teams. He gained valuable experience by playing with and against such former greats as Bobby Chabot, who was an understudy for the great Glen Davis at West Point, and Joe Stanciewicz, and Dick Pitzer, both former All-Americans and members of the terrific Army wartime football teams. Another teammate of Kellio's was Amerigo Dini, now attending our own San Diego J. C. "Mick" played in the Rice Bowl in Tokio, Japan, and then was honored by being picked as All-Far East end.

When Wayne regained his civilian status he decided to try his football wares at the Gray Castle, and fared quite well. "Mick" enjoys playing defensive ball and many times he was seen thwarting the opposition by breaking in and spilling an attempted passer, or throwing and opposing ball carrier for a loss far beyond the line of scrimmage.

Wayne is undecided about which school he will attend next year, but if he leaves "The Castle" our loss will be another college's gain.

Baileymen Smear East L. A. 39-0

By Manuel Y. Armendariz

It's all over but the shouting!

San Diego's gift to gridiron fame, the Knight "11," collected the pot of gold at the end of their rainbow jaunt when they defeated East Los Angeles J. C. 39-0 for the Metropolitan Conference bauble.

Local sports writers commented that the Knights "put on one of their best shows of the season" against East L. A. J. C. That's a matter of opinion of course, but the statement would have been much closer to the truth had it read "the Knights displayed their monotonous sterling performance."

The visitors, on the other hand, just couldn't get going. Trying to penetrate the Knight defense was like bucking a Model T against a Sherman tank. The "Huskies" had speedsters galore, had a respectable line, but when it came down to brass knuckles . . . well, the score tells the story.

Relating to the reader, the whole game, would require several manuscripts, instead, a short account of each touchdown is in chronological order:

TD No. 1—"Husky" fumble recovered on visitors' 35 by Cosimo Cutri. Four plays later Cutri rambled 16 yards for score. Bud Genet added digit.

TD No. 2—Quarterback Thompson pass from own 35 to "Husky" 44. Cutri rips off 30 more. Harry West finally crunches over from three. Genet boots the horseshoe through uprights.

TD No. 3—Cutri jig steps 57 yards to L. A. 40. West carries ball to 10. Joe Brown hipper-dipped through to pay dirt. Genet makes it three in row.

TD No. 4—Ernie Smith intercepts enemy pass and waltzes 70 yards for score behind timely blocking.

TD No. 5—Ed Fletcher and Jess Thompson collaborate to bring pigskin to visitors' 24. Bud Genet, forgetting his place kicking for awhile, raced through E. L. A. J. C. line and secondary standing up.

TD No. 6—Smith snags pass from Jess to 25-yard stripe. Frank Cardenas picks up a first down and West terminates the suffering for the L. A. squad by bulling his way 12 yards.

Picking out individual stars is no easy task. Every Knight gridder who participated in the fray contributed more than his two cents worth, while Al Gasparian, Dave Butler and Frank Kachaturian, trio of "Husky" swifties, seemed to stand head and shoulders above any other visiting threat.

Thus, in its first year of football in the circuit, San Diego was clearly dominant. The Knights had only one loss to mar a brilliant season—that to Chaffey, which will play in the Gold Dust Bowl.

Making the evening complete was the gala panorama exhibited by the spectacular Homecoming Day festivities. More than 6,000 speechless fans watched in awe the Homecoming gaiety, which paralleled in greatness, the championship game.

Joe Brown is smothered from behind by Dick Black after making a few yards through the Husky line. Running his interference is Bryan Benson (39). Bringing up the rear are Deangelo (62) and Saddle (12) for East L. A.

Loyola University Considering Bailey As New Grid Coach

Call Bill Bailey the molder of champions!

Call Bill Bailey a highly efficient gridiron technician!

Call Bill Bailey the most popular and impressive football coach on the coast!

On and on go these complimentary excerpts from worshippers of William Chancey Bailey, gridiron mentor at San Diego Junior College.

And why not? Ever since Mr. Bailey has been associated with that ellipsoidal-shaped pigskin called a football, there has been a constant increase in the admiration for such a man who has mastered the art of gridiron knowledge.

From the days when Bill Bailey was playing halfback for Escondido High, to the present moment, in which he has just completed guiding his Knight "11" to a conference championship, there have been glittering moments in the rough-and-tumble sport for this "Knute Rockne of the West."

Championship after championship has come Bill Bailey's way, each earned in leagues of high calibre.

Coach Bailey's all-time record stands at 51 wins, nine losses and two ties; six championships out of seven years. Quite an accomplishment in anybody's land!

At the moment Coach Bailey is one of four men considered for the coaching reins at Loyola University.

On the Sidelines

Southern Cal pulled the upset of the season when it tied Notre Dame last Saturday. The Fighting Irish scored in the last minute of play to get an even break. Even with a tie on their record the rate number one in the nation is this book.

Army was the same kind of victim the week before when fighting Navy eleven held the to a standstill.

State really came from behind last Saturday. After spotting Utah 19 points in the first twenty minutes of play they came back to win 28 to 19. Congratulations for winning the last game of the season.

Bergan Junior College really blew their tops when they did not blow the bid to represent the East in the "Little Rose Bowl." Tech!

Lois Mitchell recently won the J. C. women's badminton tournament. It took many grueling battles with the birdie and her opponent before she won.

There's no doubt that he being considered because of characteristics which prevail this clean-cut, 37-year-old gentleman, with features that indicate clean living and sound breeding.

Taken into account also is the fact that Mr. Bailey earns his salary the hard way; by actually putting his heart and soul into the job of tutoring boys into men.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

Merry Christmas From Evening Center

It is a privilege to extend Christmas greetings to all students of the San Diego Junior College through this school paper.

I hope that each individual will find inspiration in the holiday season and renewed faith and ambition for the new year that is just ahead. I hope also that this institution, through its three centers, will be able to serve each one of you so that you will take your places as leaders in our community life.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

PAUL KLEIN, Principal
Evening Center

Needy Families To Receive Gifts

The Phi Alphas have decided to make this a Merry Christmas for three under-privileged families. The club plans to give each family a basket complete with the ingredients for a real Christmas dinner. Members also hope to give each member of the families adopted a separate gift.

This will be a real Christmas blessing to all three families, for each is large and cannot provide Christmas celebrations for themselves.

Temporary Buildings To Be Ready January 3

Despite delays by weather, union strikes, and other problems, the temporary buildings for the Applied Arts Center have finally been completed. Moving of furniture will take place during the holiday vacation, and students and faculty alike may begin using them January 3, according to Dean Robert Heilbron.

Classes and faculty will not be the only ones benefiting from these new play pens. The Jay Sees will move from the broom closet in the Russ Auditorium to office G in the main building and ASB officers will have desks to rest their legs on also in one of the other vacated offices.

Students having classes in bungalow 2, rooms 112, 186, 223, and 358 will begin using these new play pens for classrooms on January 3, Mr. Harry Jones, registrar, said Monday.

This is another Christmas gift greatly appreciated by all.

Dr. Aseltine's Greeting

On this Christmas of the new era of the San Diego Junior College we have many reasons to feel that Santa Claus has not forgotten us. Our three centers are working more closely together with each passing day. The new temporary units are now about ready for occupancy, and we will move into them during the holidays. The Varsity football team presented us with a championship in the first year of the Metropolitan Conference. The spirit and attitude of the Student Body has never been better.

All these blessings should cause us to be joyful during the Christmas season—and after. But they should not blind us to the fact that Santa Claus brings us presents only as we earn them. There is much yet to be done, both as individual students and as a student body. May the New Year endow us all with a generous amount of enthusiasm and determination in undertaking the many tasks that lie ahead of us.

The heartiest of season's greetings to you all.

The Jay Sees

Dear Mr. Galatis:

May I take this opportunity to thank you and your fine staff for the privilege of extending Christmas greetings to those directly and indirectly interested in our Junior College.

Holiday time would not be complete without wishing our total student body and also the entire staff of the San Diego Junior College a Very Merry Christmas. May the New Year bring each of you the best of health, happiness and prosperity.

Sincerely yours,

Students, Faculty Receive Greeting

I am pleased to have this opportunity to bring to every student and member of the staff of San Diego Junior College sincerest greetings of the season. I hope that we will all find in this holiday season an opportunity for profitable employment, pleasant recreation, and quiet reflection upon the Christmas ideal of Peace, Understanding, and Good Will. May we all return in the new year refreshed and ready to rededicate ourselves to the high purposes which have brought us together.

Writers to Take Time For Christmas Snow Party

Whooooo! Not the day before Christmas, but the day after Christmas will be the high point of existence for a group of "budding" journalists from the Applied Arts and Science and the Business and Technical Centers.

The time is Sunday, December 26; the place, Lois Mitchell's cabin in Cuyamaca; the occasion—a party with music and snow, and, it is sincerely hoped, food.

More than 66 students are eligible to join in the fun. The group will be made up of advertising students, journalism workshop and journalism class students and their guests.

Sponsors and chaperons for the event will be Mrs. Lucille Huntington and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heryet.

Book Donations Benefit Home

The Evening Center's project to collect books for the patients at Vaulain Home was very successful. A fine selection was donated, including more than a hundred books, some useful texts, readable fiction, many pocket books, and more than five hundred recent magazines.

Miss Jane Wright, who teaches at the home, says that the patients were most happy to receive this interesting collection. It will make their Christmas much more pleasant.

B & T Center's Party to Start With Songfest 11 AM Today

A Christmas party at the Business Division will begin today at 11 a.m. with student caroling on the front lawn of the main building.

A special chorus directed by Dr. Alex Zimmerman, director of music of the San Diego City Schools, will lead the students in caroling. During the music pageant and by special student request, Mr. Benjamin Hamilton, radio instructor at B & T, will sing the "Cantique De Noel." A Christmas message will then be presented by Dr. Thomas Law Coyle, Minister at the First Presbyterian Church.

Following the caroling and Christmas message, light refreshments will be provided the students in the main hall of the Business Division. The serving tables are to be decorated in the true

Christmas spirit, and a beautifully trimmed, fourteen-foot Christmas tree will also adorn the hall.

An overall mixer to be held in the auditorium will complete the menu for this fine program. This party has all the aspects of a terrifically wonderful occasion, so all students and faculty members should have a really swell time. Merry Christmas!

Applicants To Elect Staff

With eighteen applications for staff positions on file, "The Legend," San Diego Junior College year book, will soon be getting under way. During the past two weeks an intensive drive for staff membership has been conducted. All students interested in working on the year book turned petitions in to Mr. Malcolm E. Ramsey in the student bookstore.

Different positions on "The Legend" staff, such as editor, associate editor, society editor, sports editor, photographer and so on, will be filled by the eighteen students who have petitioned. These students will meet and elect among themselves, persons to fill the various offices.

Women's Associated Group Greet Santa

A prologue to the Yuletide season was staged Tuesday, December 14, by the Associated Women's Students, as members of the group congregated in the Little Theater for their annual Christmas party.

True wassail spirit ("be thou well") was demonstrated by the girls as they turned in their contributions of food for Christmas boxes they had previously pledged to fill and deliver to needy families throughout the city.

The Christmas tree, seven feet of ornamented foliage, was the center of attraction around which participants exchanged gifts and partook of "spiced cider" and doughnuts.

All plans and preparation for the affair was handled by the A.W.S. Mrs. Frances Archibald is sponsor of the group and Mickey Chappell is A.W.S. president.

Christmas

It is a good thing to observe Christmas day. The mere marking of times and seasons when men stop work and make merry times together is a wise and wholesome custom. But there is something better than the mere observance of Christmas day and that is the keeping of Christmas.

Are we willing to forget what we have done for other people, and remember what others have done for us? Are we willing to ignore what the world owes us, and to think of the things we owe the world? Are we willing to put our rights in the background, and our duties in the near distance? And are we willing to see that our fellow men are just as real as we are? If so, then we are willing to "keep" Christmas. If we can "keep" this day for a day, then why can we not "keep" it every day?

On the 25th day of December, we celebrate the birthday of One whose chief contribution to the human heart and mind was His message of boundless and universal love. It was the habit of Him to take whatever good is in men and to remould it for higher uses. He brought to the world the greatest thing in the world, and that is why the day of His birth has won such an intimate place in our hearts; and why its jubilant bells will forever echo.

CHRISTMAS: LET US "KEEP" THE DAY.

—Gamble.

ST. NICK EXPOSED AS DELUSION TO SMALL FRY

"You'd better watch out, you'd better not cry, you'd better not pout, I'm telling you why: Santa Clause is coming to town." If, by any queer quirk of nature, you have let this simple (and I emphasize that word) refrain cause a psychosis to be set up in your neutral system, forget it. No student of San Diego Junior College need worry about seeing the old good fairy this year! Not only is there a Saint Nick in the plaza for the amusement of the city n'er-do-wells, but there is one in our fair village's department stores, hardware stores, pet shops (usually, nanny goats in Red Riding Hood's clothing, in this case), Christmas tree lots, and one is even standing in the window of a local china fixture shop, busily engaged in manipulating a plumber's friend.

My friends, what do these scalawags do the rest of the year? I'll tell you. They are the congenial pigeon feeders, and morals offenders, so numerous within the gates of our dear township. Do you enjoy the thought that, when your cruelly deluded child sits down on old Santa's knee, and the old patriarch kisses him, your little image has just been kissed by a man who has perhaps spent six terms in the jug for vagrancy? (The rest of the time he spends under the table of a local bistro.)

Comrades, I'm warning you, revolt. Don't let our country be overrun with this scourge of a capitalistic state. As a law-abiding citizen, don't let your child's nervous tract be destroyed by these puppets of commercialism.

How, you ask, can we stop this terrible plague? Easy. Simple things are the ones that count. Take the little one to see the old "bowl full of jelly," but when he gets there have him click your Ronson under the old man's yak tail; give him a vial of sulphuric acid to press lovingly into the old man's folds of fat. Remember, where there's a will there's a way. Are you helping the cities' decadents survive?—McCurdy.

It's Your School and Vote

In the past five semesters of this school's history, student government has played an important part, but not nearly as important, or large a part, as it is prepared to play in the coming semesters. Because of the comparative newness of this institution, it has been necessary for the student body officers to have a great deal of guidance, and perhaps a gentle shove or two from the administration, to set it right. Many things had to be done, many traditions had to be established.

Now these preliminaries are over, and we, as students, must start taking our position seriously. The coming A.S.B. election may well be the most decisive in the history of the school, and now is the time to lay aside petty affiliations and work as a whole to establish a clean and hard-working student administration.

I am a member of a social club, as many of you are; however, I am laying aside these loyalties, when concerned with the elections. When we hear a certain candidate being discussed for office, it is time that we stop asking, "What organization does he or she belong to?" and consider the person in question on his own merits.

Our football team, in the past season, has brought a great deal of attention and admiration to rest on OUR school, and now we must select student leaders who will carry on that tradition; who will proudly represent us at the numerous conferences and other functions, that their office necessitates attending. We must have officers who will keep the unity of the school in mind, continually, and dismiss the thoughts of what measures will do his organization or friends the most good. Pressure is always brought to bear on these office holders, and it is our job, as voters, to see that we elect the men who are best equipped to stand on their own.

Ruby Harding Vies For Queenship At State College

Ruby Marie Harding, former student of San Diego Junior College, will be one of the candidates running for queen at the State College Blue Book Ball, Wednesday night at Mission Beach Ballroom.

Ruby was a very active student while attending JC, she carried the lead in "Taming of the Shrew," held the office of Women's Representative, and was treasurer of the Freshmen Class. Ruby is also a Phi Alpha alumni.

Blue Book Ball queen will be chosen by the popular vote of the students who will cast the vote by dropping a ballot into the box with their candidate's picture on it. Ruby is sponsored by the Sigma Pi fraternity at State.

DANCE CLASS AFFORDS HELP TO SHY ONES

Are you a slow shmo with the feet? If someone does drag you to a dance do you retreat to the convenient corner, rousing your sorrowful self only for nourishment? Or if you do make a feeble attempt at the fine art, do your size twelves get into all sorts of embarrassing predicaments? Take heart, friend, Social and Group Dancing (Recreation 86) is the answer to your problem.

Open to all men and women students, course provides instruction in the tango, rumba, foxtrot, jig and other types of ballroom dancing. Students are shown how to conduct successful parties, and once a month a recreational mixer is held. One credit is offered for this course unless supplementing a P.E. class and then regular P.E. credit is given.

Visitors are welcome on Tuesdays and Fridays at 11:45. Further information can be obtained from Miss Virginia Paxton.

Business Course Added at B & T

The Business division announces that a course in Business Economics will be added to its ever-increasing schedule of classes for the Spring semester. This course has long been a much-needed subject, and it should be of great material value to business majors.

Mr. Barth F. Monaghan, newly-acquired instructor in Business management and Business law, will teach the course. Mr. Monaghan, who received his degree in Economics at New York University, said that the course would be a great asset in business futures.

The course will cover factors of production, monetary problems, and various regulatory laws, that directly and indirectly confront the typical business man.

Library Adds To Large Collection

Two books of poignant verse stemming from the recent conflict have been added to the library shelves for those students who enjoy poetry, announced Miss Jessie A. Harris, librarian. The titles of these new volumes are Other Skies written by John Ciardi, and The New Treasury of War Poetry collected by George Herbert Clark.

A number of new reference books

Prexy & Vice-Prexy Planks

The following are statements from the four candidates running for A.S.B. President and Vice-President for the Applied Arts & Science center.

At this time I can only recall Lee Wood's famous quotation: "Editors should call the shots as they see them without regard to party. The press owes a large duty to the public than to any party."

For President

Leon Burton: active leader in student government, states his platform: "If I am elected as your student body president, I hope to accelerate the student government activities, such as the proposed hand book, promotion of activities with other junior colleges, and the completion of the revision of the by-laws, all which are now in the planning stage. What has been accomplished this far must be accredited to the students, but a small group of them. I am sure there are many more who wish to participate in student affairs. I desire to allocate the responsibilities to more students that we may become the outstanding institution on the Pacific Coast."

Bob Kerner, active student in student and government, states his intentions thus: "I desire to see greater planned activities rather than the hap hazard, trial and error methods we have employed in the past. I think there is a need to organize a Men's Student Organization. And I would like to see the Letterman's club given more responsibility and receive more credit for their school support. If elected I intend to serve all students through equal representation, a new idea in student government. Lastly, I hope for everyone we have a hundred percent turn out of the voters."

Squires Gather For Reading Of Constitution

Last week in the T buildings, the Squires, official clearing organization for all student activities, was born.

Mr. Robert S. Winter, sponsor for the group, read the constitution, a constitution that was still wet with printers ink, a constitution, that has yet to go through the process of ratification.

The group, whose motto is "Every Student a Squire," will be divided into committees, with each committee working on one phase of the activity, and finally all committees coordinating their work to produce the activity.

Officers will be chosen by the members and will serve for one whole year. All who have signed thus far as Squires are considered to be charter members.

Membership in the Squires is open to all who are members of the Associated Student Body.

Crew hats are being considered by the group to be worn while officiating as ushers, ticket takers, etc.

Meetings will be held bi-monthly and admission may be gained by contacting Mr. Winter.

have also been received. Included in the new books are An Encyclopedia of World History, The Organization and Administration of Physical Education, The Rise of the American Novel, and The Book of Musical Knowledge.

Miss Harris further stated that the opening of Room 112 to students wishing to study together has greatly reduced the noise and congestion in the library.

For Vice-President

Bob Bega, popular student leader in government and other student functions says: "The Vice-President is the coordinator between student council, cabinet and inter-club council meetings. I have had experience in coping with these duties. And in addition, if elected, I will make a determined effort to be constantly informed of the important matters under consideration of the administration, and support, the views of the student body and the executive department on all major events. I feel that I can further the activities of those students who feel that they are not represented by a factional government. In closing, it is my sincere desire to see a good turn out at the polls on election day."

Al Dahms, one of the students who has been active in student promotions reviews his thoughts: "I would like to see the unorganized majority of the student have a better part in the school activities and its government. I do not want to have non-orgs feel that because they do not belong to a social club they have no chance to participate in the government. This school should be as democratic as we can possibly make it. I am positive that with help from the student body we can make S.D.J.C. a prominent institution in the eyes of all San Diegans."

End at Hand, B&T Finals Begin January 24

Social Calendar Inaugurated; Parties Held Over Holidays

Santa Claus seems to have been real nice to a lot of J.C. students. Sparkling diamonds and shining pins highlighted the holidays for two active J.C. girls. Barbara Baker announced her engagement to Jimmie Madden. The wedding has been tentatively set for early summer. JoAnn Foltz was pinned by George Foster.

The holiday mood was the incentive for several parties. Carol Lawrence gave a private (?) party for members of the Freshman assembly cast. It seems that someone said it was an open house and consequently quite a few unknown persons attended the party.

Martha Brychel held an open house New Year's Eve. Some of the students attending this "shindig" were Madelon MacGowan, Pat Fisher, Basil Galatis, Bill Jirsa, O. C. Moore, Cliff Brown, Walter Hamlin, Bill Caldwell, Nancy Rice, Nancy Clint and Mary Lou Oxley. Jim Clancy also had a New Year's Eve party. Mickey Chappell, Margaret Drinkwater, Ruby Turner, Carol Lawrence, Jack Hott, Dot Klaus, Bob Halvorsen, were among prominent people there.

Rho Delta's dance, "Snowflake Ball," was a huge success. The dance hall was beautifully decorated with Christmas doin's and was set off by the Rho Delta's prize winning float in the middle of the floor.

Odds 'n Ends

Former JC student Peggy Knutsen was married on December 24. Priscella Welch, another former student, announced her engagement.

Sigma Lambda Chi held a closed bid dance during vacation.

Social Calendar

The new social calendar that is in the hall by the Bookstore does not seem to be noticed by a lot of the social clubs on this campus. This calendar is for your benefit and it allows you to know what is going on, where, and what time. Each club has an individual calendar and is supposed to write the dates of all your meetings, dances, parties, and what have you.

So far this month, this is what we have:

January 15—Sigma Tau Rho party.

January 15—Alpha Delta closed bid dinner dance.

January 16—Toastmistress formal initiation.

January 17—Sigma Lambda Chi formal initiation.

January 17—Sigma Tau Rho business meeting.

January 17—Alpha Delta business meeting.

January 17—Kappa Phi Alpha business meeting.

January 20—Engineers' Club meeting.

January 21—Squires' Club meeting.

January 23—Alpha Delta founder's day dinner.

January 24—Sigma Tau Rho meeting.

January 24—Alpha Delta business meeting.

January 24—Kappa Phi Alpha business meeting.

Let's all get behind this project and support it by filling in your calendar.

Time for Finals Short at A A & S

Students who have looked at the schedule for the AA&S Center finals have probably noticed the change in the method in which the finals are to be given this semester. To reduce the amount of time out of classes, finals not listed in the schedule are to be given in the students' classrooms Thursday, January 27 and Friday the 28. On these two dates, classes will be held as scheduled.

The Business and Technical Training Center students will take their final tests from the 24 until the 28 of January.

To avoid any misunderstanding, Mr. Harry Jones, the registrar, wishes it made clear that the Physical Science 10 final will be held in the High School library and not in the Junior College library.

Blue books may be purchased at the book store beginning January 27.

Fisher. The girls, dressed in formals, will sign and be presented with a copy of the constitution.

Membership is still open to any woman student interested in joining this organization. Members will soon be seen wearing their new pins. Watch for them.

Toastmistresses To Hold Formal Initiation Soon

The Toastmistress Club of San Diego Junior College has achieved a lot this semester. Their membership has enlarged from two to thirteen members. On Sunday, January 16, 1949, twelve girls will be initiated into Toastmistress. The home of Miss Gertrude Dustin, sponsor, will be the setting for the candlelight ceremony. Girls who will be initiated are: Francis Fuller, vice-president; Evelyn Johnston, secretary; Marguerite Keeler, treasurer; Rita Brown, Marguerite Malzahn, Pat Walker, Bernadette Miller, Ruby Turner, Chiyuko Akiyama, Mary Blake, Darlene Trotocheau, and Carlene

ASB Committee Proposes Changes In Applied Arts and Science By-Laws

Changes in the by-laws of the Associated Arts and Science Center were recently proposed by a student-faculty committee.

The committee, appointed by the ASB council consists of the following students: Bob Kerner, chairman; Mary Seidelman, secretary; Jack Beynon, and Jim Hinds; faculty members: Mrs. Frances Archibald, Miss Signe Carlson, Mr. William Cyran and Mr. Robert Winters.

No changes have been made definite as yet but the following progress report was made recently concerning the proposed changes:

Since the Commissioner of Activities has had so many duties allocated to him, it is proposed that the position be divided into the following three stations:

A Commissioner of Special Events who would handle such activities as Homecoming, Sadie Hawkins' Day and the Inaugural ball.

Pep Commissioner Urged
A Commissioner of Pep and Ceremony who would take charge of ticket sales, student transportation, ushers, and other such items.

A Commissioner of Assemblies who would concentrate on the planning and presentation of all student assemblies.

It is also proposed that a Commissioner of Elections be introduced to handle election activities, coordinating his committee with the campaign committees.

The research committee feels that there should be a Commissioner of Women's Athletics, the duties of which would coincide with the duties of the Commissioner of Men's Athletics.

The discarding the Commission of Public Relations and the creating a Commission of Publicity and one of Publications is being considered. The Commission of Publicity would handle all outside promotion and advertisement of the school and a Commission of Publications would coordinate all inter-school publications and their policies.

Campus Kiddies Plunge Into Blue Book Duels

Coffee is in great demand on campus these days. J. C. students may soon be needing it badly, for the dreaded finals are on the way.

In view of this mass inclination toward hysteria, this writer sees the necessity of giving some kindly advice especially to the innocent freshmen, who should be briefed before their first flight into the realm of blue books and two-hour sessions.

Now take it from one who is a veteran and knows the ropes, kiddies. Exams are a push, really. It's a case of mind over matter. Nip those jitters in the bud before you have a nice home-grown little neurosis on your hands. Just repeat over and over to yourself: "I can pass" until you begin believing it. From there on in, it's simple. You can pass. Got it? Now, the night before the Big Event, take an aspirin in hot milk (take 2 if you like) and hit the hay early. Oh, and save the rest of the aspirins in the bottle. If this tried and true method doesn't work, you'll need them!

Old Students To Register With Psych 10 Teachers, Advisors

Old students are to register with their advisors and with their Psychology 10 teachers. The date of registration will be announced at a later date.

Registration has been reduced to its main essentials in order to avoid the long delay for students, Mr. Harry Jones, registrar, announced.

Those new students who entered in September and who have not yet taken their entrance examinations should report to Mr. Nall. It is very important that these tests are taken, for no one can register for the spring semester until they do so. The tests will be held February 5, from 9 until 12 noon.

Program planning will take place before the semester finals.

Registration dates for students entering in the spring semester are February 3 and 4. All new students are to report to Russ auditorium on Monday, February 7, for orientation. Classes will begin Tuesday the 8.

New students who have not reported for their initial interviews should do so at once.

Bill Geistweit To Graduate in Feb.

One of the most popular fellows on the Junior College campus this year is sandy-haired, blue-eyed Bill Geistweit. Bill, who is always seen with a big smile on his face, has held the position of Athletic Commissioner this past semester and is largely responsible for the intramural program now being carried on here at the Junior College. He is one of the founders of the Kappa Phi Alpha Social club and is also a member of the Junior College Honor society.

Bill entered the Army after his graduation from San Diego High and served as a member of the Occupation Forces in Japan for a year and a half. While attending the Hilltop, "Willie" lettered in football and baseball and helped coach the Junior Varsity football team during his senior year.

Bill is majoring in Physical Education with a Science minor here at Junior College and would like to continue to coach at State College. During his freshman year, he lettered in Football and baseball but dropped out to concentrate on his studies.

'Life in Germany' Topic of Speaker At Club Party

The home of James Bernardini was the place for the German Club's Christmas party December 16.

Paul Schauder, student at San Diego High School, who has been in the United States only two years, spoke to the group in German concerning his life in Germany. The group also sang German Christmas carols and exchanged gifts. Refreshments were Apfelkuchen with whipped cream and cocoa.

The next meeting will be at Mary Seidelman's, January 12. Members will make recordings in German of short skits and folk songs. The committee to write the constitution are Bill Ryan, Lydia Schumaker, Larry Beck, Alvin Crawford and Don Milow. The German Club pins have been ordered and are in the shape of small sterling silver dachshunds.

Dig Deeper Joe, This One Has Four Pages

Have you ever stopped to ponder, good brother, on the fact that anybody who is anybody reads the yak that is stamped on this paper?

And do you realize that we use real paper? None of this wood pulpish stuff for us, no sir. Ya don't have to shuffle the leaves to find the news.

Take the name of this news. The Jay Sees. Have you ever stopped to think what a jay sees? Have you ever stopped to think? Have you ever stopped? You have? You fool!

But to go on. It was recently called to our attention (it wasn't really called, it was yodeled) that students aren't getting the full benefit from the paper that it affords. Our aim is to satisfy the desires of all who make the bi-monthly pilgrimage to the book mart, so we have compiled a list of suggestions that we hope will enable our readers to get as much as possible from flashign their ASB cards.

Why don't you try burying the paper in lime. This will entail a shovel, a hole (the deeper the better) and a sack of lime. Come to think of it, there's a sale on lime at Holcomb's so why don't you run over.

If you're staying in the park, three of four copies pinned together make excellent covering.

Also, the high grade paper we use makes it very acceptable to be torn up and used as confetti at basketball games.

Then if you're the saving kind, stack your old copies in the garage. The current price for paper on the junk market is a buck a ton. I know. I used to deliver Shopping News. . . "Hey, George, bring my Cadillac around. . ."

Of course these are only minor uses. When folded to the right dimensions, what formally was the Jay Sees now becomes a fly swatter.

We are confident that a little thought on your part will produce glorious results in the way of getting the most from your copy of the Jay Sees.

Tartars Subdue Knights After Torrid Battle

The "Tartars" from Compton college successfully extended their winning streak to 18 straight games at the expense of an undermanned but not out-fought Knight hardcourt team in San Diego High's gym last Friday night.

Compton, boasting a ball club of tremendous height and depth, swept to an early 6 to 0 first period lead and lengthened it to a 29 to 15 score at half time. At the start of the second half the Knights were a rejuvenated ball club and crept to seven points of Compton on two, quick field-goals by Ben Cendali and one each by Jerry Dahms and Syd Franklin. Compton then steadied and went on to win 55 to 44, which in itself is a moral victory for the Knights.

Ben Cendali was high-point man for the Knights with 11 points followed by Franklin with 10 and Dahms with 8. Compton's center La Mont scored 11 points and Johnson their star forward who was all S.C.I.F. in high school last year scored 13 points to take scoring honors for the night. The floor play of Tony Vasquez and Jesse Thompson stood out and they seemed to hold the ball club together in the second half.

The student body of San Diego Junior College has put forth the following award regulations: the letters received shall be: a 7- or 5-inch "SD" interlocked; of chenille material; blue, outlined in grey, and mounted on blue felt.

Letter winners will receive a 7-x 10-inch service certificate and may be given appropriate goal awards for teams winning conference championships.

A small "letter" monogram with reverse colors may be awarded to women who distinguish themselves in athletics.

The lettermen's jacket, being introduced this year, is to be of waist-length; have a snap fastener; be ingrey wool with blue knitted collar, cuffs and waist band. A four-inch monogram letter will be worn on the jacket. No other emblem or insignia is to be worn on the jacket.

Knights Drop Fliers; Lose to San Bernardino At Chaffey Tourney

The advance of the Gray Knights of S.D.J.C. was brought to an abrupt end Friday, December 16 when they fell before the San Bernardino J. C. quintet by the score of 47-38 in the second round of the Chaffey Invitational Basketball tourney.

San Diego was paced by the versatile Sid Franklin who hit the webbing for a total of 17 points and turned in an excellent defensive game along with Jerry Dahms and Tony Vasquez.

Defeat Santa Ana

The day before the Knights swept past a strong Santa Ana squad in the first round of the tourney by the count of 46-39. The Knollmen led throughout the contest although that lead was very slim until the last quarter. Jerry Dahms paced the scoring by netting 16 points and controlled the backboards most of the afternoon. Sid Franklin and Ben Cendali also helped in the scoring parade with nine and eight apiece.

Drop Fliers

Two weeks ago S.D.J.C. cagers dropped the Fleet Air Fliers from the undefeated ranks by the score of 55 to 52. The Fliers had won 12 straight before falling before San Diego.

The game was evenly fought throughout with the Knights pulling away with only a few minutes to play. The score was tied 24 all at half time.

Hardwood Games Scheduled Soon

The following Intramural basketball games are to be played during the next two weeks as announced by Coach Ed Ruffa. The intramural program was devised to bring sports to all of the student body of San Diego Junior college.

The games are to be played before a regularly varsity scheduled game and on Thursday during period four.

Coach Clarkson's boys have looked mighty good lately! San Diego's J.C. "swishing five" have snapped out of their shooting lethargy and have made a notable entrance in the Metropolitan cage league.

El Camino J.C. was the first to feel the sting of the rejuvenated, albeit crippled, Knight quintet, as the local heroes score in an overtime thriller last Saturday night in the San Diego High gym.

Jerry Dahms, gigantic, burly pivot-man for the Knights, hooked in 23 points to lead the scoring parade, while his teammates contributed an outstanding display of ball-hawking and backboard control.

Knight guard Tony Vasquez, however, almost threw the game away with one of his infrequent outbursts. With 20 seconds to go and El Camino 3 points behind, a technical foul was called against Tony for rashly questioning the decision of an official. The shot was

Two rapid field-goals by Dahms put the Knights out in front to stay, and from that point S.D.J.C. literally "had the game in the burlap bag."

The athletic spotlight shone bright on upwards of 35 students, last Thursday, when members of the Cross Country team and the Metropolitan Championship football team trekked to the center of Russ auditorium stage to receive the coveted "SD" of San Diego Junior College.

Chuck Bateman and Pete Frelinger led the assemblage in a few yells, and music was provided by Fred Labrincha's combo.

Photographs

Hey, students! Do you have any snapshots that might be used in the Legend? The Legend would like to gather a lot of interesting snapshots pertaining to students and their activities, and these will be utilized in preparing snapshot pages of almost solid pictures.

Everybody participates in some sport, goes to the mountains or the beach, meets with friends, one or more of whom has a camera, or on occasion students get together and deliberately try to take humorous photographs.

If these are of students of SDJC, then you have snaps that might be just the thing for use in the yearbook this year. Give pictures for The Legend to one of the staff members or leave them in the Legend office, office F.

Classification tests for A. A. Center students will be given in room 300, the high school library, Saturday, February 5. Students who are not certain that they have taken the tests should check with Mr. Alfred W. Nall in the counselors office. All those who have not, must make plans to do so as no credit for courses can be given until the results of those tests are on record, Mr. Nall said. There will be no exceptions!

Bob Lanser Garners Unanimous Vote

With election for Spring ASB offices over, and the votes totaled, Bob Lanser has been named new student body president at the Business and Technical Center. Bob Lanser won the position of president on a white ballot.

The ASB officers for next semester at B&T will be as follows: Bob Lanser, president; Charles Merriam, vice-president; Dolowries Towne, secretary; and Al Raymond, treasurer.

The majority of the positions were acquired with ease on the part of the victor, but a special run-off vote had to be held to determine the new treasurer. The run-off for treasurer was between Alan Raymond, Pat Noret, and Gerald Fair.

Faculties from All Centers Hear Report

The faculties of the three Junior College centers held their second meeting Wednesday evening, January 19, in the school cafeteria.

Dr. John Aseltine, director of J. C. activities, presided as chairman of the evening's activities which consisted of a dinner, entertainment, and reports from representatives of the various centers.

Reports were given by: Dean Robert F. Heilbron, who spoke on the A.A.&S. center; Mrs. Lois DeFranco, representing the Evening J.C.; and Dr. Ralph Daillard, deputy superintendent of San Diego City Schools, who gave an overall picture of the Junior College.

Arrangements for the preparation of the dinner were under the direction of Mrs. DeFranco, counselor of the Evening Center and Miss Ruth Munsell, dean of women. Decorations were supervised by Mr. Ralph Vernaccia.

Arthur Avery, music instructor, and his string quartet provided the musical part of the evening's entertainment.

New Student Officers Assume A. S. B. Duties

Service Awards Will Be Received At Special Assembly

Members of the Associated Student Body of the three centers will receive awards for outstanding contributions they have made while serving their particular center in a special award assembly to be given on Thursday, February 3, at 11:00.

Dr. John Aseltine, principal of the San Diego Junior College, will introduce Mr. Paul E. Klein, principal of the Evening Junior College. Mr. Klein will introduce Warren McCament, ASB president of that center and overall president of the three centers, who will make the special awards to the deserving people of the evening school.

Mr. Walter L. Thatcher, principal of the B&T center, will then turn the assembly over to Bud Preibisius, president of that center's ASB, and Bud will give out the special honors to those who merit awards from that school. Bud, as outgoing president, will also install next semester's prexy, Bob Lauser.

The proceedings will then come home as Dean Robert E. Heilbron presents Mrs. Frances Archibald, assistant to the Dean of Women, and she, in turn, will give the assembly to Kenny Gautereaux, ASB president of the Applied Arts and Science center.

Gautereaux, outgoing president, will make the special awards to students of this center and then turn the gavel over to Bob Kerner, incoming head of the ASB.

Following this, overall service awards will be given to deserving students by the San Diego Junior College Student Body President, Warren McCament.

Locker Cleaning Nears; Sign Up or Clear Out

If you are crowded into a locker where books are constantly falling on your head, or if you have no locker, now is your chance to remedy this situation.

Lockers must be signed for, or cleared out by February 4. The limit is three persons to a small locker, four to a large locker. If, at the time of the deadline set, lockers are not signed for, or cleared out, and locks taken off, the janitor will have to cut off remaining locks.

From sore jaws, caused by campaign bubble gum, to red-hot handbills, the sixth semi-annual San Diego Junior College Applied Arts and Science center elections came to a close with Bob Kerner elected by a majority vote as student body president.

Bob won over Leon Burton, who is completing his term in office as present ASB vice-president.

Other Associated Student body officers elected by a majority vote were: Al Dahms, vice-president; Mickey Chappell, secretary; and Jim Hinds, treasurer.

A hot and heavy war is being fought for the office of men's representative between Don Hadley and "Jumping" Joe Page. At the time of the Jay Sees' deadline, another run-off was being contemplated.

Not to be out-done by the ASB, the Associated Women students elected their third group of officers. Gloria Valenzuela was elected president, with Mary Gahagan as a very close second. Irene Soboll is vice-president; Katherine Palmus, secretary; and Marguerite Malzahn, treasurer.

Squires Elect Initial Officers

The Squires, official clearing board for all student activities, held their second meeting Friday to nominate officers and to discuss plans for assisting with the orientation of incoming freshmen. Students to be voted on in this week's election are: president, Glen Dollahon, Ben Leshner, Jo Ann Foltz and Tommy Monahan; vice-president, Bob Halverson, Bill Barnes, Ed Fletcher and Frankie Culp; secretary, Mary Seidemann, De Vee Prucha, Marilyn Amick and Rita Branford; treasurer, Cora Guldemond, Edith Hunt and Carmen Rath; sergeant-at-arms, Jesse Thompson, Manuel George and Bob Shultz.

The Squire's badge of identification, a royal blue crew hat, with S.D.J.C. Squires lettered in gray, was shown to the members. Only Squire's members are entitled to purchase the hat which will be available soon at the bookstore.

Membership in the Squires is open to all A.S.B. students. Those interested should contact Mr. Robert Winters, sponsor.

JAY SEES EDITOR BIDS TOP CHAIR LUCK AS SPRING STAFF SELECTED

Well, my term as editor of The Jay Sees is just about up and I'd like to take advantage of this issue to thank my staff for their continuous efforts in putting out this paper. They have been a big help and I can sincerely say that I have had loads of fun just working with them.

First of all on my thank-you list is Tommy Monahan, our sports editor. Tommy has done a grand job and we can expect to see him back on the job next semester. Next I might as well put Manuel Armendariz, his able assistant, (popular?) for his witty pranks in the J S office.

To Gene Eaton, my feature editor, who will step into my place following this edition. Gene has been my slave and headline writer throughout the past semester. Well, here comes Lois Mitchell, social club editor, she has done a grand job also in third-page makeup and Barbara Baker who assisted me as news editor. I can't forget Bill Jirsa, Dave Gamble, De Vee Prucha, and Dick McCurdy who did their part in covering assigned beats and their assistance to the editors. And I certainly can't leave out Journalism 80 class members who contributed many articles in their field work as beginning journalists.

But there is really one person who helped me out of my trials and tribulations. None other than our favorite advisor, Mrs. Heryet. To her goes my best of thanks. To sum it all up, I really enjoyed the role of editor and I want to congratulate the Spring staff and wish them luck.

Brother, You Can Spare A Dime

There is a song that is sung quite often, and it goes like this: "As you walk . . . as you talk . . . do you know how lucky you are?" How many college students ever stop to think what these words really mean? When one of our football players is running down the field for a touchdown, does he ever think how fortunate he is to be able to run? When some of us try to think of an excuse to ditch P.E., how many think how lucky they are to have a healthy body. When a student rushes up the stairs it probably never enters his mind how lucky he is to climb without the aid of crutches.

You may feel quite fortunate today, but tomorrow your luck might run out. If polio doesn't strike you it might hit one of your buddies; when polio attacks it doesn't necessarily affect the poor or the rich, the weak or the strong, or the colored or the white. No, poliomyelitis is not particular who it strikes, and there is no limit of age.

Polio means tragedy to those it does strike but there is added tragedy when the proper treatment cannot be administered because of the lack of funds. Infantile paralysis is one of the most expensive illnesses to treat because of long hospitalization, medicine, and almost endless treatments.

Treatments of the best kind are being administered today for polio victims but there is more research to be done and all this takes money and more money. So, come on J C'ers, let's give to the MARCH OF DIMES. It doesn't have to be a lot of money—pennies, nickels, and dimes, all add up to help your brother or sister or the guy that sits behind you in English . . . or even you . . . should one of us be stricken.

Various Marriage Problems Discussed In Student Panel

On Monday, January 24, in the regular assembly period, the marriage and family classes presented, under the supervision of Miss G. L. Dustin, a panel on "Are We Ready for Marriage?" Ben Leshar acted as moderator for the group.

The moderator first gave a summary of a program drawn up as the results of the Conference on the Youth Program.

Following this was the introduction of members of the panel. The first speaker of the day was Ed Fletcher who talked on, "How a Course in Marriage and Family Helped Me, An Average Student."

In this, he recommended the course, Marriage and the Family, and said that all those interested should see Miss Dustin, class instructor.

Paul Stanton spoke on the question of "How to Choose a Mate," followed by John Catsimehas who discussed the subject, "Petting Guides." Bob Kerner then gave his views on "How Drinking Affects Marriage and the Family." This was followed by Mrs. Helen Garret and "What a Course in Marriage and Family Means to Me as a Wife and Mother."

During the question period that followed, students were allowed to participate in the panel by means of written questions which were collected by Squire members who acted as ushers. The moderator then asked the panel members questions pertaining to their subjects. A summary was given by Dr. Christopher W. Hartsough,, Psychiatrist in the San Diego City

Vocational Help Given Non-Vets

Are you non-veterans having trouble deciding what job you are best suited for. Beginning in February, the Veterans Guidance Center will open its counseling service to any non-veterans who are attending the vocational school and the B and T centers of the Junior College.

This service, which will consist of a battery of mental ability, mechanical aptitude and other tests will take from six to nine hours to complete, after which an advisor will assist the student by explaining the results of the tests. The entire cost will be $6.00 and the remainder of the $25.00 (the average cost to the V. A. for each person tested), will be paid by the vocational school. If the program is successful, it will be extended to other schools in the city.

This does not mean that vocational guidance for veterans is over. Veterans still will receive guidance absolutely free of charge.

The center has a large selection of pamphlets, government bulletins and college catalogues to help the counselors answer questions on job opportunities in certain fields, wages and many other important facts.

It must be remembered, however, that all that the counselor can do is suggest what to do. Making the decision remains with the student.

Evening J. C. Principal Undergoes Operation

Mr. Paul E. Klein, principal of the Evening Junior College, will be missed by the students and faculty for a few weeks. He has had a minor operation, after having been ill for several weeks before Christmas.

New Courses at Evening Center

The Evening Center has added a new course for next semester. It will consist of a class in magazine writing.

Mr. William Bruner, an instructor from State College and a professional writer, will teach the course.

For those interested in the new course, it will appear under the numerical designation of English 85.

Dr. Hartsough is very much interested in the advancement of the ideas of modern youth and in their ideas pertaining to sex, as in contrast to the backward views of the college youth in his school days.

Mr. Nevil Wiley, Director of San Diego Family Service Association,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Students of San Diego Junior College:

I would like to take this time to express my deep appreciation to all of the students and faculty members that assisted me in my campaign for office. And most of all I wish to thank you, the students of this college, for your support at the polls. I hope only that I may live up to the expectations which have been set before me. I would also like to thank you for the excellent officers that were elected with me. I am sure that we can do justice to our positions. Our election this semester was quite a success from the point of view of building up student spirit and interest in our school politics. This, I believe, is an excellent sign of student progress and I know that this condition will continue in the future.

Now that the election is over the work must begin. We have wasted no time in preparation for the next semester. In fact we have already undertaken the task of selecting our new commissioners. Our new semester will probably be the beginning of a new era in our school government. By that, I mean we shall put forth our greatest effort to obtain a "real" student government for "all." However, we can not accomplish this goal unless we have the complete support of the entire student body. I feel confident that this coming semester will prove that we, the students, are capable of carrying on our own activities.

Sincerely,
 BOB KERNER

Two Swimming Classes Open to Women

Two women's swimming classes, for both beginning and advanced students, are offered junior college students who wish to enroll. The schedule of the classes have been changed to the sixth and seventh periods Tuesdays and Thursdays at the YWCA.

The course includes instruction in elementary backstroke, back-crawl, the sidestroke, and the front-crawl. A device used to improve the rhythm of the strokes is that of playing music for those learning the front-crawl. This device also adds to the interest.

One student swimmer, Cleo Needham, is the winner of the "Down the Mississippi" swimming contest, which was held last year at The San Diego Club.

Shirley Bales, who also enrolled in women's swimming, won acclaim as a rhythm swimmer with the Delong twins. Shirley has helped, also, in instructing beginning students.

Other students enrolled in the course are Barbara Baker, Mary Jo Beldon, Marjorie Kuolt, Emily Eaton, Betty Baer, and Eloise Jarckie.

College Publication Seeks Journalists

Calling all newspaper writers! Fire on Fifth avenue and "C," please cover!

On-the-spot reporters who feel themselves competent and are interested in becoming a member of the Jay Sees staff should plan to include Journalism 80 in their curriculum next semester.

The course will provide actual practice in news-gathering and news-writing for the college newspaper, the Jay Sees.

English 10 is prerequisite to Journalism 80, and the latter will provide the students with eligibility for a staff position next year.

Art Class Handles Valuable School Work

One of the most serviceable organizations for the A.A.&S. and B&T centers is the B&T art class, under the direction of Mr. Eli Karpel.

Working in an unofficial capacity, members of this class have publicized activities for the A.A.&S. and B&T centers. Some of the work accomplished includes numerous posters for assemblies, Homecoming, the Snow Flake Ball, the B&T Christmas dance, the Football, past elections and signs for the bulletin boards.

The class is now engaged in art and publicity work for the Legend.

Bowlers Start Drive To Enlarge Membership

The Bowling club of San Diego Junior College has suspended operations for the time being, according to the sponsor, Mr. W. L. Gier. With the beginning of the second semester, the Bowling club plans to hold a drive to subscribe new members.

All students in the three centers and night school are eligible for admittance to the club. Come on, all you followers of the hardwood alleys, for a bigger and better Bowling club in '49. Join Now.

GENE EATON, feature editor for THE JAY SEES, accepts the editorship for the next semester from BASIL GALATIS, whose term as editor for this past semester ends with this issue of the JAY SEES. Gene was elected by the staff and Journalism 80 students to serve in this capacity. He will not name staff positions until the first edition next semester. In this way new students may become acquainted with the assistant editors.

Knights Engage E. L. A. Globe Trotters Next

San Diego Junior College's fighting basketball quintet this weekend faces East Los Angeles Huskies in an important Metropolitan Conference tussle. The Knights, supporting a record of two wins and one loss for conference games so far, will be shooting for their third victory and leadership in the Metro conference standings.

A week from Saturday the famed Harlem Globetrotters come to town to play havoc with Coach Don Clarkson's boys. The "Clowns" will put on quite a show for the public as well as provide some spectacular shooting.

In two weeks the Knights hit the road, playing El Camino February 11, and Glendale February 12. Both games will be played on their respective home courts.

Engineer's Club Accepts New Laws

Speed was the watchword at a recent meeting of the Engineers' club. The new Constitution and By-laws were approved, a petition for the new charter signed, and officers for the coming semester elected.

The new Constitution and By-laws were drawn up by Seth Johnson, Jack Fife, and Mr. Robert Winters, sponsor, and signed by all charter members along with the petition for a charter.

New officers elected for the coming semester were: Basil Galatis, president; Elario Hernandez, vice-president; Harold Smart, secretary; Ricardo Souess, treasurer; Saul Madrano, sergeant-at-arms.

A luncheon meeting will be held today at noon to allow members to become better acquainted.

18 TO GRADUATE

When the semester ends February 4, eighteen people will have completed the requirements for the Associate of Arts degree.

Of the eighteen, only two are women students.

Those eligible are: George Ardaiz, James Barker, Louis Coleman, William English, Fred Fiet, Syd Franklin, Kenny Gautereaux, and Bill Geistweit.

Also Margaret Doll, Karl Goodwalt, Gene Grainger, Larry Gritz, Jay Montague, Paul Querin, Edward Rustvold, Robert Swanson, Lois Mitchell, and Byron Ward.

Kenny Gautereaux Will Head For Montezuma Mesa

Of the many students graduating in February, one in particular which we will all miss is the amiable young man sometimes referred to as Kenneth Gautereaux.

KENNY

Kenny started life in National City, and it was there that he completed his elementary and high school education. At Sweetwater High, Kenny was active in student government and the local chapter of the Hi-Y. He was also quarterback of the Red Devils.

Like many students attending J.C. Kenny found himself in good standing with his neighbors and they obliged him with a greeting from Uncle Sugar that sent him to the Army Air Cadet School at Amarillo.

There he continued his studies and played football for an Air Force team. He was returned for service in the Army Ground Forces after a leg was broken in a football game. As a sergeant in the Transport Corps he also coached a WAC softball team to a championship.

Returning from the service in '47 he entered San Diego Junior College. His main interests lie in the fields of education. Kenny will continue at State College where he plans to obtain administrative credentials for an elementary school principalship. He has gained much in experience through his duties as a recreation director for youngsters in the South Bay area. And, too, his service here has not detracted from his reputation as a sincere, conscientious worker.

Probably a great deal of Kenny's success should be attributed to his wife, Betty, who is herself a junior at State, and the mother of his four-month-old boy. She, too, is majoring in education.

Kenny closed our interview with a sincere wish that J.C. will continue its successful ways and the hope that bigger and better programs of a varied nature will be produced in an effort to bring the students closer together.

Sports Problems, Ideas to be Aired

The Women's Recreation association of San Diego Junior College will be represented at a convention at Dominican College, San Rafael, California, February 11 and 12. The convention is part of the Conference of California Athletic Federation of College Women.

Any California college or university WAA or WRA may attend the conference providing they are members of the National Athletic Federation of College Women and of the California AFCW.

The purpose of the convention is to give women of the various colleges and universities an opportunity to discuss their problems and obtain ideas from women in other WAA's in California.

The San Diego Junior College representative of the WRA will be chosen by Miss B. Walters. A student who has shown considerable interest in the WRA by assisting from time to time will be considered for the appointment.

Toastmistress Prexy Competes for Degree

One of the students leaving J.C. this semester with a brand-new A.A. degree will be Lois Mitchell.

LOIS

Since graduating from San Diego High, she has spent a busy two years as a "College gal." Lois has been social club editor of the Jay Sees this semester. Besides reporting the social news, she has made some herself as president of Toastmistress. On the cultural side, she attends most of the events at Russ auditorium, where she serves in the capacity of head usher.

While at J.C. she has majored in pre-nursing, which would lead one to believe that she inclines toward a career as a nurse.

Says Lois, "Besides my studies, I've really had a terrific time and I'd like to thank all those who gave me news to help me produce my column."

German Club Has Dinner

The German club will journey to Alpine Village February 2 for its annual banquet. There will be a musical background while German food is being served.

Wives and dates of the members will also attend.

The German club has formed its Constitution and its By-Laws which were read to members of the club at their last meeting.

Social Dance Group

Twenty women students are needed to enroll in the Social and Group Dancing course, to be held the third period Tuesdays and Thursdays, reports Miss Betty Paxton, instructor.

J. C. Spring Sports To Make Appearance

By HOWARD COHEN

With the Metropolitan Conference football championship neatly stowed away, and the improving Knight cagers in the midst of a struggle for first place, the junior college athletic thoughts will soon be turning to the spring sports of baseball, track, swimming, tennis, and golf.

The baseball outlook for the coming season looks bright, and the Knight "sluggers," in tending to keep up the junior college's recent athletic prowess, should have a successful season. The coaching chores will be handled by coaches Don Clarkson and Les Cassie; the latter recently acquired from Hoover High School.

Since Pete Corona, last year's most valuable player; Gene Roberts, who compiled the team's highest batting average in league play; Bob Lamp, Don Hadley, and Frank Rangel are returning for another season, and such former prep stars as Johnny Verduco, Bill Paul, Amerigo Dini, Andy Stagnaro, Ray Irving, Joe Brown, Rudy Ortiz, Ken McCoy, Bud Templeton, Ralph Carpenter, and Jack Graham will round out the roster, the Knight's will be well represented in conference play. At the present time the team is working out and playing winter league ball. League play begins on March 25 at East Los Angeles.

Turning to track, a sport that the S.D.J.C. spikesters fared well in last season, the outlook again looks bright. The loss of Bob Sieben, one of the nation's best junior college quarter milers; Ivan Robinson, and Leo Heaton will be felt, but with returning lettermen Don Crie, Metropolitan Conference cross country champion; Tom Esparza, tireless two miler; "Jumping" Joe Page, springy legged high jumper; Gene Sieben, hurdler; and Dick Straub, dash man; the deficit should be taken care of.

A large turnout is expected out of the student body, including Harry West, Cosmo Cutri, Wayne Kellio, Jack Crum, and Duane Close, all good trackmen in their high school days. Coach Ed Ruffa, who is calling for all students interested to sign up for track, expects practice to start in the very near future. The first meet is the Southern California Junior College Relays at Santa Monica on Saturday, March 26.

The tennis team will be entered in league play, and travel with the baseball team following the same schedule.

The golf and swimming teams will not be in the Metropolitan Conference, but they will compete in the conference championships at the season's end.

Knight Gridders Capture Late Honors

San Diego Junior College's 1948 football season is history now, but in looking over that splendid year for the Knights, otherwise known as the Metropolitan Conference champs, we find that a great deal of Coach Bailey's performers made different all-star aggregations—an indication of the greatness of the team.

The All-Metropolitan J. C. Conference squad, for example, was dominated by five Knight players. The first team consists of:

- End—Ernie Smith (San Diego)
- End—Neil Robertson (East L.A.)
- Tackle—Gene Edwards (San Diego)
- Tackle—Charles Whitney (Bakersfield)
- Guard—Jerry Beaver (Bakersfield)
- Guard—Bob Conklin (San Diego)
- Center—Nick Sadd (East L.A.)
- Back—Cosimo Cutri (San Diego)
- Back—Jesse Thompson (San Diego)

- Back—Frank Gifford (Bakersfield)
- Back—Dave Butler (East L.A.)
- Blocking back—Dick Contreras (El Camino).

John Mehas, center for the San Diegans, made the second team.

On the All-Metropolitan Conference Opponents Football squad, four Knightmen secured positions. The list included:

- End—Ernie Smith (San Diego)
- End—Mel McClanahan (Bakersfield)
- Tackle—Chuck Whitney (Bakersfield)
- Tackle—Jerry Dahms (San Diego)
- Guard—Bob Beavers (Bakersfield)
- Guard—Don Tallman (Santa Monica)
- Center—Ellsworth Putnam (El Camino)
- Back—Cosimo Cutri (San Diego)
- Back—Jesse Thompson (San Diego)
- Back—Frank Gifford (Bakersfield)
- Back—David Butler (East L.A.)

Two men of the Bill Bailey coached Knights made the All-Southern California Football aggregation. On the roster were such greats as:

- End—Ernie Smith (San Diego)
- End—Dick Salter (John Muir)
- Tackle—Jerry Bell (Chaffey)
- Tackle—Jay Burgess (Santa Ana)
- Guard—Carl DeSalvo (Glendale)
- Guard—Pat Cannamela (Ventura)
- Center—George Morgan (Long Beach)
- Back—Hugh McElhenny (Compton)
- Back—Bill Fell (Compton)
- Back—Johnny Fouch (Santa Ana)
- Back—Cosimo Cutri (San Diego)
- Blocking back—Frank Merrick (Chaffey).

Jess Thompson was named to the second team as quarterback and tackle Gene Edwards was picked on the third-string of the same team.

To top all the selections was the announcement that Bob Conklin, rugged guard on the S.D.J.C. "11,"

Riverside Downs JC at Foul Lines

By Tommy Monahan

It must have been an off night for the two officials at the San Diego J.C.-Riverside game Saturday night. Riverside copped the game, 47-42 and their winning points came at the free throw line as the referee and umpire called fouls high wide and handsome.

The highly-touted Riverside team employed a two-man defense against big Jerry Dahms to hold him in check during the evening.

The whistle happy "ref" and his partner "in law" was the big factor in deciding the game along with Riverside's big 6'6" center, Voochiers, and a 6'3" guard, Wagner, as they managed to hold Dahms.

But it was little Jesse Thompson, potting 16 points from all angles who sparked the Grey Knights. Sid Franklin dumped in ten for second high for the Knights. With about two minutes to play San Diego pulled ahead 42-40 as Thompson swished one from the corner.

Then things began to happen and the Knights went into a lapse, as in the Santa Monica game, and with about 50 seconds to go found themselves five points behind which turned out to be the winning margin.

The game started out like a house afire, including the ref's whistle, and after ten minutes had elapsed Thompson had four fouls. Cendali, who fouled out mid-way in the second half, three, Dahms, three, Vazquez, three, and Franklin, two.

Contrasting to the bad floor game turned in by the two blind mice, was the ball hawking and defensive play of "Long" Tom Sutton, "Jumpin'" Jesse Thompson, and "Bounding" Ben Cendali.

Dahms Dunks 26; Leads Knights to Win

By Manuel Y. Armendariz

Swish, swish, swish!!!
 Ho hum, Jerry Dahms goes wild again. San Diego Junior College's hot center led his team to a smashing 65-46 victory over Bakersfield J.C. last Friday night in San Diego.

"Dazzling" Dahms set the hot on fire with 26 points, thus giving him an over-all average of 22 markers per league game. Jerry's scintillating piece of work entitled him to the top rung in the Metropolitan Conference scoring.

Coach Clarkson dispatched his Knight reserves onto the maple floor and they too, played as brilliantly as did the starting five.

TONY VASQUEZ Intramural Program Advancing Rapidly

The intramural sports program at San Diego Junior college is rapidly advancing into heights where it is becoming a major attraction to the Grey Knight's student body.

Not enough credit can be given to athletic director Coach Ed Ruffa and his small band of workers for their unceasing efforts.

The latest results show that the strong Kappa Phi Alpha, pre-season favorite of the tourney, has advanced into the quarter finals by beating the Sigma Tau Rho's 32-19 last Saturday night. Other results show that Manuel Armendariz's and Don Thomas' strong independent team, the "Jesters," smashed the Iota Theta Phi's 38-12 and Alpha Deltas whitewashed the Rho Deltas 33-26, but later were declared the winners by forfeit.

Games scheduled for the next two weeks are as follows: today at 11:30—Phi Tau Epsilon vs. Buddy Douglas's team; Saturday, January 29—Sigma Tau Rho engages the Alpha Deltas; and on February 3, the loser of this afternoon's brawl plays "The Jesters" at 11:30.

It can be said with perfect honesty, that these boys deserved every bit of the honors.

New York Critics Award Play Slated for April 7, 8

Through the miracle of motion pictures, San Diegans were able to get a preview, last week, of the next play at San Diego Junior college, scheduled for early April.

The play, "Winterset," by Maxwell Anderson, based on the famous Sacco-Vanzetti case—had a successful run-in New York when it opened. The plot revolves about Mio Romagna (Bob Moore) who is sentenced to death for a murder he did not commit. His quest for information, which might lead to a new trial, brings him to a slum section of New York. Here the play opens. He is looking for Garth Esdras (Leon Burton), who drove the murder car, but who was never presented as a witness in the trial.

Under a gigantic bridge span where the family lives, he meets Miriamne (Jean Patterson), while he is talking to his traveling companion, Carr (Jim Hinds). Also figuring chiefly in the plot are Trock Esterla (Dave Herold), the actual murderer, who has just been released from prison with six months to live, and his henchman, Shadow (Clarence Downs).

Other principal characters are Esdras (Chuck Bateman), a kindly rabbi and father of Garth and Miriamne, and Judge Gaunt (Dick McCurdy), the judge at the murder trial, who has had a mental relapse, and wanders about the streets trying to convince people that his judgment was a just one.

All of these characters ultimately arrive in the shabby Esdras apartment, creating suspense and excellent psychological drama.

Broadside Staff Named by Chief

Spring staff positions for The Jay Sees have been appointed by Gene Eaton, newly elected editor for this student publication.

Assisting Gene on the paper will be Tommy Monahan, associate editor; Dick McCurdy, feature editor; Glen Dollahon, make-up editor; DeVee Prucha, social club editor; Jim Hinds, news editor; and Madelon McGowan, exchange editor.

Handling sports this semester will be Manual Armandariz, as sports editor and his able reporter Howard Cohen.

Others aiding on runs and reporting for the semester on The Jay Sees are students from Journalism 80 class in their field work as beginning journalists.

Delegate Returns As Athletic Parley Draws to An End

Promotion of intra-mural women's athletics was the topic under discussion at the WAA convention held at San Rafael February 11, 12.

"Such a program is in the making at San Diego Junior college," stated Jaloise Taylor who, with Birdena Walters, represented this school at the conference.

"At present there are only 16 members in the WAA," continued Miss Taylor, "but it is hoped that the enrollment will increase in the near future."

The WAA sports this semester are basketball and softball. Anyone interested can sign in the women's gymnasium.

Barbara Baker Named Editor of Legend; Merriam and Seidelmann Will Assist

The San Diego Junior College yearbook is underway. The staff, with editor-in-chief Barbara Baker, at the helm has set a deadline and through their meetings have put together a "dummy." Associate editor Chuck Merriam and assistant editor Mary Seidelmann have set February 25th as the makeup deadline.

Feature editor Jack Hott and assistant Gloria Valenzuela are gathering the information for the Legend that would come under the fun and frolic department. While art editor Marilyn Amick and her assistant Tom Esparza are assembling photographs and cartoons for presentation on the glossy pages of the second annual yearbook.

Richard Savoy and Alfonso Caudillo will be collecting the records of JC's athletic prowess. Photographs of individual stars and teams will appear alongside the record of athletic feats.

One of the most important positions, that of society editor, will be held down by Mickey Chappell and Corky Guldeman. Probably no other section, excepting sports draws more attention than the society pages of a college yearbook. In that section will be the names of officers and members of social and service clubs.

The business end of the staff will be made up of Bob Halverson who will be acting as business manager. Chuck Bateman will be out publicizing the necessity of owning a Legend as a reference to your happy college days. And Ernestine Williams will be wearing the gray hair that every circulation manager seems to acquire from worry. But this looks like the year that the only people who will worry will be those who have no ASB cards for obtaining the "1949 Legend."

Pre-Aviation Course Offered

Evening Center Pre-Aviation Cadet Program

Proof that Junior College is growing up is shown by the Evening Center's newly-established Aviation Cadet program. This course, which requires fourteen weeks extensive study meeting four hours a week, prepares students for pre-aviation cadet examinations, by covering mathematics, history, physics, geography, English, and navigation.

The tremendous enthusiasm shown concerning this course may be due, in part, to the fact that upon satisfactory completion of the examinations, the students will be ready for further training under the auspices of the Army Air Corps.

On behalf of the faculty may I welcome to San Diego Junior college the new students who have joined us this semester. Let us all work and plan to realize the high goals which have brought us together. May youthful vision and sincerity compensate for what we lack in mossy tradition. Good luck! ROBERT F. HELLBRON, A.S.B. Adviser.

LAST CHANCE FOR TESTS

The San Diego Junior College Classification Test will be given Saturday, February 19, in room 112 for the benefit of those students who failed to take the test Feb. 5th. Mr. Alfred Nall, in charge of all counselors, stated that students are not officially registered unless they have taken the test. If fourth semester students are planning on graduation in June they should check with the registrar and be certain that they have taken the test and are officially registered.

Student Efforts Lauded In Annual Award Assembly

Thirty-seven students received acknowledgements for their participation in student affairs on the stage of Russ auditorium, February 3, in the semi-annual honor award assembly.

Dr. John Aseltine, director of the Junior College, opened the program and introduced the presidents of the applied arts, business and technical, and evening centers, who in turn presented the awards to the men and women of their respective centers.

Those receiving awards from the applied arts center are: Kenneth Gauteraux, Leon Burton, Barbara Baker, Robert Meyer, Mickey Chappell, Glen Dollahon, Margaret

Class Multiplies By Division

The title of the Speech Arts 76 course has been changed from Radio Script Writing to Writing Workshop.

The class has been divided into two courses. One part will be the regular radio script writing class and the other a course of creative writing, forms of short stories, and poems. The latter course will be conducted on an individual basis.

The radio script writing course is open to students who have interests in the radio field and who have received permission from Miss Lorraine Loundberg, instructor to take the course. During the course students will be required to write short stories, original plots, continuity writing, commercials, and a 15-minute script which will be produced by the radio production class.

Senior Class Meets Today

The Spring graduating class of San Diego Junior College will hold its first meeting today at 11:30 in Room 234T.

Mr. Jack Salyers, chemistry teacher, who was chosen Senior class sponsor last year, has called the meeting for the purpose of organizing all fourth semester students and placing them on senior status.

Business before the group will consist of electing a sponsor, selected from the faculty, and the election of senior class officers.

Class activities for June graduates will include baccalaureate services, a picnic, a graduation ball, and other activities that the class may plan.

Today is the day! Not an assembly, but a show. Yes, that is what you will see today at 10:30, an epic extravaganza of music, comedy, and dancing. A show that is original, packed with action, and laughs.

The Associated Students in conjunction with the Squires present a pre-vue of the coming semester entitled "Gold Rush Days," starring such stellar stage and radio actors as "Clancy & Halvorsen." Along with those two famous comedians you will see Ed Fletcher, Rockne Scholtz, and Joe Galindo. These performers known as the "Titanic Trio" will be there to give you an idea of what State College students miss by not attending SDSC.

And for those who want to see what the beaches will be like while some of us are attending "lab" classes, lifeguard Harry Wixler will be there to save bathing beauty Ann Downing, from what we don't know, but we would help.

In case you get confused by this "Olson & Johnson" circus you are going to see, Bob Crawford and Charley Potts attempt to alleviate the confusion.

The fall class of '49 will hear the yells, new ones too, that every Knight and Squire will be yelling at our football games. Plue, not one, not two, but three gorgeous song leaders to lead you in singing three new songs, Betty enderson, Jo Ann Foltz, and Shirley Thiverge.

The AA&S student body council announces the selection of commissioners for the Spring semester of 1949. They are, Mary Brychel, publicity; Basil Galatis, publications; Dick McCurdy, special events; Walter E. Moore, elections; Pete Corona, men's athletics; Ed Fletcher, pep and ceremony; Chuck Bateman, assemblies; Dot Klaus, women's athletics; Mary Gahagen, records; Chuck Potts, inter-service club; Bob Bega, inter-social club; and Jimmy Chilton, freshman president. These students will be introduced at the "Gold Rush Days" assembly today.

In the legitimate end of the theater you will see Joe McTague, who played the title role of "Abe Lincoln in Mexico," as Dean Robert Heilborn. He will be ably assisted by a narrator of an unknown quality.

In the ballroom dancing department Dave Allen and Marge Drinkwater along with John Beynon and Norma Enger, and O. C. Moore and Shirley Thiverge will display their graceful dance room pose before an expectant student body.

And as if that wasn't enough there will be a chorus of seventy students exercising their vocal chords as the background music for the introduction of the new ASB commissioners.

At the same time the new ASB officers of the AA&S Center will be introduced. Bob Kerner, your new president; Al Dahms, vice-prexy; Jim Hinds, treasurer; Mickey Chappell, secretary; Joe Page and Don Hadley, men's representatives; and Gloria Valenzuela, women's representative.

For a star-studded fifty minutes of enjoyment don't miss this assembly.

Everyone Talks About the Rain, No One Does Anything About It

Everyone talks about the rain, but no one does anything about it. Being an ole' southern lad ma self, I have always wanted to write a brief twenty-thousand-word novel on southern plantation tobacco share cropping. But, to this day, the only thing that I have whipped up is an eight-page term paper on what you need to know in order to teach your child about sex (if you'll pardon the expression). Even when I talked to my Physical Science teacher and he told me it wouldn't be necessary to write a term paper on "The sex life of the uranium neutron," I never gave up.

Now that I have an opportunity to write an article for Jay Sees, I shall step down from my Tijuana-gold pedestal and say a pittance about San Diego Junior College school spirit.

Here at J. C., there is no lack of school spirit, our trouble is we aren't utilizing what we have.

Individual spirit, like a drop of rain, is worthless. Only when all of these drops are combined will the results be fruitful. Only then will San Diego Junior college grow. Every student at J. C. wants it to grow, to extend its privileges and restrictions, and some day to become an independent City College; a personal college with its own buildings and campuses.

To gain this success we need only a seed, and water and activity. We have the seed. San Diego Junior college has the best in executives and instructors. As J. C. students, it is our duty to provide the rain. It is up to us to combine our personal spirits and provide the necessary food for growth.

Let us all, starting today, become active IN the school FOR the school. Let us run for the offices, vote for the officers, and have the best of officers.

And, if you didn't support the past school activities, support the coming ones. It's up to us as a group—if we want a school, let us build it now.

Poet Shows Skill Or Is It Merely Filler?

A pleasant partner is the oyster. She never has to stop to hoist her skirt up over each small hip or apply paint to her lip. She doesn't bother with her curls; Her only worries are her pearls. These gems appear her main intent, Upon them all her thoughts are bent.

t's very seldom that she roisters, except in case of little oysters. This maiden never shouts or stammers, She's quiet as the little clammers. I think that she just never could Be very fully understood.

The divers think as they are stealing pearls, this mother has no feeling! The jewel merchants, always grabby, treat this mater very shabby. She's really full of moving paths. And clean! She lives in one big bathos. With singing praises, I'm all through. She still winds up within the stew. The poem, this last line quite clinches I've fin'ly filled up my three inches.

Noted Journalists To Display Wares

Something new will be done this semester as far as the sports page is concerned.

Each issue hereafter, a prominent SDJC student will be given the chance to get into the headlines by having written about him a special sports story.

The prominent individuals will be chosen later. At the present moment, there are four reporters, besides the sports editor, who will be vitalizing the sports page.

The competent writers are widely known, their names being Tom Monahan, Glen Dollahon, Don Anderson, and Howard Cohen, all veterans of newspaper reporting.

The sports page welcomes any constructive criticism students may have to offer.

Did you ever see a successful secretary wearing bobby sox during office hours? Did you ever see a receptionist with uncombed hair? Have you ever been treated with discourtesy by a registered nurse?

The importance of good grooming, poise, manners, and clothes will be featured in a coming assembly which will take place in Russ Auditorium. The A.W.S. will present Mrs. Izatta Jewell Miller as guest speaker.

Pointers on such things as "clothes sense," use of "makeup," color harmony, and posture will be included in the talk. J.C. girls will have a chance to clear up their own problems in a question period scheduled to follow the program.

Worm Wiggles Way Through New Larnin'

What's the easiest and quickest way to find out what goes on in the library? Why, ask the man who knows, of course. Only, the man in this case happens to be a worm, bookworm, that is.

The particular worm interviewed had just gotten back from a long trip, stopping off at various new points of interest along the book shelves. These new books included:

Crusade in Europe, Eisenhower; Roosevelt and Hopkins, Sherwood; Marie the Pillar of San Ildefonso, Marriott; The South—Old and New, Simkins; Life in Shakespeare's England, Wilson; Musical Pastels, Upton; Literary England, Scherman; Modern English Novel, Cross; New College Geography, Peattie.

When asked about his health, he replied that he suffers from persistent headaches, caused no doubt by the squeaking of the library floor in a particular spot as J.C. students continually tread their way over it. However, he doesn't mind too much, as he loves company and is only too happy when the library is crowded (as it very often is).

Drop in and see him sometime. He can be found any day in a large volume of Dicken's Complete Works.

Professionals To Model For New Art Class

Students with artistic ability and ambition have the opportunity to enroll in a life drawing class now being conducted in the Evening Junior College. Three units will be given for the course, which is held each Tuesday and Thursday nights in Room 351 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The class will sketch from nude professional models who will receive their pay by having each student contribute a 30-cent fee per night. Before admittance to the course each student will be screened by Mr. Frank B. Petrich, able instructor of the course.

The future artists in the class should gain invaluable experience as Mr. Petrich has quite an interesting art background. He was born in Yugoslavia, but came to San Diego early enough to graduate from San Diego High.

An art major at USC, Mr. Petrich proved his ability by winning first honors in water colors in the Delta Phi Delta, a national art fraternity. Upon graduation he taught at Memorial Junior High and San Diego High from 1941 to 1943.

In 1943 the genial art instructor entered the navy, where he did special work in Europe till 1947. While in Europe, Mr. Petrich visited most of the art galleries in Italy and France.

Two exciting moments occurred to him while he was in Rome; his marriage in St. Peter's Church, Rome, and his audience with Pope Pius XII.

With all this behind him, Mr. Petrich has settled down to enjoy life with his wife, five-month-old daughter, and the many students of his classes at San Diego High and Junior College.

Sagaciously Speaking

By Dee Vee

With cramming for finals and the long treks to the bookstore, things of the horrible past, the social boat of S.D.J.C. was launched by the Phi Alpha's third annual Heart's Hop, held last Saturday at the Thursday Club.

A floor show consisting of Jack McClellan's singing and Pat Buono's dancing and his show stopping imitation of Al Jolson, was concluded with Master of Ceremonies Chuck Bate-man crowning Carol Jackson as Queen and Rockne Schultz as King. Carol received a gardenia crown and a silver heart-shaped bracelet and Rockne was presented with a gold key chain.

their bi-annual dinner dance February 4 at Casper's El Rancho. Pat Laxson, Morgan Jenks; O. C. Moore, Mary Buh; Betty Lumely, Bob Lanser; Chuck Miriam, Ruth Cox, were some of the couples attending.

The Rho Delta's new officers were initiated at their Founder's Day Dinner last Saturday.

New steadies on campus are: Mary Sykes and Bob Batten; Virginia Ayres and Tony Vasquez.

Toastmistress Club Elects New Leaders

The newly-elected officers of the Toastmistress club were installed and presented to the group Wednesday, at 7 p.m., February 16, in bungalow 1.

Officers for the coming semester are: Marguerite Malzahn, president; Dorothea Mulligan, vice-president; Ruby Turner, treasurer; and Marguerite Johnson, program chairman.

AS I SEE IT

by McCurdy

The only disappointing thing about the Margaret Webster productions of Hamlet and Macbeth, last week, was the lack of an audience.

The costumes (those for Macbeth, lent by Maurice Evans) and scenery left nothing to be desired, and Lehman Engel's selection and arrangement of music was excellent, in creating and sustaining the heavy moods of the dramas. Wolfgang Roth, in designing the sets, used amazing judgment, when one considers the difficulties of transportation and necessity for simplicity. For the modern audience, however, and those not familiar with the play, the scenery was often confusing, particularly in Macbeth, in that it did not clearly distinguish between various scenes. For the most part, though, I found that the superiority in acting and direction more than compensated for these minor difficulties.

It was perhaps unfortunate that Hamlet was presented here so soon after Laurence Olivier's masterful film version (this may account for the much larger house for Macbeth), as many of those who attended both were handicapped by drawing parallels between the two. This, I think, is rather discouraging unless one stops to consider the vast differences between the mediums of the stage and screen.

None the less Miss Webster's Hamlet, probably the best known Shakespearean play among college students, will be long remembered by those who saw it as an extremely free and fluid performance. Deserving plaudits are Alfred Ryder (Hamlet), David Lewis (Horatio), Joseph Holland (Claudius), Carl Don (Gravedigger), and Lee Payant (Laertes). I felt that Virginia McDowall (Roddy's sister) was much to weak, and perhaps unexperienced, to carry the heavy role of Ophelia; and, Polonious, the Lord Chamberlain, was too modern for my taste, seeming to go "all out" for laughs. I might add that, in the movie, Mr. Olivier showed strong perception in deleting Rosencranz and Guildenstern.

Macbeth was Shakespeare at his bloodthirsty best. Though it seemed to be a much more traditional treatment than that given Hamlet, the preceding night, it held the audience in high expectancy including those who so well knew the play. This is, of course, excluded many of the high school literature students who were advised that attendance was necessary for a grade, in whose case, tittering was plainly audible at the most frustrating times.

All seem to agree that Joseph Holland as Macbeth would have been worth the price of admission alone. His masterful technique and resonant voice (the only one I have heard no complaints about) blended to create beautiful moods and build an exciting character. Carol Goodner's Lady Macbeth, though praised by most, did not quite attain the urgent quality I expected in her more famous soliloquies.

The witches were, as usual, fascinating, and the treatment of their two scenes was extremely interesting to me. Miss Webster deviated from the traditional, in making the second scene on the heath a dream of Macbeth's rather than reality.

Also to be mentioned is the Porter, who, though his part was small, offered amazing comedy relief, when the strain of the plot was beginning to tell on the audience.

All in all, it was a most gratifying weekend of entertainment, and to those who missed it, I can only say that I am sorry.

Ancient Pharaohs Poo-Pooed Pyramids

Shades of King Tut, the curse of a thousand pharaohs has hit the Knoll. Thousands of years ago in the mysterious land of the Nile (Egypt), one of the thousands of subservient drones (labouring class) working on the sepulchral monument of the Pharaohs (pyramids), rallied his companions around him, on a Saturday afternoon after the departure of the Pharaoh's Chancellor of the Exchequer (paymaster).

This wise one was what is now known as a "smart cookie in the numbers racket." In an arousing oration (speech) the con man started a project which has been carefully preserved down through the ages.

From what we can find, part of his speech went something like this: "Listen, thou fellows, I have had a vision. If the pharaohs can do it, why can't we? Thou hath notified (Printer's note: either the speaker lisped or the reporter is a bad typist) that our mighty Pharaoh hath built a mighty solid body standing on a triangular base having it's triangular sides terminating in a point at the apex.

"On thee bottom are many stones, while on thee top there is one. Well, comrades (at this period the word comrade did not have the political meaning it today carries), yesterday, while digesting my twelfth hour repast (lunch), I devised a system whereby we can all become corn barons (corn being the current currency exchange)."

So from this humble start, in an early Egyptian labourer's mind, has evolved the miracle of the twentieth century, the emancipation of the working class, the seed of Utopia, in short: The Pyramid club.

There seems to be a great deal of controversy in the Senate, at the present, concerning the merits of this enterprise.

Senator Phineas T. Phogbound, recent envoy to Lower Slobovia, recently stated, "It's the best thing that could have happened to this country. Everyone should join. It's sure fire. You just pay a dollar, wait 12 days, and you're a thousandaire. You can't lose."

The Senator's statement may or may not have been influenced by the fact that he was at that time

"The time has come," the Walrus said, "to speak of many things, of shoes, of ships, of ceiling wax, of cabbages and kinds."

We profess little knowledge of the topics mentioned, but we are familiar with a subject just as interesting! She is one, Zona Yowell, a freshman in San Diego Junior College.

Although a newcomer here, she is already conditioned to college life, having spent a year at San Diego State college and half as long in nurses' training.

Upon questioning, we find this diminutive brown-haired girl is only 19 years old, but already possesses an effervescent personality so much appreciated on the campus.

Engineer's Club Seeks Membership

A drive for new members is on for the Engineer's Club at SDJC. Students from all three centers, with an interest in any phase of engineering, are welcome to join. There are no prerequisites for membership, but continuous attendance is expected.

The group meets bi-monthly and is most tactive. Its sponsor, Mr. Robert Winter, spark-plugs visits to engineering firms and industrial plants. Among those to be visited are: San Diego Gas and Electric Co., and San Diego Railway Co.

New Student Finds Walk Invigorating But Rough on Shoes

Ben Aquillon, a San Diego native, has taken it upon himself to come into the fold of San Diego Junior College.

An accounting major, Ben spends most of his class hours at the B & T center, but three times a week he can be seen trudging up 12th Street to make a fifth period psychology class at the Knoll. Ben has only one comment for this. "Anybody got a bicycle for sale?"

Ben considers himself very fortunate to be going to school on his G.I. Bill and says his three years spent in the Army Signal Corps are at last beginning to pay off.

Ben's government subsistence is augmented by his job at the Post Office where he works on weekends and all of this goes into the support of his wife and two-year-old girl.

He says, he takes great pleasure in keeping up with civic affairs and when he's not plotting the city council's next move, his time is taken up by reading.

Ben wants to finish his two years out at SDJC, knowing full well what his degree will mean, so here's wishing him luck.

A great temptation!

Games Forfeited As Knights Lose

By Tom Monahan

Shocked during the past two weeks by the loss of their best players, the San Diego Junior College basketball quintet suffered another severe jolt when a Metropolitan League ruling forced them to forfeit all victories gained in league competition.

The Knights, after a slow start at the beginning of the season, were working into one of the finest junior college quintets in southern California J. C. circles, it is believed.

The double loss of versatile Syd Franklin, who transferred to State, and big Jerry Dahms, who signed a contract to play baseball with the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League, really hit the S.D. J.C. five in the middle. Jerry and Syd did most of the rebounding and backboard control for the Knights.

The Knights forfeited its three league victories which were overwhelming defeats for the outclassed Metro quintets. They were as follows: SDJC 65, Bakersfield 46; SDJC 79, East LA 45 (this was a new school record for total team scoring); SDJC 57, El Camino 50. San Diego's only defeat came at the hands of Santa Monica when they threw away a 12-point lead with four minutes to play. The score was 46 to 42.

On January 5 the Knights met the State Frosh and soundly laced them 76 to 42. In this game Ben Cendali, SDJC's brilliant forward hit the netting for 28 points and set a new scoring record for the school basketball team.

The famed Globe Trotters from Harlem came to town Saturday two weeks ago and trounced the Knights 70 to 48 in an excellent show of ball handling and clowning. Dahms hit for 16 and Cendali for 14 points respectively. During one stretch in the third quarter, Jesse Thompson and Syd Franklin hit for 10 straight points inside of three minutes. Goose Tatum led the Trotters with 28.

In another game with the Naval Training Center recently the Knights waxed the Trainees 56 to 43. Ben Cendali kept his torrid scoring pace, netting 24 points, while Jerry Dahms sunk 19.

In the last eight games Jerry and Ben had formed quite a scoring combination for SDJC. Both were averaging approximately 21 points per game.

March 5 Date For Tourney Finals

Under the competent guidance of Coach Ed Ruffa, the San Diego Junior College Intramural Basketball Tournament is drawing to a close.

Fans have seen both thrilling and close contests in this intramural tournament which has narrowed the teams down to four.

Only one team, however, has an immaculate record to show after banging its way into the finals. That team is Sigma Tau Rho, a

Dahms Turns 'Pro'; Franklin Graduates

Mr. Trouble dealt Knight basketball mentor, Don Clarkson, a double dose of bitter medicine last week.

First, Syd Franklin, standout guard for the Knight "5" graduated; secondly, Jerry Dahms was found to have signed a professional baseball contract, thus making him ineligible for amateur competition.

It was bad enough just losing Franklin, a great playmaker and dangerous shooter, but when the big wheel himself, Jerry Dahms, gets into a case that will cause much speculation for some time to come, that really broke the camel's back.

Dahms signed a Pittsburgh diamond contract about Dec. 14. Such an action, according to the "Simon Pure" code, prohibits a "pro" athlete from participating in collegiate sports. The incident, however, was not discovered until recently, at a time when J. C. was given better than an outside chance of copping league laurels.

As it stands, J. C. had to forfeit all the league games Dahms played in. The matter was settled by Commissioner Cecil Zaun and the Metropolitan Junior College Conference officials.

Coach Clarkson, meanwhile, has inserted Tom Sutton in place of big Jerry, and Joe Galindo will be counted on making fans forget the loss of Franklin.

Since the turn of the spring semester, several promising lads have tried out for the varsity cage squad. The new additions include Wendell Woods, Rudy Ortiz, Neil Ricketts, Gene Haley, and Rudy Ortega.

business-like playing aggregation. They secured a final berth by disposing of Independent Team No. 1 by a 30-22 margin.

Kappa Phi Alpha, seeded first in the tourney, advanced another step by eliminating the Rho Delta's 38-31 in a hectic crowd pleaser.

Independent Team No. 2, otherwise known as the "Jesters," handed Phi Tau Epsilon a 37-16 pasting.

Track, Baseball Progress Along

By Howard Cohen

After entering Balboa Stadium the first thing I heard was Coach Ed Ruffa's masculine voice bellowing out orders to his potential track stars. The Knight spikesters are in the fundamental conditioning stage of callisthenics and lap-running. At the present only a handful of men is working out, but a large turnout is expected during the next week. Coach Ruffa invites all fellows interested in track to sign up in his office and report to the upper field during sixth or seventh period.

On the baseball front Coach Lee Cassie has the worries of handling and getting the squad into playing condition. Don Clarkson will act as co-coach upon completion of his once potentially successful, but now "so-sad" basketball season. During the past week the boys have been running laps and playing pepper games, with batting practice taking a back seat till all are in top physical condition.

The Coaches Cassie and Clarkson have their first headache of the yet-unborn-season: that being the loss of the hard-hitting Gene Roberts. Gene was expected to hold down a first string position but he chose to drop from school in favor of work.

Although both track and baseball are still in the rough practice stage, hard work and proper school backing can increase the team's chances in its respective race for the Metropolitan Conference championship.

For want of a nail, a race was lost!

For lack of judgment, a championship was lost!

If it hadn't been for Jerry Dahms, SDJC might have had a basketball championship. On the other hand, if it hadn't been for Jerry Dahms, JC would have had a hard time playing the role of a contender.

The whole episode develops into a vicious circle.

Jerry had every right in the world to sign a baseball contract. Pittsburgh sees great potentialities in Jerry, and Jerry sees great possibilities in baseball.

Professionalism is a funny thing. Once you are a "pro," its indelible stain will forever pursue you.

I personally can't see why Jerry was prohibited from playing collegiate basketball, just for signing a baseball contract. Baseball and basketball differ immensely. Then too, the idea of being paid for playing actually doesn't improve a player's ability.

The origin of the trouble, however, rests on the fact that Dahms went so far as denying to his coach that he had signed.

Whether Jerry knew what kind of trouble he would get his mates into is undeterminable. If he didn't know then, he most certainly does now.

San Diego Junior College basketball followers are seeing a changed player perform for the Knights this year. The great Jesse Thompson is finally playing a high calibre of ball.

It's true that Jesse doesn't score as many points now as he did while starring for St. Augustine High. It is also evident that little Jess is no rebound-hawk, but tell me, dear readers, have you seen a better floorman than this diminutive cager?

Your answer will be in all probability be a resounding and emphatic, "NO."

If you were fortunate in squeezing into the high school gym when JC matched wits with the Harlem Globe Trotters, you undoubtedly saw little Jess play the game of his life.

He scored but two points, but his clever ball-handling, his tenacious guarding and ever-fighting spirit left very little to be desired of him.

Yes indeed, Jesse is quite a team player now. No more starring roles for him. He's really classy now, in our book.

Congenial Tommy Monahan, your efficient Sports Editor of last semester who is retiring, will leave behind him a splendid record in the forementioned capacity he held.

Phi Theta Xi Heralds Wearing of the Green

Sure, an' it'll be a great night for the Irish! And anyone else who happens to attend this shindig.

Phi Theta Xi, in presenting their annual Shillalagh Shuffle, will carry out a St. Patrick's Day motif down to the smallest shamrock.

There is, too, a slight reference to those called the "little people." Most of the information is classed as "top secret," but it is known that Rod Credit will be making with the ballad and bop for the dancers and music lovers.

A reliable source has reported that the girls have acquired extra help in preparing for their big event. Although there has been no sneak preview it is known that there will be a floor show for non-dancers and others who find it hard to stand around until 10 o'clock.

To add to the the general ribald merriment of this annual success, the women of Phi Theta Xi will have a drawing. So there is a possibility for some lucky stiff, nothing personal, to win a . . . oh, the drawing is a secret, too.

But the one thing that isn't a secret is that the Shillalagh Shuffle will start promptly at 9 p.m., in the Imig Manor Terrace room. Just come dressy sport, clean cords and tennis shoes. Bring one dollar and fifty centavos. That's the price of admission.

Phi Theta's who have been wracking their brains for ideas and forgetting their beauty rest are Pete Peritt, Shirley Beck, Esther Bobroff, Anne Downey, and Pauline Blake. There is no list of the "little people" as we had no way of getting in touch with their campus representative, Frank Cardenas.

With the leprechauns aid and a bit of Irish luck, it can't miss (and that's no blarney). So the top a' the twelfth to ye' and may ye' be havin' the toime av' yer life!

Literary Forms To Be Studied

Poetry, short stories, and essays will be forms studied and practiced in the new creative writing course originated recently through popular demand.

Miss Lorraine Lundberg, new faculty member and teacher of the creative writing course, recently was granted her M.A. degree at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. While there, she studied under one of the foremost contemporary American poets, Lew Sarrt.

National Trend Defied By S. D. J. C. Enrollment

While the apparent trend throughout the nation is toward a lower enrollment in junior colleges, the Applied Arts center of San Diego Junior College is making rapid strides in the other direction.

The Applied Arts center showed a 12.37 per cent increase in enrollment for the 1948-49 school year, according to a statistical report released recently by Mr. Harry Jones, registrar for this center.

JC Enrollments Decrease Throughout Nation

This figure contrasts greatly with the 5 per cent decrease (average) for all junior colleges in the nation. All institutions of higher learning in the nation showed an increase of 6.29 per cent, according to a report by the U. S. Office of Education. This latter figure includes universities and colleges.

The report, which deals mainly with statistics for the 1946-47 school year, shows the AA center to have had a total enrollment of 973 for the year.

Spring officers for the "up-and-coming" Squires club are: Ben Lescher, president; Ed Fletcher, vice-president; Mary Seidelmann, secretary; Cora Guldemond, treasurer; and Jesse Thompson, sergeant-at-arms.

This school service club has announced that pins will be presented at the end of the semester to those students who have given the most service to the junior college. Also on the agenda for this term is a dinner-dance for all Squires at the end of the semester.

The purpose of this organization is to serve the school in any possible capacity and to improve the school spirit on our campus.

Mr. Robert Winter, sponsor of the Squires, invites any student with interest in San Diego Junior College to contact him in regard to membership.

Comedy, Drama Presented On "Radio Stage"

"Radio Stage," a fifteen-minute program belonging to San Diego Junior College, is constantly changing. Each week a different-type of drama is presented. One week it might be a comedy, the next a serious play, and the next a fantasy.

In experimenting, "Radio Stage" moves from the tried and true masters of writing, like Moliere, to the new, and sometimes surprising, creativeness of our Radio Writing class.

There is an ever unfolding of new talent. Each semester finds news actors, engineers, and directors. It is the job of the new faculty director, Miss Lorraine Lundberg, to deliver and cultivate these babes in radio.

Radio Stage does not announce that their "Hooper" rating is 27-10—or even 1! And it can't even promise that every show will be a hit, but it can promise that it will do its best.

Remember — KUSN — 4 p.m.— every Tuesday!! "Radio Stage" is always new.

half or 49.52 per cent of the students had had military service. Ninety-one of the students attending AA as their principal center last year were married (this number has increased for this school year). Of these, 15 were women and 76 were men.

Average Age—About 20 Years

The average age of male students enrolled for that year was 20.75; for all female students the average age was 19.54 years. The average age of all veterans at entry was 21.35 years.

Approximately 74 per cent of enrollees were in general education curriculum (both semesters); approximately 15 per cent were business majors and approximately 11 per cent were technical majors (both semesters).

Jazz Concert For SDJC to be Held In Russ This Morning at 11:30

Iota Theta Phi, a B & T center social club, brings jazz to the Russ.

At 11:30 this morning in Russ auditorium, the Savage Jazz Artists will present their first all-school jazz concert featuring outstanding band personage as well as top jazz selections.

Bill Marvin, local disc jockey, will act as master of ceremonies, introducing band members and selections.

The combo is fronted by drummer leader Charley Blackwell, with Adam Cato playing piano, Gene Porter on tenor sax, Charley Smith on bass, and Johnny Hamlin, on accordion.

Opening with their theme, "Fly-in' Home," Johnny Hamlin, accordionist, will go into "How High the Moon." Incidentally, Johnny has led his own recording combo since early 1948.

From "How High," the band will do "Body and Soul," with Gene Porter, a former Benny Carter sax man, doing the solo.

Cato's Boogie will introduce the piano man, Adam Cato, formally of New Orleans.

From boogie woogie, the band will change the mood and move into the old favorite "Lady Be Good," featuring the bass of Charley Smith.

Last but far from least comes the leader man, Charley Blackwell, pounding out the jazz men's standby, "Tea for Two." Charley was formally with Stan Kenton and Benny Carter.

Book Nook Grows

The Junior College library has grown "sizeably" during the latter part of last semester and the first few weeks of the present semester.

To date, and for the rest of the year the library can boast of an additional two hundred books a month. Although there is limited space for this addition, we are the proud possessors of such books as the Oxford Dictionaries, published by the Oxford University Press. These will be found in the east end of the far room in the library.

Drafting Positions Open To Experienced Student Architects

Looking for a job? Tired of standing in lines? Tired of looking? Or just tired?

Mr. Robert S. Hamilton is available to Junior College students for job counseling from 11 a.m. to 12 noon any week day in office "B." Students who have been registered previously should plan to re-register within the next few days to make sure they are still on the waiting list.

Mr. George Stillman of the Employment Service interviews applicants from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Among the many jobs offered to students are those of recreation leader, and junior and senior drafting aid. Both are civil service positions. The latter will be of particular interest to B & T students, according to Mr. Hamilton.

Junior Drafting Aid is open to all students who have completed high school and have six months of architectural engineering experience. The position of Senior Drafting Aid requires a high school diploma and 18 months of architectural or engineering experience.

Latest report from the registrar's office indicates that 830 students have registered for the spring semester.

This is the overall figure for both B & T center and the A & A center.

Class Officers Hold Meeting

Senior class of officers held their first business meeting Tuesday, March 1. President Ray Puckett presided, with the help of Mr. Jack Salyers, senior sponsor.

Officers assisting Ray are: Bill Dickinson, vice-president; Betty Henderson, secretary; and Bill Bradon, treasurer.

Activities scheduled for and by the senior class include: a picnic, senior prom, graduation exercises and gifts.

An increase in senior dues was discussed. It was argued that additional money would allow more activities for the seniors. The amount was fixed at $3.50 plus $2.50 for the cap and gown. Veterans will have their caps and gowns free, according to the GI bill.

Poster Production Keeps Posting

Keeping the student body posted on coming events has been the job of the poster production class under the direction of Instructor Ralph Vernacchia.

Poster production is not an ordinary class because it offers the student practical experience in poster art work. The student not only learns how a poster is made but the results of his learning actually appear on various posters publicizing ASB activities.

The way the class operates is similar to that of an art department in an advertising agency.

The customer, which in this case would be any student or member of the faculty, goes to the poster production class and requests a certain amount of posters by a certain date. The appointed art director accepts the request and in turn appoints various members of the class to turn out the job. This is done by listing in full detail the contents, the artist, and the deadline date for the poster on the poster production board. This board is checked every class meeting day by the students to see if they have been assigned a job.

Poster production was created by Mr. Vernacchia in 1942 and has been successfully functioning in San Diego High School under the title of Art Service.

The popular course has extended even further than the Hilltop. It has been adopted by many of the more progressive high schools throughout the city.

BANKING AT JUNIOR COLLEGE

Mr. Richard B. Miller, psychology instructor, says that attending school is a full time job. Instructors act as the employers, students the employees, and the school the bank. At the end of the semester, payday, students receive their pay envelope. The amount of pay depending on the amount of work that was done during the semester.

Upon graduation, students receive their "bank book" in the form of a transcript. The amount that has been saved up determines, to a large extent, what can be bought in the way of higher education.

Let's All Take Part

Take one part of helpfulness, one part of earnestness, two parts enthusiasm, and three parts sincerity and you have the recipe for a faculty member with spirit.

At a recent ASB all-male function, a "learned nose-count" was taken, and it was interesting to see how many "men behind the books in front of the men" turned out. The turn-out wasn't surprising, it was magnificent. It's a nice feeling, like snuggling down in an overstuffed chair, to know that these people are taking an active interest because they want to and not because the pay check will arrive in the morning mail a few bucks short if they don't.

A teacher's contract does not read that he or she WILL travel to some other city to watch the football team play a tough game. No, nothing of the kind. But there are those who made the trips and yelled just as loud as any student.

I. C. C. Argues Rushing Rules

Preferential bidding for men's social clubs was voted down in the Inter-Club Council meeting Tuesday.

The proposal would make it compulsory for men's clubs to turn a list of rushees into the Dean's office. It would require each rushee to designate his first, second, and third choices for club membership. The Dean's office would inform him of the club's decisions.

JC Girls' social clubs now use the preferential bidding system.

Arguments to the proposal included such statements as: that the administration would play a large part in rush procedure where it hadn't before.

For the new bidding procedure was the argument that it would save money for each club during the rush season. Members voted against the change. Gene Robinson, new ICC vice-president, heads a committee to study rushing procedure.

You can't purchase a Lincoln with the price for a Chevrolet.

Too many students believe that a junior college's purpose is to serve as lower division for larger college, and not to provide terminal education.

Students who attend a junior college should plan to complete their education in five years, and not four years.

Over one-half of the students at J.C. have less than a 13 grade level in vocabulary. More attention should be placed on building vocabulary than worrying whether or not a course will be accepted upon transfer.

There are those who take part in "extra-curricular" activities in other forms. Sponsors of the various clubs on campus give of their time and whole-hearted support, and the headaches that result are in no way connected with the books they are teaching from.

On the other hand, faculty participation is sometimes misinterpreted by students. When a faculty member shows up at a dance, some people get the idea they are being spied upon.

All of us are inclined to hang onto the enjoyable things that we become accustomed and conditioned to. The events that shape our day to day life at school will result in one of those things that will be hard to put aside.

We are fortunate in having a faculty who clings to their experiences and knows the value of participation.

Readers Wanted

The Junior College Daily bulletin is read by less than one-third of all the students, according to the opinion of one faculty member asked to hazard a guess.

This is a startling fact because the number of bulletins placed on campus every morning at 8 a.m. totals one per every room, plus the bulletins that appear on the two bulletin boards. These boards are placed on the wall directly across from the window of the book store and on the wall opposite the entrance to the attendance office.

Club notices, class changes, and registration announcements are printed regularly.

All official ASB notices are posted, assemblies are announced; and each notice gives time and place of meetings to be held.

The daily bulletin serves, informs and summons.

Students, Profs Comment On Huts

Upon interviewing several San Diego Junior College students and faculty members, this inquiring reporter got the following answers to the question "What do you think of the new temporary buildings?"

Mary Niederfrank, freshman: I like them very much. I wish we had more rooms like them.

Howard Coleman, freshman: Anything is better than the bungalows.

Marjorie Lovejoy, freshman: I think the temporary rooms are very nice, especially the heating system and new desks.

Mrs. Heryet, English instructor: They are light, well ventilated, and cheerful in contrast with the classrooms we've had. Students seem to do better work there.

Dick Straub, graduate: I think they're "ding how," because they can be ventilated, and the bungalows can't.

Bud Floyd, freshman: I think they're swell. Not as much noise as the old bungalows.

Mr. Salyers, Mr. Pierce, and Mr. Gier: We are very pleased with them. There is more room to spread out, and they are less noisy. But, we do hope they are only temporary.

Jennings Brewer, undergraduate: I think the new bungalows are an asset to the Junior College in that they relieve the crowded conditions and offer quiet, pleasant classrooms.

Before an impressive group of the AWS in the Little Theater on last Wednesday, February 23, Mrs. Izatta Jewell Miller delivered a talk on the subject, "Women At Work."

Over fifty girls gathered to listen and learn in the first AWS activity of this semester.

Mrs. Miller, who conducts a commentator's program on KCBQ three days a week, stressed the importance of many natural attributes that a girl should possess in the business world. Such things as personality, cooperation, and neatness of personal appearance must be developed even before job hunting starts she said.

She went on to outline the histories of outstanding women of both our time and previous times.

"Remember girls, you are the pioneers of a new attitude toward women at work . . . for it is still a man's world," was her remark.

After Mrs. Miller's address, she and her audience attended a Tea which carried out a George Washington theme.

52-20 CLUB TO END JULY 25

The deadline for drawing Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance payments (52-20 club) is July 25 of this year for vets discharged on or before July 25, 1947.

Those discharged later have until two years after they leave the armed forces to receive benefits, but in no case after July 25, 1952.

Veterans carrying National Service Life Insurance are eligible for total disability benefits through payments of an extra premium. These benefits amount of $5 per month for each $1,000 of insurance in force after the veteran has been totally disabled for six consecutive months.

Slips Cause Worry To Students, Office

Have you ever been stumped by the problem of explaining your absence from class? Well, don't worry: you've got company, if the slips in the office are any indication.

Of course, some are the ordinary every-day garden variety, such as dental or doctor appointments, sickness, oversleeping, and the like; but here are some specialized examples.

Several students, it appears, have been diabolically misled by wrong schedules and elusive rooms. Then there is the group that pushes the blame onto harmless alarm clocks, balky cars and "personal business."

Naturally, there are those who must tell the truth no matter what the cost. And that is why here is a slip in the office today bearing the cryptic statement: "I was in jail!"

German Club Dines At Alpine Village

Opening the new semester with a bang, the German Club held its annual dinner at Alpine Village. The menu consisted of various types of German food, and German music was provided by an accordionist.

Those attending this gala affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roach, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Southwell, Carol Carues, Mrs. Nancy Collins, Alvin Crawford, Carolyn Deibert, James Bernardino, Mary Seidelmann, Dave Allen, Don Milow, Rudy Schmidt, Robert Clapps, Lydia Schumaker, Eddie Keyser, Bonny Carlson, and Mrs. Signe Carlson, faculty sponsor.

Miss Carlson announces that the club will receive new members interested in German. This club meets in the private homes of its members, and at the next meeting wire recordings of German songs and skirts will be made.

French Officers

Elections of French club, 1948-49, were held Saturday 24, in the Signe Carlson. Those chosen: president; Corbin; vice-president; Peter; and Bob Halvorsen. Miss Carlson, sponsored by her sponsor.

Friday evening their guests, a dramatic skit, "The Frenchman," by Andre Frere, was presented.

Among those who attended: Signe Carlson, Bob Halvorsen, Perritt, Chuck, and Howie Pol.

French Club Elects Officers For Spring

Elections of the officers for the French club, Les Chevaliers français, were held Thursday, February 24, in the classroom of Miss Signe Carlson, French instructor. Those chosen were: Chuck Potts, president; Corkey Guldemond, vice-president; Pete Perritt, secretary; and Bob Halvorsen, treasurer. Miss Carlson, well-liked and admired by her students, will be the sponsor.

Friday evening members, and their guests, attended a series of dramatic sketches by the celebrated French actor and author, Andre Frere. The entire program was presented in French.

Among those present were: Signe Carlson, Corkey Guldemond, Bob Halvorsen, Dot Klaus, Pete Perritt, Chuck Potts, Art Ninniss, and Howie Polan.

Long Range People Wanted For Toppers

Attention, all you TALL people! The San Diego Tip Toppers are conducting a drive for new members. This is a social club for tall people.

If you are interested, contact John Huffman, Joe Page, or Chuck Merriam. The requirements for entrance are as follows: Women must be 5 ft., 10 ins. tall in stocking-feet, and men must be 6 ft. 2 in.

Honor Students Pick Up On "Art"

By repute a group of "long noses" that sits around and discusses such things as Einstein's Theory of Relativity, or how to get tooth paste back into the tube after its squeezing out, the Honor Society of this school seems to be blazing a new trail.

Instead of fretting and pondering the complex problems of this modern world of Vigaro and the new longer Fatima cigarettes, these neoerudites plan such activities as breakfasts, beach parties, pot-luck dinners, bridge parties, and square dances. Sometimes a trip to one of San Diego's cultural centers is in the offing. A trip of this sort might be to the Art Gallery, the Museum of Man, one of the Franciscan Missions, or even an anthropological sojourn to Tijuana.

The ten members present at the February 24 meeting planned this semester's proposed activities. At the same time they proposed a club project by the organization that would benefit the school in June.

A plan of their meetings and activities may be found in this calendar: Business meeting, March 10; two activities in April; an activity May 12; business meeting May 26; and an activity June 9.

Hilltop Choir Ranks Swelled By Voices From J. C.

Students on the east side of the 100 building sometimes find it hard to concentrate on their studies when the Hill Top Choir, a mixed group of voices from the junior college and high school, hold their practice sessions.

Many people are not aware of the fact that the choir contains both junior college and San Diego High School personnel, although the name of the singing group is the Hill Top Choir. "Hill Top" usually being connected with the high school.

Under the direction of E. H. Maxwell, choir director the members from JC are: basses—Glen Boyd, Don Hadley, Gene Sieben, Pete Frelinger, Dick Hanson, Ray Heath, and Elwood Tyson.

Also Gordon Dale, Lester Hoffman, and Lyman Webb.

Sopranos are Barbara McDenmio, Rita William, and Katy Palmus.

Five people also carry solo parts. Barbara McDenmio and Katy Palmus, both mezzo sopranos; Jack McClellan, baritone; Rita William, soprano, and Jack Wilson, tenor.

Choir concerts of the past have been quite successful, and an entertaining choral program has been planned for the semester, reports Mr. Maxwell.

Cat Reigns Supreme In Office Of Dean

Perhaps one of the best authorities on these school buildings, yet least known individual on campus as Baby. In spite of her tender age (eight years old), this tiny parcel of femininity is familiar with every building, hallway, court, tunnel, and bush on the knoll. And why not? After all, if and when she were to fill out a census report, the blank printed "place of birth" would read, "northwest flower bed of San Diego High School."

Let's any doubt remain, Baby is a cat, or maybe we should say a mother. For, according to Mr. Robert C. Woods, head custodian in the evening, and Baby's benefactor, she has had seven litters (that he knows about) of four kittens each.

Our heroine's official home is the basement of the home economics building, but she seldom receives there, since her social duties are pressing and necessitate a great deal of travel.

In spite of nasty talk on the part of occasional taxpaying visitors, Baby is not supported by the City School System, but rather by Mr. Woods. This kindly feline philanthropist not only provides the puss with board and bed, but also he takes care of her children, several of which are now lodging with he and his wife at home.

Night school students are often amused to see Baby trailing after Mr. Woods, as he makes his nightly rounds of the buildings. In fact, this reporter's first contact with the kit was a rather comical situation. Looking for Mr. Woods, I ventured into the sanctum sanctorum of Miss Munsell's office, and instead of finding either Mr. Woods or Miss Munsell, I was confronted, face to face, with Baby. She was, bye the bye, sitting in the women's dean's chair.

Mystery Made Of B & T Talent Show

The Business and Technical Center will present an all-student talent assembly, Thursday, March 10, in the Russ Auditorium.

Details are not available as to the assembly but it is known that some very exceptional talent is scheduled.

This is the first assembly presented in the auditorium by the B & T center; everyone is urged to attend.

ding, this is a book which I feel would be enjoyed by any college student. It's true I wouldn't want to read it in the presence of the author, for I fear that the titters provoked by some of his statements are not at all intentional on his part, but, if you would care to see your reflection in a bone china tea cup, I suggest you read "The American People" which is one of the newest additions to our school library.

INSTRUCTORS DUCK AS THISTLES FLY

By Huck Lowell

In leafing through "The Home Book of Quotations, Classical and Modern," the other evening, I ran across some pearls of wisdom with which every student should be acquainted. It is time, I feel, that we know something about this curious sub-species of homo-sapien known as "teacher." So it is in their honor (?) that I write this informative article.

Walter Bagehot once said, "A school master should have an atmosphere of awe, and walk wonderingly, as if he was amazed at being himself." (This I feel, might be a little confusing to the teacher when he tried to find his box in the office.)

"Look out, gentlemen, the school master is abroad!" Though this phrase can be heard at Tom Thums any morning the high

Due to the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency of late, this one seems particularly apropos: "A teacher should be sparing of his smile." (Cowper)

Byron's incomparable Don Juan (who, by the way, must have gotten all "A's") once remarked, "Tis pleasing to be schooled in a strange tongue by female lips and eyes—that is, I mean, when both the teacher and the taught—are young." (The retirement plan has been put into effect since Don's time.)

"He who can, does. He who cannot, teaches." But then G. B. Shaw always was a little bitter!

On the other hand, Sinclair Lewis, whom we all detest, once ventured, "Our American professors are like their literature—clear, cold, pure, and very dead." (Well, Sinclair, can you think of a better way to avoid the funeral expenses?)

Elbert Hubbard, in his Epigrams, told his readers, "Now owls are not really wise—they only look that way. The owl is sort of a college professor." (Whooo?)

Even Shakespeare, who was supposed to have been a genius, faltered on the subject when he wrote, "School masters will I keep within my house—fit to instruct her youth." Now, whoever heard of anyone instructing anyone in youth?

With the profundity of ancient Greece, Anonymous casually remarked, "The same persons (teachers) telling to the same people the same thing about the same things."

"Gorer, analyzing an American"

The American People, Geoffrey Gorer, 246 pp., New York, 1948. W. W. Norton & Co., Inc.

I think we all find it interesting, on occasion, to have an outsider tell us what they think of us, and that is exactly what Geoffrey Gorer does, very precisely in his latest book, "The American People." Mr. Gorer is an Englishman (and, I believe, a confirmed one) who spent a great deal of time in the United States from 1935 through the major part of the last war. During his stay here, he did a considerable amount of research in the fields of sociology, psychology, and cultural anthropology, working with such eminent specialists as Dr. Mary Margaret Meade, well-known American cultural anthropologist (who recently lectured here).

The book, as I have intimated, is devoted to analyzing the American people from a distance as only an Englishman could. In reading the book it is not hard to imagine the clipped British accent and careful selection of words we would hear at one of Gorer's lectures. In fact, the only outstanding fault I can find in the study is the author's use of social scientific terminology, in spots, where it could very well be avoided without damaging the content. However, the content is sufficiently interesting to make up for the occasional linguistic struggle the reader must engage in.

In this order Mr. Gorer discusses: the recessive role of the American husband and father, citing Dagwood as representative of this group; the dominant role of our mothers, placing the typical somewhere between the villain in "The Silver Cord" and the Goddess of Liberty; the all-American child, noting that his (or her) character is largely moulded by the manufacturers of breakfast cereal and the contemporary matinee idols; and love and friendship (perhaps the most informative chapter for the college student) in which the American system of courtship is compared with a well-played chess match.

All in all, though the title and subject may sound a little forbid-

Corsairs Increase Lead As Knights Lose 58-51

By Howard Cohen

League leading Santa Monica City College continued their surge toward the Metropolitan Conference Championship by dropping the Knight cagers by a 58-51 count in the San Diego High gym.

Santa Monica used their weird system of starting the bench warmers, but after they fell ten points behind, the regulars entered the contest. Fighting uphill all the way, the Corsairs enjoyed a 30-21 halftime lead. All but three of the winner's points were contributed outside of the starting five.

Red-hot Ben Cendali led the Knights and increased his lead in league scoring by tallying 24 points. Ben took over the first place slot when Jerry Dahms dropped from the squad.

The Knights lost some of their steam when the ball-hawking Jesse Thompson appeared a little over-anxious and was forced to retire from the game on personal fouls.

Summary of game:

SDJC (51)	(58) S. Monica
Cendali (24)f..... (0) Farrell
Thompson (3)f..... (0) Lavenes
Sutton (6)c..... (3) Stove

Splurge by Cendali In Vain; Knight "5" Loses to Riverside

Even Ben Cendali couldn't furnish enough points to insure the Knight "5" of a victory over Riverside JC. All little Ben did was score a meager 27 points and nonchalantly play a sparkling floor game. A very poor performance in the face that his frequent effervescent exhibitions are taken as a matter of course.

Riverside, winner by a 56-47 border, definitely held an advantage in playing before a home crowd and also because Knight guard, Rudy Ortiz, was sidelined with a stomach ailment, took a 29-19 halftime lead which they prospered on.

Summary:

SDJC (47)	(57) Riverside
Cendali (27)f..... (2) Streeter
Thompson (8)f..... (10) Voorhees
Sutton (3)c..... (18) Palson

Chess And Checkers!

Beginning next week, checker and chess tournaments will begin in the student lounge. Students will be able to check out checker and chess sets later on in the week at the book store.

A list is posted on the Bulletin Board opposite the Book Store for signed members.

Shown in a workout is Rudy Ortiz, former San Diego High all-around ace, who recently enrolled at JC. Rudy has filled in Syd Franklin's spot very capably.

Volleyball Game, Weight Lifting Highlight Smoker

San Diego Junior College's crowd-pleasing Men's Smoker held recently, produced a hotly contested volleyball game between the faculty and students.

Led by Dean Robert Heilbron, and assisted by professors Lovell Peirce, William Cyran, Wally Nall, Murl Gibson, and Jack Salyers, the faculty volleyball contingent took a 15-12 decision from students Gordon Dale, Tony Vasquez, Glen Dollahan, Al Dahms, Gene Edwards, and Jennings Brewer. The students, though, came back strong in the second game to soundly trounce the faculty 15-2 to gain a draw.

In the same smoker, Bill Lowrance, noteworthy weight lifter, put on an eye-popping weight lifting exhibition that came to within eight pounds of the world's record.

Bill snatched 200, pressed 205, and clean and jerked 270 for a grand total of 675 pounds. Leo Stern, proprietor of a body-building gym in North Park, displayed his prowess as a speaker and lifter in between the exertions of Lowrance.

B&T Meets New Officers And Squires

On February 23, the B & T center had its first assembly of the spring semester. The assembly was primarily to acquaint the students with their new officers and commissioners. Bob Lanser, the new president, introduced the new officers who are Chuck Merriam, vice-president; Dolores Towne, secretary; Al Raymond, treasurer; and the new commissioners who are Dorothy Hayes, activities; Pat Noret, assemblies; Eugene McKinney, elections; and Gim Hom, publicity.

Stagnaro Shines; Knight "9" Wins

Opening their diamond season with a bang, the SDJC baseball nine showed signs of a promising future when they thumped the Marine Recruit Depot 4-3 on the losers' field.

Former San Diego High and Post Six mound ace, Andy Stagnaro, along with Dan Butcher, twirled a neat six hitter to warrant a Knight triumph. Assistant coach Les Cassis has molded a potential championship nine which appears to have sufficient all-around strength for a victorious season, as was apparent in their initial game.

Score:

M.C.R.D.	3	6	3
S.D.J.C.	4	8	4

Martin, Williams, and Vronovich; Stagnaro, Butcher, and Graham.

Knight "9" Takes Form: Squad Cut

Striving for a winning baseball club, Les Cassie, assistant baseball coach, in order to concentrate on a smaller group, has cut the squad to eighteen men.

Cassie has chosen Jack Graham and Bob Sylvester as catchers; Andy Stagnaro, Bob Lamp, Ray Irving, Don Hadley, and Dan Butcher to toil on the mound; Ken McCoy, Gene Haley, Dick Savoy, Ralph Carpenter, Ralph Looney, and Frank Rangel to cavort around the infield; and Pete Corona, Joe Brown, Johnny Verduco, Amerigo Dini, and Al Hooper to patrol the outer gardens.

Pete Corona is the only returning letterman, but Cassie and Coach Don Clarkson have a wealth of experienced ball players to work with. Of the present squad, converted infielder Jack Graham, and pitcher Andy Stagnaro, former San Diego High ace moundsman, have shown mid-season form.

Boasting plenty of power in all departments, the Knights should be strong contenders for the Metropolitan Conference championship.

Knollmen Sink Lower in Race

Coach Don Clarkson's scrappy Knight quintet took it on the chin once more!

Bakersfield JC supplied the uppercut, a 64-42 blow, that sent SDJC reeling farther down in the standings. By capturing this Metropolitan Conference skirmish in their home court, the "Oilers" virtually secured themselves of a third place finish.

San Diego, yet to recover from the effects of their recent unfortunate circumstances, put up a stout but ineffective stand.

Summary:

SDJC (42)	(64) Bakersfield
Cendali (13)f..... (10) Schmid
Thompson (6)f..... (4) Schnaidt
Sutton (7)c..... (10) Smith

New Plans Spur Intramurals To New Goals

Coach Ed Ruffa's unceasing efforts in giving SDJC an expanding intramural program has born new fruit. With Pete Corona, commissioner of athletics, lending a helpful hand, a badminton and handball intramural tournament has been devised.

Badminton competition will start on Monday, March 7, in the men's gym from 12 to 12:30 p.m. Games will be played on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, while on Tuesday and Thursday, the handball tourney will prevail in the same place except between the hour of 11 a.m. and 12 p.m.

The competition in both sports will be limited to singles only, with doubles contests starting as soon as a singles champion is crowned. A large turnout is anticipated, and those not having signed up can enter by seeing either Coach Ruffa or Pete Corona.

Being planned for the month of April and May are intramural tournaments of volleyball, track, and softball. The chances of having such proposed future events depends on the success of the badminton and handball tourney.

The curtain falls on the 1948-49 edition of Coach Don Clarkson's ever-hustling five this Saturday night in the high school gym. Opposing them in their swan song appearance will be the San Bernardino Valley college quintet, who at the moment are in second place in the Eastern Conference.

Coach Clarkson has informed his charges that San Berdoo has a big, fast team, who specializes on the weave style of play, with emphasis placed on deadly set shots.

Bowing out of the JC cage limelight will be seniors Capt. Tony Vasquez, Ben Cendali, Jesse Thompson, Joe Galindo, Jim Hobel, and Wendall Woods.

will be making their final conference stand against the East L. A. "5" in Los Angeles. Starting lineup for Saturday's game:

Alas! BEHOLD! The intramural basketball finals are here! After many games which have seen different teams up and down the court, Sigma Tau Rho and Kappa Phi Alphas tangle this Saturday night at 6:45 in the big final.

The Sigma Tau's, only unbeaten team in the tourney, recently eliminated the "No. 1 Independents."

The Kappa Phi Alphas after having moved into the second round lost to the Sigma Tau's. Since then, they have waged an uphill battle to get into the finals.

The climax of the tourney semifinals came in a game between the "Jesters" and Kappa Phi's. The winning points were dumped with only five seconds remaining to play. The sensational goal was a shot by Bill White, which gave the Kappa Phi's the game 30 to 29, and a final berth.

"Huskies" Display Championship Form

(Metropolitan Conference Press Release.) East L. A. served notice last week that she may again have her eyes on the baseball title by defeating Fullerton 9-1 on Tuesday and Muir 6-4 on Friday.

Ching Duhm is well supplied in the pitching department, although Russ Weiss is the only moundman back from last year's championship nine. Two first string gridsters from East L. A.'s team handled the mound chores against Muir last week. Bill Meese and Marty DeAngelo, halfback and tackle on Al Hunt's grid team split pitching duties.

Maxwell Anderson's Tragedy Based On Love, Murder

'Winterset's' Garth Leon Acts, Writes

When Leon Burton first appeared on the stage before a junior college audience, he was without grease paint and costume, and there was no charge for admission.

It was an election assembly, and Leon was seeking the vice-presidency of the A A & S Center. He won the office and served in that capacity last semester.

When "Lee" Burton next comes before the footlights, he will be portraying the role of Garth Esdras in the junior college Little Theatre production of "Winterset."

Lee's stage debut dates back to his high school days when at San Diego High he played Uncle Willis in "Junior Miss" and took the lead of Prince Parival in the senior production, "The Ivory Door."

While in high school, Lee was also noted for the things he could do with a trumpet, and was particularly famous for his interpretation of "Boy Meets Horn."

It's possible that the Army heard of his reputation in connection with a horn, because once in the fold, he was packed off to Germany and made an instructor at band school.

However, Burton's talents aren't confined to making music, making speeches, and acting. He writes, too. His short story, "The Library," appeared in last year's literary magazine, Puerto del Sol.

Lee was recently taken into Delta Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity on campus.

Poetic Play Given By Drama Group

By McCurdy

In attempting to produce Maxwell Anderson's modern tragedy, "Winterset," Mr. Charles Newman, speech department head, has set a hard task for himself and for his cast and production staff. The play will be given April 7, 8 in Russ auditorium.

First, any modern verse play, since it is the exceptional rather than the usual type of college production, introduces an element often quite unfamiliar to the cast.

Mr. Anderson's verse is not just verse. In his attempts to create vivid imagery and emotional impact, his word usage is often quite unusual.

The complexity of personality and emotion found in the individual characters of the play is also significant.

Play Taken From Case History Promises Suspense, Action, Drama

Robert Moore Is Versatile Drama "Winterset" Star Teacher Directs Little Theatre

Robert Moore will carry the leading role of Mio in the forthcoming production of "Winterset" by the Little Theatre of San Diego Junior college. The play will be presented the evenings of April 7 and 8 in the Russ auditorium.

Moore, who played the leading role in last year's "Taming of the Shrew," and delighted the "Barber of Seville" audience with his resounding sneezes last December, will again display his talent and versatility.

Mr. Moore meets the most challenging role of his career in the tortured hero of Maxwell Anderson's poetic play which brought Burgess Meredith to stardom on the American stage and in motion pictures. In the part of Mio, Moore will portray the boy whose father was executed for a crime he did not commit.

Burdened by the taint of his parent's reputation Mio resolves to find out the truth. He travels to New York's slum section where he picks up a series of clues which lead him to the real criminal. Romance enters into the play when Mio meets Miriamne.

Other members of the cast include: Jean Patterson as Miriamne, Dick McCurdy as Judge Gaunt, Dave Herold as Trock Estrella, and Leon Burton as Garth, Miriamne's brother.

CHARLES NEWMAN

Professional criticism and appraisal certainly will not be lacking in the San Diego Junior College little theatre while Mr. Charles Newman, drama instructor, remains to direct it. Mr. Newman is active in many professional theatre circles as he is in San Diego's little theatre groups, where he is in constant demand.

Before turning to the teaching profession, Newman acted on the New York stage and was associated with such Broadway greats as: Blanche Yurka, in "Yes, My Darling Daughter"; Tallulah Bankhead in "Reflected Glory"; Frederick March in "The American Way"; and Raymond Massey in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

During the war Mr. Newman was a director at the Scala Theatre in London, among other duties there. Since his arrival here two years ago he has been associated with Coronado Little Theatre where he is the resident director, The San Diego (Globe) Community Theatre, and State College as well as his work at the Junior College.

Mr. Newman has directed five three-acts and four one-acts for Coronado, he appeared in both "Laura" and "Dream Girl" at the Globe where he now directs the Shakespearian acting class, and, last summer, he was seen in the leading part of Mr. Antrobus in the State College production of "Skin of Our Teeth."

Footlights Don't Phase Female "Winterset" Lead

The glow of footlights, a waiting audience, and the call "Curtain Time" are nothing new to Jeannie Patterson, who takes the feminine lead in Mr. Charles Newman's April production, "Winterset."

Jeannie portrays the difficult role of Miriamne, a girl caught between her love for a wayfarer who has come to stir up an old murder case, and the protection of her brother, who was involved.

Jean became familiar with the dimensions of a stage when she played the lead in "The Charm School," senior opus at Herbert Hoover High.

She also does her bit for the armed services, singing at the Army-Navy Y.M.C.A.

Starlight opera has sought Jean's talent and she will appear with them in the Ford Bowl this coming season as a lyric soprano.

Just listening to her, one might surmise that Jeannie had lived in the South. He wouldn't be far from wrong either, because she hails from Dallas, Texas.

Chuck Bateman Plays "Heavy" In New Production

A complete reversal of character will be made when Charles Bateman plays the tragic role of Esdras, in the forthcoming Junior College production, "Winterset." He first interpreted the comic role of Barthollo in last semester's play, "The Barber of Seville."

Esdras is a poverty-stricken aged rabbi, living with his son and daughter in the New York slums. A continual fear hangs over both father and son (Leon Burton). Esdras' dignity and depth of character combine to make him one of the predominate figures in the play.

In addition to his curricular work, Chuck was known, last semester, both as cheer leader and freshman representative, and for his work in "The Barber of Seville."

His popularity in high school led to his election as cheer leader there in his senior year. He also held several student body offices. His high school dramatic experience started and culminated with the senior play "If I Were King."

Pictured above are the junior college Little Theatre Players going through rehearsal of mob scene in the forthcoming production, "Winterset." The play will be given April 7 and 8.

Leon Bruton, Bob Moore, and Jean Patterson rehearse a difficult scene in their portrayals of emotionally burdened youths.

Basketball and Wrestling Teams To Receive Awards On Russ Stage

Next Monday, March 21, Knights and their fair ladies will see the first of many campaign promises fulfilled, when an unprecedented schedule of assemblies will begin with the presentation of lettermen's awards for the wrestling and basketball teams.

The committee on assemblies with the aid of Squires and zealous assistants will present this first assembly Monday, March 21. The wrestling team along with their mentor Ivan Olsen will be honored. Letters for stellar participation in that sport will be given by Dean Robert Heilbron.

In addition to handing out awards, an emcee will introduce the guests and prepared skits will break up the routine fashion of award shows.

Immediately following the wrestling team will be a formal presentation of the much disputed "Hat Trophy." And Don Clarkson's luckless basketball team will be honored. While those members of that team will be presented with the letters they earned.

Coaches Olsen and Clarkson will speak briefly during the awards. Topping the assembly will be a formal panel of student government enthusiasts who will give an informative program on the results of the El Camino Junior College government meeting. Bob Kerner, Al Dahms, Gloria Valenzuela, and Joe Page will represent the A. A. & S. Center, while the B&T will be represented by Bob Lanser and Chuck Merriam. A moderator will guide the discussion along the questions that most interest junior college students.

Following the assembly, a Monday mixer, a regular JC feature, will be held on stage of the Russ. The mixer will last from 11:25 a.m. until the beginning of fifth period. All students are invited to attend. Laughs and interest are guaranteed.

Winners To Receive Cash Prizes In Coming Talent Show

If you enjoy listening to the most soothing voice in San Diego, and the records he plays, which might be anything from pop to ballad, then you'll want to be at the Spring Talent Assembly which will be emceed by Bob Moore from KUSN.

Keeping the ball rolling along the road of success, the Committee on Assemblies will present a roster of student talent which will reveal the accomplishments of hitherto un-announced stars.

This stand out entertainment which is being prepared for your enjoyment will have more variety than a Horace Heidt show. Plus the fact that first, second, and third place prizes will be awarded to the outstanding performers. The judges for this Spring Talent show will be YOU the audience. Yes, the top artist in this student production will receive $15 for his performance, while the second place winner will be given $10, and the audience poll will give $5 to the third place winner.

Remember this assembly is Thursday, March 24. If you want to see your favorite JC virtuoso, attend that assembly.

Delegates Report On J. C. Conference

Vital information will be presented to the entire student body at the next assembly when the representatives who attended the California Student Government conference at El Camino J. C. March 4, report.

In the conference party were Dean Robert Heilbron representing the faculty, while student representatives included:

Bob Kerner, Al Dahms, Joe Page, Bob Lanser, Chuck Merriam, Charles Clagett, Dolowries Towne, Gloria Valenzuela, and Martha Brychel.

Students Seek Business, Educational Careers Through Vocational Guidance

Many of the best informed people on occupational, educational, and training trends in San Diego, gathered at San Diego High School recently, to participate in the School's Career Day program.

Under the direction of Ann McKinney, Coordinator of Vocational Guidance in the city schools, the program is a follow-up of the Kuder Preference Test; a test designed to determine what type of work a student is best suited for.

There were 14 vocational guidance panels, each panel discussing a different field of work, mechanical, computational, office machines, accounting; literary, musical, scientific, clerical, etc.

In addition to informing, the panels were designed to encourage students to choose an alternate career in the event that the occupation of their first choice was decided against they would have other occupational paths to follow.

Panels also served as an incentive for the student to secure added information on occupations from the librarians, counselors, and teachers at their own schools.

Each panel was composed of a moderator, guest speakers, and students. Students presented their questions to the speaker who was most familiar with that particular phase of the occupation.

Guest speakers included members of the State College faculty, business men and women of San Diego, and junior college faculty members.

Guest speakers from the B. & T. center were: Mr. Francis Ferris, Mr. John Voss, Mr. Barth Manoghan, Dr. J. Wilson Gettenger, Mr. Joseph Stephenson, Mr. Kenneth Fawcett, Mr. John Hatalan, Mrs. Maryette Taylor, Miss Ann Schieman, Mr. E. Willard Woolfolk, and Mrs. Margaret Olsen. Guest speakers from the A. A. & S. center were: Mr. Robert Hamilton, Mr. Jack W. Salyers, Mr. Charles Newman Jr., Miss Lorraine Lundberg, Mrs. Margaret Heryet, and Miss Lorraine Dustin.

It is interesting to note that a speaker on the Agriculture panel, Mr. Verdine Stotts, a former student at the junior college, graduated with a degree in horticulture.

Seniors Plan For Biggest Semester

Although they may have looked like a team in a huddle to the uninformed person, that group of people in room 232T was only the senior class officers and cabinet mapping out their strategy for the senior class' spring activities.

With Ray Puckett, president, calling the signals, the officers and cabinet members managed to set tentative dates and prices for their forthcoming events. Highlighting these events will be the senior prom and picnic.

Dues charged each senior, which includes everything, will probably be $6. Seniors who will not graduate will pay $3.50 while the other $2.50 will go towards the cap and gown.

One Act Tryouts Today, Tomorrow

Three prize winning one-act plays will be presented for JC students by the drama department at an assembly April 28. The plays will be enacted by junior college students of the speech arts and drama classes.

Tryouts for the three one-acts began yesterday and will continue through the end of this week. This semester's offering includes Susan Glaspell's, "Suppressed Desires," a modern comedy in two parts. Appearing on the same program will be the winner of more than sixty one-act tournaments, "The Valiant" by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass. The final piece will be a social drama of the post-war period. It is entitled "District of Columbia," and was written by Stanley Richards.

Jim Hinds, in charge of the production and direction of the plays, will announce the casts next week after tryouts have been completed. The readings will be held in the new temporary buildings. Dick McCurdy is acting as over-all stage-manager and Mr. Charles Newman will be the technical adviser.

Eight Fresh To Act For First Year Prodigies

Eight freshmen will sit in as members of the permanent Executive Freshman Council according to a decision made by the group at a recent meeting. Representatives to the group will be elected from Psychology 10, English 10 and English 12 classes in the near future.

The Executive Council members are: Barbara Arnold, Shirley Beck, Cleo Needham, Joe Yoklovich, Mary Blake, Pat Noret, Jim Chilton, and Leo O'Neil. Their counselor is Mr. W. Forest Whedon. A chairman to preside over the group is to be elected soon.

Members of the Council hold their positions for one semester. They represent the freshmen on the ASB Council and plan freshman activities.

ture conferences will be kept on file, the 3-2-1 plan, the question: "Can we get the Board of Education to pay medical expenses for athletes, custodians etc.," compulsory student body fees, and methods of increasing interest in student elections.

A suggestion was made that problems concerning the majority of the junior colleges should be discussed at the major conference

Drama, Art Merge To Polish Up April Play, "Winterset"

The drama department's initial Spring play is being polished up bit by bit in daily rehearsals for its presentation April 7 and 8. Duke Lovell's play production class is putting the finishing touches on scenery that will be used in "Winterset." All the work on the scenes is being done from original designs by Mr. Lovell, San Diego's most eminent scenic designer.

The play itself represents a peak in the playwriting achievements of Maxwell Anderson. And certainly it will represent a new height of dramatic entertainment in JC history. Mr. Charles Newman, director, reflected that:

"This play is complex, difficult, and exciting. And one of the toughest shows I have ever done with the Junior College. But I have the best group of actors the College has so far provided. The student-body has an exciting campus-production to which they can look forward to."

The production staff was named this week by Newman and stage-manager Dick McCurdy.

Heads of the various committees are: Bob Halverson, assisted by Eddie Callahan, properties; Martha Brychel, publicity; Dave Herold, lighting; and De Vee Prucha, programs.

Tickets for "Winterset" will go on sale next week. A.S.B. cards mean a fifty-cent saving on the dollar tickets. There will be no reserved seats. First come, best seats.

Music Chorus Starts At B & T

Under the supervision of Mr. Ben Hamilton, Instructor at the Radio Institute and with the assistance of Dr. Alex H. Zimmerman, Head of the Music Department in the city schools, a music chorus will be started at the B&T center.

A meeting will be held once a week in Room 208 at the B&T center. At present, the membership is approximately 70 students.

All students interested in music and the development of music chorus are asked to attend.

By BRYCHEL

Once again the AWS cabinet is arranging an interesting program, and it is hoped that it meets with as much success as the preceding programs. Next on the agenda will be a fashion show scheduled to come off around the latter part of March or the first part of April.

The show is certain to be entertaining as well as educational. Girls from the student body will model the "right way" and the "wrong way" of wearing clothes.

Was there ever any doubt in your mind as to what should be worn for that all important job hunt, tea, formal or for just plain every day living? Come to the fashion show, which will feature a commentary script, and have all your doubts dispelled.

Pat Fisher, Madelon McGowan, Irene Soboll, and Martha Brychel are working on the script in cooperation with Mrs. Francis Archibald, sponsor of the AWS.

A picture painted by former Junior College students will soon adorn the walls of the women's lounge. The drawing carries out the color scheme and matches the modern fixtures of the room. The ASB has appropriated money for the framework.

Science Courses To Be Offered

One of the fastest growing departments at J.C. appears to be that of Botany and Biology. Because of student demand three new courses will soon be offered to those who are interested in plant and animal life. The courses are "A Survey of the Plant Kingdom," "Disease and Pests of Plants," and "Growth and Environment of Plants."

Those who will be interested in these new subjects according to Mrs. Mary Louise Jannoch, Biology and Botany instructor, will be people majoring in Ornamental Horticulture, Pre-Forestry, and Agriculture.

Mrs. Jannoch, who really seems to enjoy teaching Biology and Botany, will have fresh samples of plant and animal life from the bottom of the ocean to show her Biology 10 class. It seems three male students have offered to dive off the shores of La Jolla in search of samples.

A trip to Borrego Desert is planned for those taking Botany 12, in order that they may study the many varieties of wild flowers growing there.

Ballroom Dancing Class Organized

A Ballroom Dancing class, recently organized at the B&T center, held elections last week. Results were: Ruth Presnall, president; and Richard Doderer, vice-president.

Under the direction of Miss Ruth Lohan and Mr. Ivan Olsen, B&T instructors, the class will learn the basic fundamental patterns of popular ballroom dancing.

Brewing Operation Will Be Viewed

In order to see machinery in actual operation, the Engineering Club is planning a series of visits to several well-known plants in San Diego, according to Mr. Robert Winter, sponsor of the group.

Among the places to be viewed will be the San Diego Gas & Electric Co., Ryan Aeronautical, and the Altes Brewing Co.

"We are not visiting the brewing company to sample their product, but merely to inspect their new rectifying plant, an apparatus for purifying water," said Mr. Winter.

At every meeting henceforth, one member is to deliver a 10 minute talk on a phase of engineering. Today, Richard Dare is to speak on aviation problems.

Nothing has been announced as yet, but Mr. Winter hinted that the club is also secretly working on a project to be presented to the June graduates.

Sufferin' Shamrocks We're All Irishmen

Erin Go Bragh! Sure, an' the Big Day has rolled around once more and green is definitely in vogue.

If, by some trick of fate, the dear reader is still in the dark, let us hasten to inform ye' that it's St. Patrick's Day. So haul out yer shamrocks and shillalahs 'cause everyone's an Irishman today!

All over this wide land, the Hibernians are out in full regalia, marching in parades and sporting the wearin' of the green.

Macnamara is even now putting the finishing touches to a polishing job on his big horn, preparatory to leadin' the band that's really a credit to old Ireland.

And in the Glens of Eire, the Leprechauns, so dear to the superstitious soul of every true son of Erin, will be holding a grand ball and chowder party, with the spirits flowin', and gaiety unlimited.

Naturally, there'll be a big gath-erin' later at Kerrigan's Kosy Korner with everyone in a celebratin' state of mind.

Yes, ever since St. Patrick himself drove the snakes from off the Blessed Isle, Irishmen have been singin' his praises and keepin' his day.

So come on with ye', my bucko, put on yer green and practice yer jig steps, 'cause it's a great day for the Irish, bejabbers!

Attendance Soars As Knights Gather To Hear Bopers

Enthusiasm was a key note of the recent Assembly held on Thursday, March 3, when the Savage Jazz Artists presented a program of the latest Jazz and Pop.

The highlights of the program included Alvin Cato at the piano, playing his own composition, "Cato's Boogie," and Charley Blackwell beat out the melody, "Tea for Two," on the drums. Among the other songs played were: "How High the Moon," "Body and Soul," and "Lady Be Good." Bill Marvin, a disc jockey, performed the duties of the master of ceremonies.

The visible effect of the Jazz Artists' performance can be easily observed on the faces of the students who attended the assembly. Iota Theta Phi did a great deal of work to present this unusual program, and it was pleasing to see a record breaking crowd enjoy the entertainment.

BULLETIN

Tentative calendar for senior class events was set as follows at the last Senior Class meeting: Picnic, May 31; Baccalaureate, June 12; Prom, June 15; and Graduation, June 17.

Delegates Report On Conference

 to be held in Santa Rosa this spring.

A "head" school and secretary could be convenient for all the schools. There would be a definite place where all the information would be kept, and no trouble would be involved when trying to obtain past records.

The 3-2-1 plan was defeated. This plan would have three meetings in the Southern part of California, two in the Central part of California, and one in the Northern part of California. The number ratio of the schools are Southern, three—Central, two—Northern, one.

A motion was made and carried to place a few current problems on the agenda for the major conference. These problems were: compulsory student body fees, and can we get the Board of Education to pay medical expenses.

In order to increase interest in student body elections, the emphasis was placed on publicity. Some schools hold their elections by having political parties run for office. Other proposals for this situation were: election assemblies, introduction of the candidates, and the extension of elections to cover a period of two days.

The students were shown around the El Camino campus by the hosts of the school. The school structure is made up of war surplus buildings and does not have an auditorium.

However, big plans have been made to construct a new campus, with permanent buildings to be completed by September 1, 1950.

At the recent Evening Junior College election the following new officers were named: Charles Clagett, president; Chester Ellyson, vice president; Rosie Shoop, secretary; Edgar Hayes, treasurer.

A meeting was held last night to discuss plans for a finance committee.

CROWDED SHOWERS PROVIDE PROBLEMS

As any fool can plainly see, in the captionless example of modern art above this article, we have a problem at J.C. A problem which cannot be solved by Mr. Anthony (Doc Kinsey might offer some suggestions). The fact is that in the men's gym there aren't enough showers to go around, that is there are six individual showers for all the JC students who are taking PE courses, plus the number who are participating in varsity and intramural sports. This means that there are times when a guy can make the choice of being offensive (you've seen Lifebuoy Ads), or being late to French and losing two points.

Now we certainly don't want to suggest that anyone should wander through our already crowded halls and classrooms as a breathing illustration of an Arrid "before" example, nor do we wish to place ourselves in an undesirable position by commending a person's tardiness to class. What can be done? Must towed athletes stand in the cafeteria line? Will some men desiring a shower wander into a women's dancing class, through a mix-up in the lines?

If you have a solution to this terrifying all encompassing problem, send it to Athletic Director Ed Ruffa or a member of the Jay Sees Staff.

No Penalty For S. C. C. Absentees YWCA Offers Swimming Class

At the recent Service Club Council meeting, members resolved that service clubs would not be penalized if their representatives did not attend each S.C.C. meeting. Eight representatives from the eighteen service clubs were present.

Motions for regular meetings, pins, and dues were dropped.

Chuck Potts, Commissioner of S.C.C., had called another meeting for this week.

The council will be composed of representatives from the various service clubs, and it will act on any inter-service club conflicts and problems which might arise.

Courses in Surveying Make Jobs Available

Attention, all you male students who are interested in a full time job or summer work. If you like working out in the open and desire a lot of sunshine, there is one course offered at the AA&S center that you should look into. This course is Math 74 which deals with surveying.

According to Mr. Lovell H. Pierce, physical science and physics instructor, there is always a surveying job open, either with the State Highway or local concerns. With this course under your belt, you can become a chief instrument man, which is quite a way from the bottom of the pile.

Math 74 consists of Elementary surveying with the use of the level, transit, and stadia, with applications to mapping contour and area. The field for surveying is within walking distance and is located in back of the Balboa Riding stables near the freeway.

Is the Esther Williams in you showing? If so you better run right down to the Y.W.C.A. pool and enroll in one of the SDJC swimming classes which are under the direction of Miss Kite. The enrollment in the two Junior College classes totals thirty-one, with room for more students at either the 1:30 p.m. or 2:30 p.m. sessions. Relaxing music is played during the swimming lessons.

If you want to shine in the brine this summer, better enroll now for swimming lessons.

Religious Clubs Finding Student Interest at SDJC

The St. Thomas Aquinas club, new social group on campus, held an organizational meeting early this week.

This club has been formed to further the interests of Catholic students attending J. C.

John Price, president of the Newman club, a similar organization at State College, was present at the meeting to offer suggestions and supply information to the members.

Two social events are in the offing for the Club. Saturday night, Martha Brychel will hold open-house. In addition, all members will attend a Recollection Day gathering at St. Joseph's Cathedral Sunday, March 27.

Radio Stage . . . KUSN . . . 4:00 p.m. March 22 . . . "The Hitch-hiker."

Talent Presented At B&T Assembly

On the menu last Thursday for B&T students was a terrific "outside" talent show.

Bob Lanser opened the assembly by introducing Bob Kerner, overall JC student body president. Bob gave a short talk on the need of unity between centers and introduced Dick McCurdy, the emcee.

Entertainers on the program included Sharon Curbis, tap dancer accompanied by Shirley Toles on the piano; Peggy Risely and Sharon accompanied by Shirley in an acrobatic number; the Guildsmen Quartette, Curtiss Clare, Ray Jackson, Joe White, and Eddie Poe singing "Hello My Baby," "Ragtime Cowboy Joe," "Goodbye My Lady Love," "Goodbye My Coney Island Baby," and "Tavern in the Town."

Sam Linett, local entertainer and instructor, gave a harmonica solo. Mr. Linett played "The Stars and Stripes Forever" on the world's smallest harmonica.

Pat Noret was in charge of the assembly.

SURVEY SEEKS SOLUTION TO CAR PARK

In view of the current "parking situation crisis" at this school, the Jay Sees has conducted a survey of student opinion. In this way, we hope to find why the parking lot is not used and where students are parking.

Schuyler Quackenbush, under-graduate: I have no parking problem. When I arrive at school in the morning, I get out of the Cad', release the brake and let it roll down the Russ Street hill. Of course, this may create a problem for the Sanitation department, and possibly the Cadillac agency. You see, they have been complaining, of late, that it works a hardship on them to deliver a new car to me every afternoon, but I am having mother purchase the company, so I believe the situation will clear itself up.

Nead Norbleih, administration: I am very sympathetic with the students in this problem. However, the lot is provided for their parking convenience, and their lack of cooperation in its use is very untimely.

Gene Eaton, editor of the Jay Sees, (unfortunately Mr. Eaton

Dramatic Fraternity Hold Initiation

Delta Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, held its first initiation of the year Saturday evening at the home of Mr. Charles Newman, faculty sponsor. The initiates were guests at a dinner, after which they took part in the initiation ceremony. For their part in the rite, the new members presented a series of dramatic sketches, according to Jim Hinds, president.

New members of Delta Psi Omega are Madelon McGowan, Jean Patterson, Chuck Bateman, Leon Burton, Gene Binswanger, Gene Robinson, Bob Moore, Bob Halvorsen, and Dave Herold.

Class Receives Atlantic Monthly

If you are one of the lucky students in Dr. Loomis M. Ganaway's European History or Political Science Classes you probably have a copy of the February issue of the Atlantic Monthly magazine tucked under your arm.

The Curtis Publishing Company has very generously sent seventy-five copies of the Atlantic Monthly to Dr. Ganaway. Each month the same number will be shipped to the faculty member.

Breezes Blow; Fashions Show; Here's What to Wear and When

Once again the wheel of fashion spins, and spring fashions change from the "old worn out look," to the "new look"—the change accompanied by a big dent in the pocket-book of many a mom and pop. April 4 is the tentative date set for the school fashion show.

Current outfits worn by gals on campus feature the "new look" skirts, straight cut with a pleat down the front, and in solid or plaid colors. Worn with the longer skirts are those popular cashmere and angora sweaters in soft pastel shades. Dressing up the outfit is the present fad of long pearls, which can be worn wrapped around the neck once, and then tied in a knot half way down the chest. Saddles with angora bobbie socks, or loafers with silk hose complete the ensemble.

Men Also Fashionmongering
Not to be outdone by the gals, fellow collegiates can be seen wearing slacks, with the new zipper sport shirts; or maybe the new turtle-neck T-shirts, saddles or loafers. The old stand-by "leevies" are going more and more out-of-

When approached, he was carrying several hub caps of varying sizes and shapes): By all means, I feel that the parking lot provided by the school should be utilized. There is plenty of room, affording no difficulty in securing a place. I also might suggest, since the warm weather is coming on, that students roll down their car windows when they leave them to keep the auto cool.

We of the Jay Sees staff hope that we, in printing this article, have helped to clear up the parking problem at San Diego Junior College. If you have any other controversial subject which you would like discussed in our column please write us, and we will give it the same clear headed attention.

AS I SEE IT - - - by mcurdy

"If I read a book and it makes my whole body so cold no force can ever warm me, I know that it is poetry. If I feel physically as if the top of my head were taken off, I know that is poetry. These are the only ways I know it. Is there another way?"

—EMILY DICKINSON.

Of course, all of us have a right to our opinions, but, at any rate, this was the opinion of Miss Dickinson who, by the way, won no little fame simply by writing her opinions.

How many, I wonder, of the readers made an eternal vow to never look at another poem, when, in high school English, they were cowed into reading (and memorizing, in part) "Evangeline" or gems from Shakespeare?

In our day, poetry is a very easy thing to overlook, but, with your permission, I would like to convince you that doing so is a mistake. By this I do not infer that all students should hustle out and get the Edgar Guest omnibook, but I would like to suggest that you shop around for something appealing in the world of poesy.

Poetry, as few of us are aware, is a pretty large field, with offerings for about every taste. For instance, this cutie, which arose from a famous hatchet murder of the eighties has become part of American folk lore:

"Lizzie Borden took an axe
And gave her mother forty whacks.

When the job was neatly done
She gave her father forty-one."

If nothing else, we must admit that this terse little verse is concise and to the point, and it is, in a manner of speaking, poetry.

Another type of poetry, perhaps one of the most popular in this country, is exemplified in the work of Dorothy Parker. Miss Parker, a noted columnist, condenses clever thoughts into short lines, which can be best described as rhymes. Two examples of her work are "Comment" and "News Item":

"Oh, life is a glorious cycle of song,
A medley of extemporanea;
And love is a thing that can never go wrong,
And I am Marie of Roumania."

"Men seldom make passes
At girls who wear glasses."

This is a type of verse that can be enjoyed by almost everyone, and is easily accessible.

Then in a more serious vein, Americans are very often pleased with the work of Edward Arlington Robinson, an American who writes about America. Many of us were exposed to Mr. Robinson's "Richard Cory" in high school, with no little disgust, but on reading it now, it takes on a new meaning. He talks of Richard Cory who "was a gentleman from sole to crown—he glittered when he walked, And he was rich yes, richer than a king—" and told how all the townsmen admired Cory. Then, in the last two lines Robinson concludes:

"And Richard Cory, one calm summer night, Went home and put a bullet through his head."

This poet's style is simple, yet not childish, powerful, yet not preaching.

For those of us who are addicts of the new and unique, e.e. cummings offers never ending deviations from the usual forms of poetry. An instance of his ability at draw word pictures is this excerpt from his "XLI Poems":

"the skinny voice of the leatherfaced woman with the crimson nose and coquettishly-
cocked bonnet."

There are many, many more poets of equal, if not surpassing, fame and stature, but I have presented these brief bits in an effort to show the reader that poetry has not left him out. He can find enjoyment in poetry, if he is not pushed into it . . . anyway . . . as I see it . . .

Editor's Note: The excerpts printed above can all be found, in their full context, in books stocked in the school library. If there are any questions about poetry, literature, or the drama, we would be glad to answer them if we can. Any suggestions, as to what you would like to have discussed in this column would be greatly appreciated.—D.Mc.

Knight Musclemen Finish Under All-American Coach

By ROCKY BLANE

All-American wrestling coach, Ivan O. Olson, turned out a rugged and efficient S.D.J.C. mat squad for the 1948-49 campaign. Coach Olson's grapplers, a ripe crop of accomplished "rasslers," took on eleven bruising aggregations and emerged victorious five times.

Although J.C. was blessed with a fine group of competent wrestlers, there are only ten who remained till the very end. They are: Captain Jack Sutton, Jerry Jacobsen, Al Crawford, Barry Armstrong, Bill Biggs, Max Saska, John Demos, Bob Sue, Dick Jones, and Gene Rugg.

S.D.J.C. opened its season in grand style by pinning Los Angeles C.C., 22-13, and followed that up with a rousing 25-16 smash of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot. Derailed momentarily when the Naval Training center squad set them back 19-13, the aggressive Knight "knotsters" overpowered University of California at Santa Barbara 23-8, and followed suit with a 23-12 trouncing of the Sub Pack musclemen.

Riding the crest of four wins, the Knights were stunned 29-13 by the highly-regarded El Centro H.S. & J.C. aggregation. This peeved them to such an extent that they took it out on a poor U.S.S. Ajax team 45-0, in their next outing.

From that point on, various members dropped from the squad, leaving a "skeleton" crew to finish the season.

As it was, they dropped their last four games, to Cal Poly 34-0, N.T.C. 22-8, S.D. State 34-0, and S.D. State Frosh-17-13.

Nevertheless, they showed they have what it takes.

Cendali Breaks School Record As Knight "5" Closes Cage Season

By MONCO

Coach Don Clarkson's worries are over; that's till the baseball season starts. The genial mentor of the Knight basketball and baseball teams, had the unfortunate incident of having a potential championship rudely snatched from his fingers.

His basketball squad was tied for first place when suddenly, without warning, it was plunked into the deep dreary cellar. The team finished with a last place tie. The quintet broke even in their last two games to share the last place spot with East L.A.

Paced by the most sensational point getting performance of the season in the San Diego area, the San Diego Junior College Knights defeated the Barstow Marines 87-46 in the high school gym.

Buckshot Ben Cendali broke through the semi-tight Marine defense for 42 points, 27 in the last

Ruffamen Joust Papooses; Page Opposes Razzetto

By HOWARD COHEN, Sports Reporter

This afternoon on the Aztec oval the Knollmen will receive their initial baptism of fire when they meet the State Frosh. The highlight of the afternoon should be the high jump duel between the Frosh's Jack Razetto, and J. C.'s Joe Page. Another outstanding trackman for the frosh is Bob Mahon, a high and low hurdler who has turned in fast times in practice.

The sloppy mud track of Balboa Stadium was the scene of the Knight spikesters first time-trials of the current track season. The muddy turf proved quite an obstacle to the runners by slowing down the times in all the events. Coach Ed Ruffa, still a bit undecided about who is going to run what, browsed through his notebook and chose a list of entries for the Long Beach relays, which were held last Saturday, March 12.

Making the trip up the coast were Gene Sieben, Joe Page, Ed Fletcher, Harry West, Cosimo Cutri, Duane Close, Dick Straub, Don Crie, Ardene Bona, Tom Esparza, Bob Barlow, and Bud Newman.

Of the aforementioned group, long Joe Page was given the best chance of earning a few points for the team. Joe was a consistent winner last year with his best jump being approximately 6' 6".

Gene Sieben, another pointer on last season's squad was entered in the javelin throw. Gene fared quite well during his first attempt at javelin throwing a year ago, and on the strength of his

Cassie, Clarkson Choose First "9"

Hoping to duplicate the championship form shown by the Knight football team, the baseball squad has been furiously getting in shape for league play. With many practice tilts under their belt, the diamond dusters tentative starting lineup has been chosen by Coach Les Cassie, and Coach Don Clarkson.

Andy Stagnaro looms as the number one pitcher, while Jack Graham will handle the deliveries. Andy will be backed up by Dan Butcher, Ray Irving, and Don Hadley. Around the infield from first to third it will be Ken McCoy, Gene Haley, Ralph Carpenter, and Dick Savoy.

The outfield will be taken care of by Joe Brown, Pete Corona, and Al Hooper in left, center, and right field respectively. They will be backed up by Rudy Ortiz, Amerigo Dini, Johnny Verduco, and the pitchers, when they are not on the mound.

Loaded with many former big-name prep stars, the squad is good both offensively and defensively, and should be mentioned as dangerous contenders for championship honors.

Straub, Don Crie, and Ardene Bona. Close is a former quarter-miler from Grossmont, Straub is a dash man from Hoover, and Crie a distance runner from Point Loma, where he holds the school record in the mile.

Don Crie, Bud Newman, Tom Esparza, and Bob Barlow were the members of the 2 mile relay team.

The San Diego Junior College track team received a naught for their efforts at the Long Beach Relays last Saturday. The 440 yard relay team ran fourth, which was as close as any of the Knights came all afternoon. Members of the relay team were Gene Sieben, Dick Straub, Cosimo Cutri, and Harry West.

Blisters are popping out on hands again; sore backs and legs become apparent; and that old smell of rosin once more tickles your nose.

King Baseball is here! Yes, America's favorite pastime has made its spring appearance on the S.D.J.C. front. Baseball's formal entrance for the year into the line of inter-collegiate sports brings good tidings to the Knight nine. This year's J.C. nine should be one of the best; let's not make any bones about that. There is everything to be had; power, speed, and pitching. Mingle that with Coach Les Cassie's exploited diamond savvy, and you have a team of championship calibre. Don't let anybody tell you "different."

It seems that Compton J.C. manages to get into the headlines over nothing nowadays. One of its beloved students has ascertained that he is the originator of the Pyramid clubs. Tch, tch, what students won't do for publicity. If that be true, however, I'm liable to venture up Compton way, and reap the fortune I was promised when induced to join.

Bob Sieben, former Jaysees sports editor, and one of the best track stars ever to strut his wares here, is attending Arizona State on a track scholarship. . . . Incidentally, his brother, Gene, should break the college javelin record in a short time. Gene has had his sights set on that goal since the time he took up the sport last year. Hard work and near-perfect coordination has brought him to within spitting distance of his desire.

From the looks of the recent enthusiasm shown in the intramural sports of handball, badminton, chess, and checkers, it is safe to say that the old school spirit has been rejuvenated. Such is the list of entries in all of these intramurals, that careful scheduling of the contests had to be made by Coach Ed Ruffa. If only this would go on indefinitely!

This year's S.D.J.C. wrestling squad was an exceptionally good one. Don't let their record of five wins and six losses fool you. Those grunt-and-groaners met some pretty stiff competition while tusseling squads from much bigger colleges. Coach Ivan Olson did a magnificent job, as he always does. He would have had a far better club had Dick Warner and Johnny Polos remained on the team. They were overlooked, as far as publicity goes. Still, they kept plugging, in their obscure way. That's what makes them even greater.

half. Ben hit from every angle on the front court as his teammates constantly set him up.

The Knights, hotter than Imperial Valley weather in the summer time, hit for 63 points in the second half as they ran the Marines ragged.

The 87 points scored by the S.D.J.C. Quintet was a new school scoring record as well as the 42 markers netted by Cendali.

In winning the East L.A. encounter and losing the San Bernardino game, Ben Cendali again proved his excellence by playing his heart out. Benny scored 23 points in the East L.A. game, and 12 in the San Berdoo contest.

The squad honored Tony Vasquez by choosing him as team captain for the second straight year. Ben Cendali was named as the most valuable player.

Sigma Tau Rules; Ruffa Plans Ahead

By PETER CORONA
Commissioner of Athletics

A nice, big feather goes into Coach Ruffa's cap! Through his conscientious work, San Diego Junior college can boast of a well-organized and thrilling intramural basketball tournament, which closed last week with great success.

Behind the conspicuous floor play of Wally Head, Sigma Tau Rho's rampaging five thrashed an equally-adept, but narrowly-outscored Kappa Phi Alpha team by a 28-20 margin last week.

We would like to congratulate the Sigma Tau Rho's for being the new basketball champion of S.D. J.C. They will receive a trophy as their award, which incidentally, will come on the heels of their intramural football championship trophy.

Our intramural program for this month consists of badminton, handball, checkers, and chess. These activities got under way last week with competition moving into the second round.

The badminton jousts are held in the girls' gym, while the handball tilts are run off on the handball courts outside the men's gym.

Perhaps seeded No. 1 in the badminton tourney is Ben Cendali, renowned widely for his tennis prowess. Highlight of the checker duels is Cosimo Cutri's rapid rise into the quarter finals. His position was attained by disposing of Jesse Thompson and Harry West in stiff competition.

172-foot throw during practice, he may gain laurels at the Relays.

The other trackmen who made the jaunt were entered in the 440, 880, mile, and two mile relays. Coach Ruffa selected Ed Fletcher, Harry West, Cosimo Cutri, and Gene Sieben to pass the baton in the 440 and 880 yard relays. Fletcher, West, and Cutri, lettered as dash men at San Diego High, while Sieben is from Sweetwater.

The mile relay, an event in which each man runs a tortuous 440, was run by Duane Close, Dick
